Introduction

University Overview

Johns Hopkins is America’s first research university, founded on the principle that by pursuing big ideas and sharing what we learn, we make the world a better place. In our 146-year history, we haven’t strayed from that vision.

We are intellectually diverse, with more than 32,000 full-time and part-time students enrolled in our nine academic divisions. Our faculty and students study, teach, and learn in and across more than 260 programs widely recognized as being among the nation’s best. Johns Hopkins University is tied at No. 7 on U.S. News & World Report list of top national universities. The university’s graduate programs in public health, nursing, biomedical engineering, medicine, and education are considered among the best in the country, according to U.S. News & World Report.

For 42 years in a row, we’ve put more money into research than any other U.S. academic institution. Research isn’t just something we do—it’s who we are. Every day, Johns Hopkins faculty and students work side by side in a tireless pursuit of discovery, with the ultimate aim of advancing humanity.

The university’s main campus for undergraduates is located in Baltimore, a city that gives our students the chance to apply classroom knowledge in the real world, no matter their major. And Baltimore offers plenty of ways to fill free time, too, with a thriving arts scene, foodie culture, and local sports teams, including our own Blue Jays men’s lacrosse team, winner of 44 national titles. The women’s cross country squad is also a perennial champion, winning the NCAA Division III title seven of the last nine years.

Baltimore is also site to one of the best hospitals in the world, the university’s partner institution, Johns Hopkins Hospital. The Johns Hopkins community takes pride in being a good neighbor and an economic driver for the city and state. As Maryland’s largest private employer, the university and the hospital and health system employ more than 54,000 people and together contribute more than $12 billion a year to the state’s economy ($6.2 billion of that is generated in Baltimore City).

We are based in Baltimore but at home wherever we go. With campuses on three continents, researchers in every time zone, and students from more than 111 countries, Johns Hopkins truly has a global perspective.

The Clery Act

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, more commonly known as the “Clery Act,” requires institutions to provide current and prospective students, their families, and current and prospective faculty and staff with information about campus safety.

The Clery Act requires colleges and universities to:

• publish annually an Annual Security and Fire Safety Report (the “Report”) by October 1 of each year that contains three years of campus crime and fire safety statistics and certain campus security policy statements;

• disclose crime statistics for the campus, public areas immediately adjacent to or running through the campus, and certain non-campus facilities and remote classrooms. The statistics must be gathered from campus police or security, local law enforcement, and other University officials who have “significant responsibility for student and campus activities”;

• provide “timely warning” notices of certain crimes that pose a “serious or continuing” threat to students and employees;

• issue an emergency notification, upon the confirmation of a significant emergency or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of students or employees occurring on campus;

• disclose in a public crime log “any crime that occurred on campus, in or on noncampus buildings or property or on public property within the campus or immediately adjacent to and accessible from the campus, or within the patrol jurisdiction of the campus police or the campus security department and that are reported to the campus police or security department”; and

• maintain in a public fire log a record of any fire that occurred in an on-campus student housing facility.

Compliance with the Clery Act does not violate the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (“FERPA”). Any student, staff or faculty member who reports a crime or is involved in any aspect of compliance under the Clery Act is protected from retaliation.
University-Wide Policy Statements

Separate Campuses

JHU has numerous campuses addressed in this combined Annual Security and Fire Safety Report. All policy statements contained in this report apply to all campuses unless otherwise indicated.

Reporting Crimes or Other Emergencies

The University strongly encourages students, faculty and staff to accurately and promptly report all crimes to their respective campus security offices and the appropriate law enforcement agencies, crimes should be reported when the victim elects to or is unable to make a report (note, Campus Security Authorities or CSAs, listed below and on page 115 of this report, have special reporting obligations). Prompt, accurate crime reports submitted to campus security personnel listed below and other primary CSAs listed on page 115 of this report, help facilitate successful investigations and enforcement, inform prevention efforts, aid in issuance of timely warnings and emergency notifications and disclosure of crime statistics in this Report, and educate the University community. In the event your campus is closed, for all emergencies dial 911. To report a crime or other emergency at your campus, please contact your campus security personnel:

Preparing the Annual Disclosure of Crime Statistics

The procedures for preparing the annual disclosure of crime statistics in this Report include requesting Clery-reportable statistics from the following sources on an annual basis; statistics received are included in the Report for the appropriate campus based on jurisdiction of the law enforcement agency: the security offices at each University campus, the Maryland State Police, the Metropolitan Transit Administration Police, reportable crime statistics were sent to law enforcement agencies in good faith; some agencies did not respond or could not provide the statistics as requested.

All of the statistics are gathered, compiled, and reported to the University community via this Report. Homewood Campus Safety & Security submits the annual crime statistics published in this Report to the U.S. Department of Education (“DOE”). The statistical information gathered by the DOE is available to the public through the DOE website at http://ope.ed.gov/security/.

Campus Law Enforcement

Johns Hopkins Public Safety’s enforcement authority, their relationship with State and local police agencies, their jurisdiction, and their arrest authority is described in more detail under each specific campus section. A close working relationship is maintained with local law enforcement to foster open communication regarding incidents and emergencies on and around each campus. The Johns Hopkins University has a memorandum of understanding with BPD in regards to investigations of sexual assault. None of the University’s security organizations have a memorandum of understanding or other formal agreement with State or local law enforcement pertaining to the investigation of criminal offenses, outside of sexual assaults.

Confidential Reporting

Witnesses and victims of crime who do not want to pursue action within the University or the criminal justice system may want to consider voluntarily making an anonymous report to their respective campus security offices identified under the individual campuses addressed in this Report. With some exceptions, as noted below, these officials can file a report on the details of the incident without revealing the victim identity. The purpose of an anonymous report is to comply with a wish to keep the matter confidential, while taking steps to enhance the future safety of the University community. With such information, the University can keep an accurate record of the number of incidents involving students, employees and visitors; assess risk; determine where there is a pattern of crime with regard to a particular location, method, or assailant; and alert the campus community to potential danger. Reports filed in this manner are counted and disclosed in the annual crime statistics for the University and may be the subject of a timely warning, emergency notification, or other security notification to some or all of the campus community. Note, that for purposes of reports of sexual misconduct, campus security personnel are “responsible employees” who share with the Title IX Coordinator any report of sexual misconduct that they receive. As a result, any communication to campus security personnel relating to sexual misconduct will lead to additional University follow-up, as appropriate, including but not limited to, potential investigation of the misconduct at issue.

Victims and witnesses should be aware that the University will strive to protect, to the greatest extent possible, the confidentiality of persons reporting or accused of crimes, and related information; however, the University cannot guarantee complete confidentiality where it would conflict with the University’s legal obligation to investigate a complaint or take steps to deter further crimes, or with its duty to comply with other legal obligations (e.g., responding to a subpoena).

If a student or employee desires to keep the details of an incident of sexual harassment, sexual assault, relationship violence or stalking (collectively, “sexual misconduct”) confidential, the individual should speak with a confidential resource, i.e., individuals who are designated by the University as a confidential resource and may also have a legal obligation to keep communications confidential when acting in their professional capacity, unless there is an imminent threat to health or safety, or other basis for disclosure pursuant to law. When seeking advice and support, persons who are concerned about confidentiality should discuss their concerns about confidentiality with the person with whom they are speaking. Victims of crimes are encouraged to seek confidential counseling or treatment from the confidential resources listed on pg. 21.

Information shared with confidential resources does not constitute a report or complaint filed with the University for the purpose of instituting an investigation or resolution of a sexual misconduct complaint.

At the end of each academic year, the Counseling Center at Johns Hopkins University Homewood campus compiles statistics on its services to students and the community. This report can be found on the Counseling Center’s website, http://studentaffairs.jhu.edu/counselingcenter/annual-reports. The University does not have procedures to encourage professional counselors or pastoral counselors to raise the subject of reporting statistics confidentially and instead leaves the issue to the professional judgment of the counselor.

Response to Reports

Upon receiving a report of a crime, and depending on the facts and circumstances, the campus security office or center director may dispatch an officer, ask the victim to report to the security office to file an incident report, notify local law enforcement authorities, or take another appropriate step, such as in the case of sexual misconduct, promptly notifying the Title IX Coordinator. In response to a reported emergency, campus security or center directors will respond and summon the appropriate resources, internal and external, to assist in the response to the incident.

Additionally, reports made to the campus security office at each JHU campus, Campus Security Authorities (“CSAs”), and to local law enforcement (when reported by them to JHU) will be assessed for potential distribution of a timely warning notice, emergency notification or other security notification, and inclusion in the Daily Crime Log and crime statistics in this Report.

Timely Warnings

The University deeply values the safety and welfare of its community. To enhance campus security and aid in the prevention of similar occurrences, the Vice President of Johns Hopkins Public Safety or his/her designee will timely warn the affected campus community of crimes that are reportable under Federal law and represent a serious or continuing threat to the community. Public Safety will issue a warning as soon as the pertinent information is available, following a report to a CSA or local police agency. Public Safety will determine whether a reportable crime presents a serious or continuing threat on a case-by-case basis after examining the nature of the crime, the danger facing the campus community, and other relevant factors.

Timely Warnings are typically issued for the following Uniform Crime Reporting Program (UCR)/National Incident Based Reporting System (NIBRS) crime classifications:
- Murder/Non-Negligent Manslaughter
- Negligent Manslaughter
- Aggravated Assault (cases involving assaults among known parties, will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis to determine if the individual is believed to be an ongoing threat to the larger JHU community)
- Robbery involving force or violence
- Sexual Assault (considered on a case-by-case basis depending on the facts of the case, when and where the incident occurred, when it was reported, and the amount information known to JHU Corporate Security).
- Major incidents of Arson
- Other Clery crimes as determined necessary by the Vice President of Johns Hopkins Public Safety, or his/her designee.

Timely Warning Notices may also be posted for other crime classifications and locations, even though that is not required by the law, at the sole discretion of JHU.

Even when a timely warning is not required under this policy, Public Safety may at any time elect to issue a timely warning or otherwise advise the affected campus community of any incident where doing so is in the best interest of campus security. In deciding to issue such a notice, Johns Hopkins Public Safety will consider all relevant factors, including the nature of the crime, the location, the time of the incident, the local police response and guidance to campus officials, and the potential direct effect on the campus community.

Timely warnings will normally be disseminated via email to the University-supplied electronic mail account issued to the appropriate group of students and employees. Depending on the circumstances, Johns Hopkins Public Safety could also utilize one or more of the following modes of communication to transmit the warning: Public Safety and other JHU websites, RAVE security alerts, security information bulletins or advisories, security blotters, sirens or public address systems, and bull horns.

Personally identifiable information about victims will not be included in any timely warning or security notification, or in any publicly available record-keeping, including the disclosure of crime statistics in this Report. Timely Warning Notices will be distributed as soon as pertinent information is available, in a manner that withholds the names of victims as confidential, and with the goal of aiding in the prevention of similar occurrences. JHU is not required to issue a Timely Warning with respect to crimes reported to a pastoral or professional counselor.

Immediate Notifications, Emergency Response and Prevention Procedures

Upon confirmation of a significant emergency or dangerous situation involving an immediate threat to the health or safety of students or staff, the University will communicate the threat to the University community at the affected campus(es), or to the appropriate segment of the community. The University will, without delay and taking into account the safety of the community, determine the content of the notification and initiate some or all of the notification system(s) listed, unless issuing a notification will, in the professional judgment of responsible authorities, compromise efforts to assist victims or to contain, respond to, or otherwise mitigate the emergency.

Johns Hopkins Public Safety has the responsibility for confirming (with the assistance of key campus administrators, local first responders and/or the National Weather Service) that a significant emergency or dangerous situation exists.

Johns Hopkins Public Safety (primary) and/or JHU Communications (secondary) will collaborate to determine the content of the message and will use some or all of the systems described below to communicate the threat to the JHU Community or to the appropriate segment of the community, if the threat is limited to a particular building or segment of the population.

In the event of a serious incident that poses an immediate threat to members of the JHU community, the University has various systems in place for communicating information, including follow-up information, quickly. Some or all of these methods of communication may be activated in the event of an immediate threat to the JHU campus community. These methods of communication include the following:

Emergency Alert (Rave) Text Messaging
In the event of a confirmed major incident that threatens the safety of the campus community, the University will immediately send a text message alert to the students, faculty and staff who have subscribed to the service, notifying them of the incident. Members can subscribe to the service on the myJHED tab after logging in at https://my.johnshopkins.edu/.

Broadcast Email Messaging
If an incident should occur, a broadcast email will be sent to all JHU subscribers providing resources for additional information as soon as possible. To subscribe for emergency email notification, sign into myJHU and add Emergency Alerts in the “myProfile” tab.

Emergency Web Page/Emergency Phone Line
The University maintains a special web page for emergency notices at https://www.jhu.edu/alert/. During the course of any major event, this page will be updated regularly.

Interested parties can also obtain updated information by calling JHU’s Emergency Hotline at 410-516-7781.

If there is an immediate threat to the health or safety of students or employees occurring on campus, JHU must follow its emergency notification procedures. An institution that follows its emergency notification procedures is not required to issue a timely warning based on the same circumstances; however, the institution must provide adequate follow-up information to the community as needed.

Evacuations
Should there be a need to evacuate, follow the recommended evacuation route. Once outside, adhere to the directions of Campus Safety and Security or local public safety officials (police or fire department). Evacuation procedures in place meet ADA compliance.

In the event a particular evacuation requires evacuees to be relocated to an alternative shelter, shelter locations on campus have been designated. Evacuees will be directed to those locations by Campus Safety and Security or local public safety officials (police or fire department).

When Evacuation is Not Possible
In a fire or fire alarm situation, always check doors to see if they are hot or warm to the touch before you open them. If heat or smoke prevents you from evacuating, return to your room and use towels or other cloth items to seal around the door. Hang a white object in the window and reclose the window (if it opens) as much as possible. Do not reopen your window (if it opens) unless forced to do so by smoke. After you have sealed your door, immediately call 911 and advise emergency responders of your location and situation. Wait for help to arrive.

Post Incident
At the completion of the incident, the Fire/Rescue Department (or other appropriate emergency official(s)) should release the building to the facility leadership. The facility should be pronounced all clear, or clear with conditions for re-occupancy. The Facility Leadership should then communicate the all clear or the clear with conditions to the area entrance monitors in person, via communications equipment, or by the use of a runner. On the way in, staff members should check on others who might have disabilities or other special needs and assist them as much as is reasonable and safe.

Sheltering In Place
Because sheltering in place may be the protective action recommendation for several emergencies with differing risks, and because sometimes the initial recommendation is to shelter in place followed by relocation, there is no single set of shelter in place procedures. Emergencies change as they progress. The questions to ask yourself are: Am I safer inside or outside? Where am I safest inside? Where am I safest outside?

University Incident Command System (ICS)
The University maintains a multi-tiered National Incident Management System (NIMS)-compliant ICS structure. Each school, campus, and the University as a whole have a formal ICS; the Johns Hopkins Institutions (across the University and Health System) also have an ICS, hosted by the Johns Hopkins Institutions Office of Critical Event Preparedness & Response (“CEPAR”). CEPAR serves as the command center for enterprise-wide planning for and reaction to a disaster. More information about CEPAR is available at www.hopkins-cepar.org.
Policy on Drugs and Alcohol

The unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensation, possession, sale or use of controlled substances or alcohol, whether under federal, state, local or other applicable law, is prohibited at any time on University property or as a part of University activity. Maryland and District of Columbia laws prohibit the possession or consumption of alcoholic beverages by persons under the age of 21. The University expects its students, faculty and staff to follow the law. Campus Safety and Security and other surrounding law enforcement agencies on each campus enforce all liquor laws, including underage drinking violations and all federal and state drug laws. Individuals, including students and employees, who unlawfully possess, use, manufacture, distribute, dispense, or sell drugs, controlled substances or alcohol are subject to university disciplinary action (consistent with local, state, federal, or other applicable law), as well as possible referral for criminal prosecution.

The Center for Health Education and Well-Being (“CHEW”) provides health promotion and health education, to all schools and campuses, including alcohol and drug education, motivational interviewing, and confidential support for those who have had experiences with interpersonal and power-based violence. CHEW proactively responds to the needs of a diverse under-graduate and graduate student population, with an emphasis on the prevention of illness and harm reduction practices. The professional staff and student peer educators offer a variety of programs that support and affirm student health and wellness through the delivery of fun and interactive programming. CHEW is dedicated to creating and sustaining a learning environment where healthy behaviors are an integral component to academic and individual success. In addition to the CHEW website, all students can find well-being programming opportunities, resources, and a robust well-being blog at https://wellbeing.jhu.edu.

In compliance with Maryland state law, all new undergraduate and graduate students were offered participation in the Opioid Epidemic and Awareness Program. This training was designed to help fight the opioid crisis and reduce opioid overdoses in Maryland. Learning outcomes includes increasing awareness of the demographics of people affected by opioid overdoses, explaining the severity of opioid misuse, reduce stigma of substance use disorders, remove barriers to access treatment services, understand the health effects of substances, negative consequences, and signs of overdose. In-person training is provided along with additional web-based modules for accessibility. Only virtual training was offered in 2020 to comply with COVID-19 restrictions.

In compliance with the Drug Free Schools and Communities Act, Johns Hopkins University publishes information regarding the University’s educational programs related to drug and alcohol abuse prevention; sanctions for violations of federal, state, and local laws and University policy; a description of health risks associated with alcohol and other drug use; and a description of available treatment programs for JHU students. A complete description of these topics is available online at: https://studentaffairs.jhu.edu/chew/alcohol-and-other-drugs/

The University provides its community with information on the signs and symptoms of alcohol and drug abuse, the common types of drugs and related risks, penalties for alcohol and drug related crimes, and University and non-University based resources and clinical services for staff at: https://hr.jhu.edu/benefits-worklife/support-programs/

Policy on Firearms

The possession, wearing, carrying, transporting, or use of a firearm or pellet weapon is strictly forbidden on University premises. This prohibition also extends to any person who may have acquired a government-issued permit or license. Violation of this regulation will result in disciplinary action and sanctions up to and including expulsion, in the case of students, or termination of employment, in the case of employees. Disciplinary action for violations of this regulation will be the responsibility of the responsible student affairs officer, dean, director, or panel in accordance with applicable procedures or the vice president for human resources, as may be appropriate, in accordance with applicable procedures. Any questions regarding this policy, including the granting of exceptions for law enforcement officers and for persons acting under the supervision of authorized University personnel, should be addressed to the appropriate chief campus security officer.

Sexual Misconduct: Prevention and Response

The University is committed to providing a safe and non-discriminatory educational and working environment for its students, trainees, faculty, staff, post-doctoral fellows, residents, and other members of the University community. In particular, the University will not tolerate and is committed to providing members of its community with an environment that is free from sexual misconduct. Each of the types of sexual misconduct, which includes various forms of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking are defined on pages 36 through 45 and also in the Johns Hopkins University Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures (“Sexual Misconduct Policy”), which are available on the JHU Sexual Assault Prevention and Response website at http://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/.

Sexual Misconduct is disruptive of the learning and working environment of the University’s community and deprives students, employees and other community members of equal access to the University’s programs and activities. To that end, the University embraces its responsibility to increase awareness of sexual misconduct, prevent its occurrence, support victims, deal fairly and firmly with offenders, diligently investigate complaints of such misconduct and related retaliation, and comply with Title IX of the Higher Education Amendments of 1972 (“Title IX”) and the Campus SaVE Act.

JHU reaffirms its commitment to maintaining a campus environment that emphasizes the dignity and worth of all members of the university community. Toward that end, JHU issues this statement of policy to inform the campus community of our programs to address sexual misconduct, including domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault and stalking, as well as the procedures the University will follow when sexual misconduct is reported to a University official, regardless of whether the incident reported occurs on or off campus.

The University’s Sexual Misconduct Policy prohibits sexual misconduct, and further prohibits any form of retaliation, intimidation, threats, coercion, or discrimination or attempts thereof, whether direct or indirect, by any officer, employee, faculty, student, trainee, post-doctoral fellow, resident or agent of the University against a person because that person made a complaint or report of sexual misconduct or participated in any way in the investigation or resolution of such a complaint or report, or who exercised their rights or responsibilities under the Sexual Misconduct Policy or the law. Additional information about how the University responds to allegations of related retaliation can be found on the Office of Institutional Equity’s (OIE) website at oie.jhu.edu/Retaliation/Retaliation.
Education and Prevention Programs
The University has education programs to promote prevention and awareness of sexual misconduct.

Bystander Intervention Training
The University's education also includes safe and positive options for bystander intervention that may be carried out by an individual to prevent harm or intervene when there is a risk of sexual misconduct against a person other than such individual. Bystander Intervention Training (“BIT”) programs, required for all first-year Homewood, help students identify situations of concern, and provide knowledge and tools to encourage safe and successful interventions. Additional BIT programs are also available to students upon request. If you would like to schedule a BIT program for your student group, please contact the Gender Violence Prevention and Education Specialist at jhuchew@jh.edu.

How to Be an Active Bystander
Bystanders play a critical role in the prevention of sexual and relationship violence. They are “individuals who observe violence or witness the conditions that perpetuate violence. They are not directly involved but have the choice to intervene, speak up, or do something about it.” We want to promote a culture of community accountability where bystanders are actively engaged in the prevention of violence without causing further harm. We may not always know what to do even if we want to help. Below is a list of some ways to be an active bystander. If you or someone else is in immediate danger, dial 911. This could be when a person is yelling at or being physically abusive towards another and it is not safe for you to interrupt.

1. Watch out for your friends and fellow students/employees. If you see someone who looks like they could be in trouble or need help, ask if they are ok.
2. Confront people who seclude, hit on, try to make out without consent, including having sex with people who are incapacitated.
3. Speak up when someone discusses plans to take sexual advantage of another person.
4. Believe someone who discloses sexual assault, abusive behavior, or experience with stalking.
5. Refer people to on or off campus resources listed in this document for support in health, counseling, or with legal assistance.

Preventing Sexual Misconduct Training
The University requires robust on-line training for new students and employees, and implements ongoing prevention and awareness campaigns for students and employees that address sexual misconduct. The University engages in comprehensive, intentional, and integrated programming, initiatives, strategies, and campaigns intended to prevent sexual misconduct that:

A. Are culturally relevant, inclusive of diverse communities and identities, sustainable, responsive, assessed for value, effectiveness, or outcome; and
B. Consider environmental risk and protective factors as they occur on the individual, relationship, institutional, community and societal levels.

Educational programming consists of primary prevention and awareness programs for all incoming students and new employees and ongoing awareness and prevention campaigns for students that:

• Identify sexual misconduct as prohibited conduct;
• Explain what conduct constitutes sexual misconduct under the laws of Maryland and/or the District of Columbia, as well as University policy and the purposes for which that definition is used;
• Include a statement that the institution prohibits the crimes of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking (as defined by the Clery Act);

1Bystander intervention strategies adapted from Stanford University’s Office of Sexual Assault & Relationship Abuse
• Define sexual misconduct according to any applicable jurisdictional definitions of these terms;
• Explain what constitutes consent, in reference to sexual activity, under the laws of Maryland and/or the District of Columbia, as well as University policy and the purposes for which that definition is used;
• Provide training for safe and positive options for bystander intervention that may be carried out by an individual or individuals to prevent harm or intervene when there is a risk of sexual misconduct;
• Provide information on risk reduction, including how to recognize warning signs of abusive behavior or violent behavior so as to intervene directly or get help;
• Describe the potential sanctions or protective measures that the University may impose or implement after determining that an individual was responsible for sexual misconduct;
• Describe procedures for institutional disciplinary action in cases of alleged sexual misconduct (as described in “Adjudication of Violations” elsewhere in this document);
• Explain existing counseling, health, mental health, victim advocacy, legal assistance, visa and immigration assistance, student financial aid, and other services available for complainants, both within the institution and in the community (as described in “Assistance for Victims: Rights and Options” elsewhere in this document);
• Explain options for, available assistance in, and how to request changes to academic, living, transportation, and working situations or protective measures (as described in “Assistance for Victims: Rights and Options” elsewhere in this document);
• Teach procedures that complainants should follow if sexual misconduct, including sexual misconduct has occurred;
• Explain the University’s procedures for disciplinary action in cases of alleged sexual misconduct;
• Describe how the University will protect privacy and confidentiality;
• Provide information about existing services available for complainants both on-campus and in the community; and
• Explain the interim supportive measures and accommodations offered by the University.

For more information on training programs including live/in-person and online training programs, please contact the Office of Institutional Equity (http://oie.jhu.edu/training/) and/or the Associate Director of Student Wellbeing, Gender Violence Prevention (acampb39@jhu.edu). You can request specific types of training from OIE at https://forms.jh.edu/view.php?id=182276 or from the Center for Health Education and Wellness (CHEW) at https://studentaffairs.jhu.edu/chew/center-health-education-wellness/chew-program-offerings/

Rape Aggression Defense (RAD)
The Rape Aggression Defense (“RAD”) system is a program of realistic self-defense tactics and techniques offered by Campus Safety and Security. The RAD system is a comprehensive course with the instructional objective of developing and enhancing options for self-defense, so they may become viable considerations for the person attacked. The program includes crime prevention awareness, risk reduction and avoidance, and basic self-defense techniques. RAD is not a martial arts program and no prior training or fitness level or knowledge is required to attend a class. RAD is a twelve (12) hour course consisting of four (4) classes, three (3) hours each. Class size is limited to twenty (20) students and there is no cost to attend. Call Jon Walter, the Student/Community Liaison, at 410-516-8737 and e-mail liaison@jhu.edu to register.
Risk Reduction

The University recognizes that abusers are responsible for their abusive behaviors and victims are never at fault for another's abusive actions. The following are some strategies taken from the Rape, Abuse, & Incest National Network, www.rainn.org, to reduce one's risk of sexual assault or harassment:

1. Be aware of your surroundings. Knowing where you are and who is around you may help you to find a way to help you find a way out of a violent or harmful situation.
2. Try to avoid isolated areas. Even if you don’t it is more difficult to get help if no one is around.
3. Walk with purpose. Even if you don’t know where you are going, act like you do.
4. Trust your instincts. If a situation or location feels unsafe or uncomfortable, it probably isn’t the best place to be.
5. Try not to load yourself down with packages or bags as this can make you appear more vulnerable.
6. Make sure your cell phone is with you and charged and that you have taxi money.
7. Don’t allow yourself to be isolated with someone you don’t trust or someone you don’t know.
8. Avoid putting music headphones in both ears so that you can be more aware of your surroundings, especially if you are walking alone.
9. When you go to a social gathering, go with a group of friends. Arrive together, check in with each other throughout the evening, and leave together.
10. Trust your instincts. If you feel unsafe in any situation, go with your gut. If you see something suspicious, contact law enforcement immediately (local authorities can be reached by calling 911 in most areas of the U.S.).
11. Don’t leave your drink unattended while talking, dancing, using the restroom, or making a phone call. If you’ve left your drink alone, just get a new one.
12. Don’t accept drinks from people you don’t know or trust. If you choose to accept a drink, go with the person to the bar to order it, watch it being poured, and carry it yourself. At parties, don’t drink from the punch bowls or other large, common open containers.
13. Watch out for your friends, and vice versa. If a friend seems out of it, is way too intoxicated for the amount of alcohol they’ve had, or is acting out of character, get him or her to a safe place immediately.
14. If you suspect you or a friend have been drugged, contact law enforcement immediately (local authorities can be reached by calling 911 in most areas of the U.S.). Be explicit with doctors so they can give you the correct tests (you will need a urine test and possibly others).
15. If you need to get out of an uncomfortable or scary situation here are some things that you can try:
   • Remember that being in this situation is not your fault. You did not do anything wrong. It is the person who is making you uncomfortable that is to blame.
   • Be true to yourself. Don’t feel obligated to do anything you don’t want to do. “I don’t want to” is always a good enough reason. Do what feels right to you and what you are comfortable with.
   • Have a code word with your friends or family so that if you don’t feel comfortable you can call them and communicate your discomfort without the person you are with knowing. Your friends or family can then come to get you or make up an excuse for you to leave.
   • Lie. If you don’t want to hurt the person’s feelings it is better to lie and make up a reason to leave rather than to stay and be uncomfortable, scared, or worse. Some excuses you could use are: needing to take care of a friend or family member, not feeling well, having somewhere else that you need to be, etc.
16. Try to think of an escape route. How would you try to get out of the room? Where are the doors? Windows? Are there people around who might be able to help you? Is there an emergency phone nearby?
17. If you and/or the other person have been drinking, you can say that you would rather wait until you both have your full judgment before doing anything you may regret later.
Primary Prevention and Awareness Programs

As mentioned above, the University offers automated training covering sexual misconduct, and makes such training available to all incoming students and new employees. The University also provides live trainings with incoming undergraduate and graduate students, as well as new employees, upon request. In response to university operations and safety protocols, many programs offerings were conducted virtually rather than in-person. If you would like to request programming, email jhuchew@jh.edu.

Ongoing Prevention and Awareness Campaigns

As mentioned above, the University offers automated training covering sexual misconduct, and makes such training available to all students and employees. The University also conducts in-person trainings with existing undergraduate and graduate students, as well as employees, upon request. For example, as the University returned to a hybrid learning and working modality, the Office of Institutional Equity delivered virtual trainings related to sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, stalking, and related retaliation to responsible employees in the School of Medicine. The Office of Institutional Equity also delivered virtual sessions related to sexual misconduct to responsible employees in Residential Life, and undergraduate students in Fraternity and Sorority Life, First Year Mentors, and Athletics. During Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM) and Domestic Violence Awareness Month, as well as throughout the spring and fall semesters, the Center for Health Education and Wellness (CHEW) coordinated multiple virtual programs. During SAAM, CHEW organized an event that highlighted how to cultivate healthy intimate partnerships in a variety of relationships. CHEW also created a collaborative playlist on Spotify and invited students to submit an art piece or spoken word for an event they co-hosted with the Sexual Assault Resource Unit (SARU). Notably, CHEW launched a University-wide consent campaign called, “I ask. I listen. I respect.” with input and support from the Provost’s Sexual Violence Advisory Committee (SVAC). Student Government Association (SGA) co-organized a “Sex Week” that featured such events as “Body Mapping” and “Consent Media” workshops. If you would like to request programming email jhuchew@jh.edu.

Steps for Victims

Seek Medical Help. Victims are encouraged to seek immediate medical attention. Obtaining medical attention from a forensic nurse examiner is recommended, as this medical professional can both administer medical services and conduct a medical forensic examination, including:

- Treat injuries;
- Test for and treat sexually transmitted diseases;
- Test for pregnancy;
- Provide emergency contraception;
- Collect physical evidence, test for “date-rape” drugs, and document injuries; and
- Connect a patient with counselors and other important non-medical resources.

Victims will receive full and prompt cooperation from University personnel in obtaining appropriate medical attention, including transporting the victim to the nearest hospital. Victims reporting an incident to Student Affairs personnel, Office of Institutional Equity or Campus Safety and Security will be offered transportation to Mercy Medical Center or another appropriate medical center. Victims who wish to be transported to Mercy Medical Center or another medical center and also wish to remain anonymous should call Campus Safety and Security with a transportation request, but should not disclose their name. Local Hospitals/Forensic Medical Exams. Baltimore’s designated forensic nurse examiner site is Mercy Medical Center, 345 St. Paul Place, Baltimore, MD 21202, 410-332-9494, https://bmoresafemercy.org/. Mercy Medical Center is staffed with forensic nurse examiners trained to assist victims of sexual assault and relationship violence with physical examination, evidence collection, and pursuing a complaint with law enforcement, if a victim so desires (however, engagement with or reporting to law enforcement is not required by Mercy Medical Center). An app is available at http://www.bmoresafemercy.org/get-the-app/ that explains more about victims’ options for medical attention, reporting, forensic examination, and support services. If someone has been victimized by a crime, they do not need to make an appointment for a forensic exam. They can simply go to the Emergency Department and ask for a forensic exam. Exams cannot be scheduled via the bmoresafe app. For a list of other hospitals near JHU’s campuses and surrounding areas, please see Appendix F in the Sexual Misconduct Policy or visit https://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/. Victims in other cities should contact the closest local hospital or crisis center.
Preserve Evidence. If possible, to best preserve any evidence, a victim should not shower, bathe, wash, douche, brush hair, drink, eat, or change clothes or bedding before a forensic medical exam. If the victim decides to change clothes, the individual should not wash the clothes worn during the assault and should bring them to the hospital or medical facility. However, even if the victim has already done these things, a forensic exam may still be able to collect valuable evidence.

These steps are important to preserve evidence for possible use in legal actions to prove a crime has occurred or to obtain a no-contact or protection order. Victims should preserve evidence even if, at the time, they do not anticipate seeking legal or disciplinary action. Because evidence dissipates quickly, victims should seek medical attention as soon as possible after the incident.

Victims of sexual misconduct are encouraged to also preserve evidence by saving text messages, instant messages, social networking pages, other communications, and keeping pictures, logs or other copies of documents, if they have any. Such evidence may be useful to University investigators and hearing boards, to law enforcement authorities (e.g., in proving that an alleged criminal offense occurred), and when seeking civil no-contact orders or protection or peace orders. (These steps are less urgent than seeking medical attention.)

A forensic medical exam goes beyond DNA evidence collection, and therefore is important regardless of whether the perpetrator is known to the victim, and regardless of whether the victim thinks there is biological/DNA evidence to collect. The exam can include writing down the victim’s description of events, physical examination, and photographic documentation of injuries, evidence collection procedures, and assessment for drug-facilitated assault (“date-rape drugs”). Victims have the right to accept or decline any or all parts of the exam. At some hospitals, including Mercy Medical Center in Baltimore, a forensic medical exam can be completed regardless of whether a victim wishes to report the incident to law enforcement. Under such circumstances, the victim has the option of conducting a “Jane/John Doe” examination, where the forensic nurse examiner completes a history, conducts a physical exam and collects evidence but does not release the information to law enforcement; the medical records and evidentiary kit can be stored and later released to law enforcement if the victim chooses to make a police report.

Obtain Counseling. The University encourages victims to seek counseling from a professional counselor, pastoral counselor, or other confidential resource. These confidential resources can provide support and information about a victim’s options. The University offers several confidential resources, which are described above and more fully enumerated in Appendix B of the Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures located at https://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/policies-laws/ or the Confidential Resources website, located at https://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/policies-laws/Confidential-Resources.

Report The Offense. The victim has several options for reporting the offense, including local law enforcement, Campus Safety and Security, and the Title IX Coordinator.

Additional information about reporting options follows.

Local Law Enforcement. The University encourages all members of its community to report sexual misconduct to law enforcement authorities, but victims have the right to decline involvement with law enforcement authorities. Victims may file a report directly with local law enforcement. If they first report to the University, Campus Safety and Security and/or the Title IX Coordinator will inform them of their option to file criminal charges with local law enforcement of the jurisdiction where the offense occurred. The Title IX Coordinator or Campus Safety and Security will assist any victim with notifying local law enforcement authorities if they so desire. The Baltimore Police Department (BPD) can be reached at 911 (emergency) or 410-396-2455 (non-emergency). Information for other local and state law enforcement units is available on page 3 or in the individual campus sections of this Report, online at the Homewood Campus Safety and Security website (http://security.jhu.edu/) and the JHU Sexual Misconduct Response and Prevention website (http://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/). Reports to the BPD can be made over the phone, in person, or online in certain cases. Once a report is logged and reviewed BPD will assign a report number and decide whether further investigation is warranted and contact individuals accordingly. For more information, see: https://www.baltimorepolice.org/file-police-report The University reserves the right to report information to law enforcement authorities, in a health or safety emergency. The University will comply with all applicable laws and regulations on the reporting of child abuse and neglect as set forth in the University’s Policy on the Safety of Children in University Programs, available at https://policies.jhu.edu/doc/atch.cfm/PSAvqXfe.
Campus Safety and Security. Victims may also file a report with their respective Campus Security office or center director, which/who can provide assistance and connect the victim with other important resources. The emergency number for Campus Safety and Security on the Homewood Campus is 410-516-7777. The non-emergency number is 410-516-4600. Contact information for other campuses is located on page 3 or in the individual campus sections of this Report and the JHU Sexual Misconduct Response and Prevention website: https://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/. The victim also has the right to decline to notify Campus Safety and Security.

Anonymous Reports
Reports can be made anonymously using any of the contact methods (telephone, email, online report, or mail) above. Complainants can also contact a general compliance hotline, referred to as SPEAK2US by calling 1-844-SPEAK2US (1-844-773-2528). To make an anonymous report by any method above, do not provide any personally identifiable information when you make the report (such as a name, e-mail or phone number that is on file with the school or otherwise could identify you).

Report vs. Formal Complaints. The University will respond to all reports of sexual misconduct. A Formal Complaint is a specific type of report that may result in the use of the Procedures for Title IX Sexual Harassment, and which typically must be signed by the complainant, such that the complainant will not be anonymous. A Formal Complaint typically results in the University issuing a Notice of Allegations to both parties, as further described below in the section discussing the Procedures for Title IX Sexual Harassment.

In addition to the Title IX Coordinator, reports of sexual misconduct may be brought to designated Responsible Employees who are obligated to report to the Title IX Coordinator information they receive concerning sexual misconduct. Responsible Employee is a designation given to certain University employees who have a duty to report sexual misconduct that they learn of to the University’s Title IX Coordinator. “Responsible Employees” are designated based on the University’s determination that they have the authority to redress sexual misconduct, have the duty to report sexual misconduct to the Title IX Coordinator, or are employees whom a student reasonably believes has such authority or duty. Responsible Employees designated by the University include academic administrators, academic advisors, non-confidential employees serving in a supervisory role, department heads and chairs, directors, deans, student affairs staff, Office of Institutional Equity staff, faculty, Human Resources personnel, campus security officers, resident advisors, and athletic coaches. Responsible Employees must promptly report all known relevant information to the Title IX Coordinator, including the name of the complainant, respondent, and any witnesses and any other relevant facts, including the date, time, and location of the misconduct. Faculty who are also licensed medical providers do not have a Responsible Employee obligation when providing patient care where the patient information that constitutes a report of potential sexual misconduct is protected by applicable patient privacy laws. Additional information about Responsible Employee obligations can be found on the OIE website at https://oie.jhu.edu/responsible-employee-guidance/index.
The University has procedures in place that serve to be sensitive to complainants who report sexual misconduct, including informing individuals about their right to file criminal charges. The University’s procedures are also designed to deal fairly and appropriately with respondents. Upon initial contact with a party, the University informs that party of available resources such as health services, mental health services, support services, legal assistance, visa and immigration assistance and other services on and/or off-campus as well as additional remedies/interim supportive measures to prevent contact between the parties, such as adjustments to on-campus housing and, academic schedules, protective orders, transportation, working accommodations, and retaliation plans, if reasonable and available. The University will provide such measures, if either party requests them and if they are reasonable and available, regardless of whether the complainant chooses to report the crime to University Campus Safety and Security or local law enforcement. Students and employees should contact the Title IX Coordinator to request accommodations or with questions concerning the same.

Recent Changes to Procedures
On August 14, 2020, the Department of Education’s revised regulations for how institutions of higher education must handle complaints of Title IX Sexual Harassment went into effect. The University thus revised its Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures (SMPP) that same day. The revised, current SMPP, available at https://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/policies-laws/, now has two separate sets of procedures: 1) The Procedures for Title IX Sexual Harassment, which comply with the newly revised Title IX regulations, and 2) The Procedures for Other Sexual Misconduct, which address sexual misconduct that is not considered Title IX Sexual Harassment. While these August 2020 revisions resulted in some procedural changes for how the University addresses sexual misconduct, all sexual misconduct that was prohibited under the prior SMPP (prior to August 14, 2020) remains prohibited and will be addressed under university policy.

The August 14, 2020 revised regulations are not retroactive. They only apply to reports of Title IX violations where the alleged conduct occurred on or after August 14, 2020. Thus, if the University receives a report of sexual misconduct that is alleged to have occurred prior to August 14, 2020 (regardless of when it is reported), the matter will be handled under the University’s prior Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures that was in effect before the August 14, 2020 revisions, available at https://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/policies-laws/SMPP%20Effective%208.1.19%20Through%208.13.20.pdf, rather than the policy that has since gone into effect. Sexual misconduct that is alleged to have occurred on or after August 14, 2020 is handled under the current SMPP, available at https://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/policies-laws/.

Initial Response To A Report of Sexual Misconduct
If a report of sexual misconduct is reported to the University, the University takes the following initial steps to assess risk and provide support:

- Depending on when reported (immediate vs delayed report), institution will help connect the complainant to access to medical care and provide information on preserving evidence.
- Institution will assess immediate safety needs.
- Institution will assist complainant with contacting local police if complainant requests and provide the complainant with contact information for local police department.
- Institution will provide referrals to on and off campus confidential and non-confidential resources.
- Institution will assess need to implement interim or long-term supportive measures, if appropriate.
- Institution will provide the complainant with the applicable sexual misconduct policy as well as a written explanation of the complainant’s rights and options.
- Institution will provide a “No trespass (PNG)” if deemed appropriate.
- Institution will provide written instructions on how to apply for Protective Order or Peace Order.

Procedures following this initial response depend on the circumstances, including whether the identity the Respondent is known to the University and whether the matter proceeds to investigation and/or adjudication, and can include the following where applicable:

- Institution will provide a copy of the policy applicable to Sexual Assault to the parties and inform them... regarding timeframes for inquiry, investigation and resolution.

- Institution will afford the parties equal and timely access to and an opportunity to review material information to be used in adjudicating the matter.

- Institution will inform the parties of the outcome of any investigation, and adjudication.

- Institution will enforce the anti-retaliation policy and take immediate and separate action against any individual who retaliates against a person who participates as a party or a witness in any matter.

Plan for Safety. Complainants may also wish to obtain a no-contact or similar order, or other protective measures. The University may issue an institutional no-contact order at the request of the complainant or respondent, or if appropriate, on its own volition. In addition to obtaining a no-contact order under University policy, students, employees, faculty, and staff may seek to obtain an order of protection under Maryland or District of Columbia law, or in another applicable jurisdiction. The University may offer other reasonable interim and supportive measures, as appropriate. For example, the University could assist with escorts, changes in classes, and/or on-campus housing or work locations. See p. 24 for additional information regarding supportive measures.

In Maryland, victims may seek a Protective Order from a District Court or Circuit Court Judge if the victim is the subject of an act that caused serious bodily harm or was placed in fear of imminent bodily harm, or is the subject of an assault in any degree, rape or sexual offense or attempted rape or sexual offense, false imprisonment, or criminal stalking, and is the current or former spouse of the respondent, had a sexual relationship and lived with the respondent for at least 90 days within the last year, is related to the respondent by blood, marriage, or adoption, is the parent, stepparent, child, or stepchild of the respondent and lived with the respondent for at least 90 days within the last year, or has a child in common with the respondent. In all other cases (criminal harassment, criminal trespassing, and malicious destruction of property), the victim can file for a Peace Order from a District Court Judge. For more information on obtaining a Protective Order or a Peace Order, please visit the following website: https://mdcourts.gov/courtforms/joint/ccdcdypo001br.pdf.

In the District of Columbia, any victim of sexual assault, sexual abuse, or stalking may seek a Civil Protective Order from a District Court or Circuit Court Judge if the victim has been physically hurt, sexually assaulted, threatened, stalked, or had property destroyed by a person to whom the victim is related by blood, adoption, marriage, domestic partnership, has a child in common, share or has shared the same home, has or previously had a dating relationship (it does not need to be a sexual relationship) or from a person who had one of the above relationships with the victim’s current domestic partner. To obtain a Civil Protection Order, the victim must live or work in the District of Columbia and at least one incident must have occurred in the District of Columbia. For more information on obtaining a Civil Protection Order, including locations of Domestic Violence Intake Centers, please visit the following website: https://www.dccourts.gov/services/domestic-violence-matters/get-a-protection-order.

Campus Safety and Security and the Title IX Coordinator are available to assist any student, faculty, or staff member seeking a Protective Order, Peace Order, Civil Protection Order, or other protective order, or any other available remedy under State or Federal law. Further, the University complies with law in recognizing orders of protection and encourages any person who obtains an order of protection, restraining order, or the like, whether civil or criminal in nature, to provide a copy to Campus Safety and Security and the Title IX Coordinator. A complainant may then meet with Campus Safety and Security or the Title IX Coordinator to develop a safety plan, which is a plan for Campus Safety and Security and the victim to reduce risk of harm while on campus or coming and going from campus. This plan may include, but is not limited to: escorts, special parking arrangements, providing a temporary cellphone, changing classroom location or allowing a student to complete assignments from home. Note that any complainant who fears for their safety may meet with Campus Safety and Security or the Title IX Coordinator regarding a safety plan, even if they have not obtained a legal order.

Support Services for Victims

The University and nearby community members offer a diverse collection of support services to all parties. Certain key resources are listed in this report. The Title IX Coordinator can provide information about additional support resources for complainants. Upon receiving a report of sexual misconduct, the Title IX Coordinator will provide the complainant with a written explanation of their rights and options and available resources.

Upon receipt of a report of sexual misconduct, OIE will provide written notification to students and employees about supportive measures and resources available to them, including academic, living, transportation, protective orders and working situations. The written notification will include information regarding these options, and how to request supportive measures or connection to supportive resources (i.e., the notification will include the name and contact information for the individual or office that should be contacted).

At the complainant’s request, and to the extent of the complainant’s cooperation and consent, university offices will work cooperatively to assist the complainant in obtaining support. If reasonably available, a complainant may be offered changes to academic, living, working, protective measures or transportation situations regardless of whether the complainant chooses to file a report with campus police or local law enforcement. Examples of options for potential change to the academic situation may be to assist a party to transfer to a different course section. Potential changes to living situations may be to assist a party to move to a different room or residence hall in on-campus housing. Possible changes in transportation may be to assist a party to temporarily or permanently park in a different location or travel to location on campus with a safety escort.

To request interim supportive measures, including but not limited to, changes to academic, living, transportation and/or working situations or protective measures, individuals should contact:

Assistance for Victims: Rights & Options
Regardless of whether a victim elects to pursue a criminal complaint or whether the offense is alleged to have occurred on or off campus, the university will assist victims of sexual misconduct and will provide each victim with the applicable written explanation of their rights and options as dictated by the applicable policy. Such written information will include:
- the procedures victims should follow if a crime of dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault or stalking has occurred;
- information about how the institution will protect the confidentiality of victims and other necessary parties to the extent possible and consistent with legal obligations;
- a statement that the institution will provide written notification to students and employees about victim services within the institution and in the community;
- a statement regarding the institution’s provisions about options for, available assistance in, and how to request accommodations and supportive/protective measures; and
- an explanation of the procedures for institutional disciplinary action.

Confidential University Resources
See Appendix B of the Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures, located at http://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/policies-laws/#Appendix%20B, or the Confidential Resources website, located at https://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/policies-laws/Confidential-Resources, for the full and most current listing of confidential University resources that include professional counseling, mental health, pastoral counseling, health, and victim’s advocate services.

Protections for Confidentiality
All University personnel, including Responsible Employees and Confidential Resources (as such terms are defined in the Sexual Misconduct Policy), are charged with protecting and respecting the privacy of complainants, respondents and any witnesses to the greatest extent possible. Information about sexual misconduct should be shared only with those who have legitimate educational interest.

If an individual wants to keep the details of any sexual misconduct incident confidential, the individual may speak to a Confidential Resource, referenced above and in Appendix B to the Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures. Information shared with Confidential Resources does not constitute a report or complaint filed with the University for the purpose of instituting an investigation or resolution of a sexual misconduct complaint.

In addition, in order to maintain confidentiality but gather information, a student may seek information from officials (including from the Title IX Coordinator and OIE staff) about their rights and options, including interim supportive measures, without disclosing the underlying offense or involved individuals.

Security Notifications and Public Record-keeping. Personally identifiable information, such as the name and/or other identifiable information, about victims will not be included in any timely warning or security notification, or in any publicly available record-keeping, including the disclosure of crime statistics in this Report and the Daily Crime Log.

Investigation/Disciplinary Proceedings/Interim Measures. Personally identifiable information will only be shared with persons who have a specific need-to-know. In the case of a report to a Responsible Employee or the Title IX Coordinator, a complainant may request confidentiality at any point up to the filing of a Formal Complaint under the Title IX Sexual Harassment Procedures or the initiating of an investigation under the Other Sexual Misconduct Procedures or the former Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures (applicable to allegations reported to have occurred prior to August 14, 2020). For example, a complainant may request that the complainant’s identity not be disclosed to anyone else, including the respondent, or that information about the incident not be shared with others.

The Title IX Coordinator will consider any requests for confidentiality or requests that an investigation not be pursued in light of the University’s commitment to provide a safe and non-discriminatory environment for all students. The Title IX Coordinator may also consider a complainant’s request for confidentiality in conjunction with other legal obligations, such as compliance with court orders, governmental investigations and proceedings, and litigation requests related to the report. For example, if the Title IX Coordinator concludes that the allegations about the respondent suggest a threat to the community or learns of other information that warrants or necessitates investigation, the request for confidentiality may not be granted.

If the University honors a request for confidentiality, the University’s ability to investigate and respond to the reported misconduct and pursue disciplinary action against the respondent may be limited. The University will however take all reasonable steps to evaluate and respond to the report consistent with a request that has been granted. If the Title IX Coordinator determines that the University will not honor a complainant’s request for confidentiality, the Title IX Coordinator or a designee will inform the complainant prior to starting an investigation. If the complainant or the Title IX Coordinator files a Formal Complaint of Title IX Sexual Harassment, written notice of the complaint will be provided to both parties and will include the identity of the complainant. Written notice will also be provided to parties in Other Sexual Misconduct investigations.

In all circumstances, the University will make appropriate interim supportive measures available, provide access to resources, and take such other actions as necessary and appropriate to protect the safety and security of the University community. The University will exercise discretion in implementing interim measures and will only disclose information needed to implement such measures. All disclosures will be compliant with federal privacy laws protecting student information.

Interim Supportive Measures

Every time that OIE receives a report of sexual misconduct of any kind, and regardless of how the report proceeds, the Title IX Coordinator will work with all affected persons to ensure their safety and promote their well-being. This assistance may include the provision of interim supportive measures following an incident or while a matter under these Procedures is pending to assist, support, or protect an individual and/or to protect the integrity of an investigation or resolution process. Both complainants and respondents will have equal access to appropriate and reasonably available and feasible interim supportive measures.
Upon receipt of a report, the Title IX Coordinator or a designee will provide written notice to the complainant of the interim supportive measures that may be available and feasible and will seek to discuss with the complainant these measures and the complainant’s wishes. Similar notice will be provided to the respondent upon being notified of the complaint or report. Reasonable and appropriate interim supportive measures that may be available and feasible and will seek to discuss with the complainant reports the matter to Campus Safety and Security or law enforcement, or files a report with the University.

Interim support measures will be implemented by the student affairs office or other appropriate authority at the individual’s school, division, campus, department or center, under the direction of the Title IX Coordinator. Student affairs personnel or other appropriate authorities, in conjunction with the Title IX Coordinator, will communicate with other University personnel to ensure that they make appropriate interim supportive measures available.

The University will exercise discretion in implementing interim supportive measures and will only disclose information if necessary to implement such measures. All disclosures will be compliant with federal privacy laws protecting student information.

Interim measures may include, but are not limited to:

- Moving residences on campus;
- Adjusting work schedules;
- Changing advisors;
- Changing academic schedules;
- Parking and/or transportation accommodations;
- Rescheduling examinations;
- Allowing withdrawal from or re-taking classes without penalty;
- Providing access to tutoring or other academic support;
- Prohibiting attendance at group or organizational informal or formal functions overseen by the University;
- Administrative leave for non-student employees;
- Interim Suspension/ Emergency removal as permitted by applicable law;
- Issuing mutual “no contact” orders;
- Assistance connecting with medical and/or mental health services;
- Developing an anti-retaliation plans to address retaliation concerns;
- Change in dining location;
- Access to safety escort services; and/or
- Assistance connecting with a supporter.

Violations of no contact orders and failure to comply with other interim directives may result in disciplinary action pursuant to the student conduct code or relevant divisional policy for faculty and staff. All reported violations of “no contact” orders and other similar directives will be assessed to determine whether additional misconduct charges are warranted.

Procedures for Disciplinary Action

The Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures set forth the University’s commitment to investigate and resolve cases involving sexual misconduct and retaliation promptly, fairly, equitably, impartially, and in compliance with law. The Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures applies to all members of the University community, including, but not limited to, students, trainees, faculty, staff, post-doctoral fellows, and residents, and covers prohibited conduct that: occurs on campus or other University property; occurs in connection with University programs or activities, whether on or off campus, including academic, educational, extracurricular, athletic and other programs and activities; impedes equal access to any University educational program or activity or adversely impacts the education or employment of a member of the University community, regardless of where the conduct occurred or, otherwise threatens the health or safety of one or more students, trainees, faculty members, staff members, post-doctoral fellows, or residents.
All individuals who enter JHU campuses or property are prohibited from engaging in any form of sexual misconduct as defined by this Policy, regardless of their affiliation with the University. When a report of sexual misconduct is received, OIE will assess the involved individual(s)’ relationship with the University as well as the type, location, and context of the reported conduct to determine whether it should be addressed using the Procedures for Title IX Sexual Harassment, the Procedures for Other Sexual Misconduct, or by another University policy/process. Regardless of the process applied, OIE will take reasonable and appropriate supportive and responsive measures to address prohibited conduct under this Policy.

In some instances where the accused party (the “respondent”) is not a student, staff member, faculty member, trainee or resident, some or all of the procedures outlined herein may not apply. In other instances, the University may determine that some or all of the procedures outlined herein should be applied to third parties (e.g., visitors; volunteers; vendors and contractors while on University property, participating in a University sponsored activity, or providing or receiving services to or from the University; applicants for admission to or employment with the University; and former affiliates of the University). Regardless, OIE will take reasonable and appropriate supportive and responsive measures to address prohibited conduct under this Policy.

Assessment to Determine the Appropriate Procedures to Apply

When the Title IX Coordinator receives a complaint or report of sexual misconduct, the Title IX Coordinator must determine the appropriate procedures for resolution. If the alleged sexual misconduct occurred prior to August 14, 2020, OIE typically will apply the procedures from the former Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures, available at https://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/policies-laws/SMPP%20Effective%208.1.19%20Through%208.13.20.pdf. If the alleged sexual misconduct occurred on or after August 14, 2020, OIE must assess whether the appropriate procedures for resolution are: (1) Procedures for Title IX Sexual Harassment, or (2) Procedures for Other Sexual Harassment.

This assessment involves considering the federally-mandated criteria for Title IX Sexual Harassment grievance procedures:

- Does some or all of the alleged conduct, if found to have occurred as alleged, constitute Title IX Sexual Harassment?
- Did the alleged conduct occur within the United States?
- Did the alleged conduct occur in the University’s education program or activity?
- Has the University received a Formal Complaint?
- At the time of filing a Formal Complaint signed by the Complainant, was the complainant participating in or attempting to participate in an education program or activity of the University?

If all of the above questions are answered in the affirmative, the University will apply the Procedures for Title IX Sexual Harassment, available at https://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/policies-laws/#Appendix%20G. However, if one or more of the above questions is answered in the negative, the Title IX Coordinator will apply the Procedures for Other Sexual Misconduct, available at https://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/policies-laws/#Appendix%20H, which are very similar to the procedures set forth under the former Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures.

Reports of retaliation will generally be handled under the Procedures for Other Sexual Misconduct.

In some cases, the Title IX Coordinator may need to engage in limited fact-gathering to make this preliminary assessment.

Procedures for Other Sexual Misconduct/
Former Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures

This section of the report contains a summary of some of the salient features of the Procedures for Other Sexual Misconduct Policy and the former Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures, which are very similar. To view the full text of the Procedures for Other Sexual Misconduct, please visit https://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/policies-laws/#Appendix%20H. To view the full text of the former Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures, please visit https://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/policies-laws/SMPP%20Effective%208.1.19%20Through%208.13.20.pdf.
Notice of Rights
Upon filing a report of sexual misconduct that triggers either the Procedures for Other Sexual Misconduct or the former Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures, the University will provide the complainant with a written explanation of their rights, options, and responsibilities, and the resources available to assist the complainant within the institution and the larger community, including counseling, health, mental health, international student services, financial aid, and other services. Upon initiating an assessment or investigation of a complaint of sexual assault, stalking, or relationship violence, the University will provide both the complainant and the respondent with a written explanation of their rights, options, and responsibilities, and the resources available to assist both the complainant and respondent within the institution and the larger community, including counseling, mental health, international student services, financial aid, legal services, and other services.

Standard of Evidence
The University will use the preponderance of the evidence standard to determine a respondent’s responsibility for alleged Sexual Misconduct Policy violations. A “preponderance of the evidence” means it is more likely than not that a policy violation occurred (or did not occur) based on the evidentiary record.

Time Frames
The University seeks to resolve all sexual misconduct cases as promptly as reasonably possible. OIE is responsible for the investigation of a complaint, which typically takes approximately 30 - 90 days, and results in OIE providing an investigative report to the appropriate decision-maker/panel.

Following OIE’s investigation, the decision-maker/panel then determines the outcome, including whether the Policy was violated and, if so, any appropriate sanctions. This post-OIE adjudication process typically takes 30 - 60 days, and additional time may be needed to process an appeal, if applicable. The length of the investigation, adjudication and/or appeal may be impacted by various factors including, but not limited to, the nature and scope of allegation; the number of witnesses; availability of witnesses, parties, party supporters and Hearing Advisors; voluminous documentary evidence; the need for language assistance or accommodation of disabilities; evidence gathering in a concurrent law enforcement investigation; and the academic calendar(e.g., exam periods, breaks).

The Title IX Coordinator (for investigations) and the decision-maker/ panel or appeal officer (for adjudication and appeals) may extend the above time frames for good cause with written notice to the complainant and respondent.

The University will provide the complainant and respondent with periodic updates on the status of the case, as well as timely written notice of scheduled meetings, hearings, and interviews in which they are required or permitted to attend.

Investigations
When the Title IX Coordinator receives a complaint or report of sexual misconduct, the Title IX Coordinator determines whether to initiate an investigation. If an investigation is opened, the Title IX Coordinator will coordinate, oversee, or conduct the investigation. During the first phase of its investigation, the investigator(s) will gather facts related to the allegations of sexual misconduct, interview the complainant, respondent, and witnesses, and gather pertinent documents and other evidence identified by either party or that comes to their attention. Parties have the right to submit evidence, witness lists and/or suggest specific questions to be posed to the other party during the investigation. Upon completion of the fact-gathering process, the investigator(s) will prepare an investigative report including the investigator(s)’ findings of fact, and a recommended determination as to whether the respondent is responsible for the alleged violation(s) by a preponderance of the evidence. The parties will have a chance to review and comment on the investigation report, prior to its finalization. Once the investigation is complete, the investigative report is transmitted to the appropriate resolution/hearing panel, board or administrator for resolution and administration of sanctions.

Informal Resolution
If the complainant and respondent agree, certain cases may be resolved informally with the approval of the Title IX Coordinator. Cases involving allegations of sexual assault or sexual coercion are not suitable for informal resolution. Informal resolution may also be unavailable if the Title IX Coordinator determines that it is inappropriate based on the facts and circumstances of the particular case. All informal resolutions will be conducted and overseen by the Title IX Coordinator or a designee, and under no circumstances will a complainant be directed to resolve a matter directly with the respondent. Either the complainant or the respondent may withdraw their agreement to proceed informally at any time. If both parties are satisfied with a proposed informal resolution and the Title IX Coordinator considers the resolution to satisfy the University’s obligation to provide a safe and non-discriminatory environment, the resolution will be implemented and the informal resolution process will be concluded. Both parties receive written notice of outcome in a matter resolved informally. If informal resolution efforts are unsuccessful, the Title IX Coordinator will determine if the matter should be formally investigated, referred to a different department or division for informal follow-up, or closed internally with no further action.

Formal Resolution

Except as provided in the Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures, resolution, sanctions and appeals of sexual misconduct complaints will be governed by the procedures in the University’s personnel policies when the respondent is a staff member; and when the respondent is a faculty member, post-doctoral fellow, or resident will be processed by the office of the dean of the appropriate division according to the disciplinary procedures established by that division. The resolution, sanctions and appeals of sexual misconduct cases in which the respondent is a student will be governed by the Sexual Misconduct Policy. Some of the pertinent features of the student respondent resolution process are as follows:

If a matter involving a student respondent is not resolved by informal resolution or a respondent’s acceptance of responsibility, the Title IX Coordinator or a designee will convene a resolution panel at the conclusion of an investigation to determine whether the respondent is or is not responsible for violation(s) of the Policy. A panel will have three members drawn from a trained pool of University faculty and administrators and retired judges or other qualified legal professional selected by the Title IX Coordinator or a designee (two University personnel (faculty and/or administrators) and one retired judge/qualified legal professional). Upon review of the investigative report and any comments submitted by the parties or the Office of Institutional Equity, the panel may (i) determine that the case can be decided without hearing from witnesses or receiving further evidence, (ii) remand the case for further investigation or clarification of the investigative report, or (iii) convene a hearing. If the panel determines that a case can be decided without hearing from witnesses or receiving further evidence, both the complainant and respondent will nonetheless have the opportunity to make a statement to the resolution panel if they so choose.

The panel will determine respondent’s responsibility for alleged Policy violations. If found responsible, the panel will proceed to the sanctioning phase.

Procedural Rights

For complaints of sexual assault, relationship violence, and stalking:

- All procedural rights will be afforded equally to complainants and respondents.
- Supporters. The complainant and the respondent may be assisted and advised by one personal supporter (i.e., someone who is not serving as a legal counsel or an advocate) and/or one supporter who serves as a legal counsel, an advocate supervised by an attorney or a trained advocate, throughout the investigative and resolution process (including hearing, sanctioning and appeals). The supporters may accompany the party to any meeting or hearing held pursuant to the Sexual Misconduct Policy. During any such meeting or proceeding, a supporter (whether or not legal counsel) may privately consult the party (except during questioning of a party at a hearing) but may not speak on the party’s behalf or otherwise participate, or address or question the investigator, resolution panel, or other parties or witnesses. The supporter may make written submission on the party’s behalf. University personnel employed in the office responsible for the disciplinary proceedings described in these Procedures, along with those in the chain of command above them, personnel employed by the Office of the General Counsel, and others whose participation could create a conflict of interest and/or reasonably call into question the impartiality of the University's process are not eligible to serve as supporters. If there is a question or a concern about a possible supporter, please consult with the Title IX Coordinator.

- Attorneys for Student Sexual Assault Matters. Maryland law (Education Article section 11-601) provides that a party (whether the complainant or respondent) who would like to be assisted by legal counsel during an investigation under this Policy is permitted to access counsel paid for by the Maryland Higher Education Commission (“MHEC”) if: (1) the party is a current or former student; (2) the party makes or responds to a complaint alleging an incident of sexual assault; (3) the party was enrolled as a student at the University at the time of the alleged incident of sexual assault; and (4) the Title IX Coordinator decides to conduct an investigation into the complaint. Under those circumstances, and assuming funding is available, MHEC is required to pay the reasonable costs and attorney's fees for students who access legal counsel. A student who is authorized to access legal counsel paid for by MHEC may select their counsel from a list of attorneys and legal services programs developed by MHEC. The following MHEC webpage provides more information, including a list of participating attorneys: https://mhec.maryland.gov/Pages/Title-IX-Campus-Sexual-Assault-Proceedings---Attorney-List.aspx. Alternatively, if a student selects and retains an attorney who is not on MHEC’s list, MHEC will pay fees to the attorney selected by the student that are equivalent to those paid to attorneys under civil legal services programs administered by the Maryland Legal Services Corporation. A student may select and retain legal counsel at any time prior to the conclusion of the investigative and resolution process. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the complainant and/or the respondent may knowingly and voluntarily choose not to have legal counsel. JHU is not responsible for the provision of attorneys through MHEC (or any other source) or the payment of any attorneys' fees, and cannot guarantee that attorneys or funding for attorney's fees will be available from MHEC.

- The complainant and respondent will each have equal and timely access to and an opportunity to review any information that will be used during informal and formal disciplinary meetings and hearings, consistent with FERPA and to protect other confidential and privileged information.

- The complainant and respondent will have timely notice for meetings at which they may be present.

Training for Officials Conducting Investigations and Hearings

All officials conducting sexual misconduct investigations and hearings shall, at a minimum, receive annual training on issues related to sexual misconduct, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence and stalking, and on how to conduct an investigation and hearing that promote safety and accountability and affords equal procedural rights to complainants and respondents. In addition, investigators and the Director of Case Management receive topic-specific trainings throughout the year.

Conflict of Interest Policy

All persons participating in the investigation or resolution (including hearing, sanctioning and appeals) of sexual misconduct cases should disclose any potential or actual conflict of interest to the Title IX Coordinator. The Title IX Coordinator is responsible for sharing relevant information with the complainant and respondent. If either party believes that any person involved in the process has a conflict of interest, they may make a request to the Title IX Coordinator that the individual not participate. Any such request should include a description of the alleged conflict. If the Title IX Coordinator determines that a disabling conflict of interest exists, the Title IX Coordinator will take steps to address the conflict in order to ensure an impartial process. The institutional disciplinary procedures will not be conducted by officials who have a conflict of interest or bias for or against the complainant or the respondent.
Sanctions and Protective Measures
In cases of sexual misconduct, the University will impose sanctions that are fair and appropriate, consistent with the University’s handling of similar cases, adequate to protect the safety of the campus community, and reflective of the seriousness of the misconduct at issue. The University may impose any one or more of the following sanctions on a respondent found responsible for sexual misconduct, or other such appropriate sanction as the circumstances may dictate:

- Reprimand/warning;
- Changing the respondent’s academic schedule or employment schedule;
- Disciplinary probation;
- Revocation of honors or awards;
- Loss of privileges;
- Alcohol and/or drug assessment or counseling;
- Imposition of conditions of employment;
- Restricting access to University facilities or activities, including student activities and campus organizations;
- Mandatory training;
- Service hours
- Issuing a “no contact” order to the respondent or requiring that an existing order remain in place;
- Moving the respondent’s residence;
- Dismissal, termination or restriction from University employment;
- Making a former University employee or student (including those expelled or terminated pursuant to these sanctions) ineligible for hire or rehire by the University;
- Removal from student housing;
- Demotion or other removal from a management, supervisory or leadership role(s);
- A full or partial ban from campus (either limited time or indefinite);
- Transcript notations;
- Deferred suspension
- Restriction from University sponsored or affiliated events;
- Pay reduction
- Loss of raise;
- Loss of supervision or oversight duties;
- Referral for further sanctioning pursuant to applicable policies and/or procedures;
- Employment record notations, including an ineligibility for rehire notation;
- Suspension;
- Expulsion; and
- Revocation of degree.

The University may implement additional measures that are designed to prevent the recurrence of sexual misconduct or respond to the effects of the sexual misconduct on the University community that include, but are not limited to: increased monitoring, supervision, or security at locations or activities where the sexual misconduct occurred; additional training and/or educational materials for students or groups; and campus climate surveys.

The University may also implement additional measures to remedy the effects of the sexual misconduct on the complainant. These measures may include but are not limited to: providing an escort for passage between classes and activities; ensuring the complainant and respondent do not share classes or extracurricular activities; moving the respondent or complainant (if the complainant requests to be moved) to a different residence hall; providing victim focused services including medical, counseling and academic support services, such as tutoring; and arranging for the complainant to have extra time to complete or re-take a class or withdraw from a class without an academic or financial penalty.
Notice of Outcomes

In cases of sexual misconduct, both the complainant and the respondent will be notified of the outcome (result) of the complaint in writing simultaneously. In all such cases, this notice will include (a) whether it was found that the alleged misconduct occurred, (b) any sanctions imposed on the respondent that directly relate to the complainant, and (c) any steps taken to eliminate a hostile environment and prevent recurrence. The complainant should also be notified of (d) any individual remedies offered or provided to the complainant, and of (e) any remaining sanctions imposed on the respondent. Additionally, in cases alleging a sexual assault, relationship violence, or stalking, the complainant and respondent will be notified of all sanctions imposed against the respondent, along with rationale for the result and sanctions.

In all cases, the notice will also include information on the procedures, if any, for the complainant and respondent to appeal the results of the disciplinary proceeding. Subsequent simultaneous written notice will be provided to the complainant and respondent if there is any change to the results that occurs prior to the time that such results become final, when such results become final, and the outcome of an appeal, if any.

Appeals

In student respondent cases, both parties have the right to appeal the resolution panel’s finding of responsibility and/or imposition of sanction(s) on limited grounds, within the applicable time frame and in writing, to the Vice Provost for Student Affairs or a designee, who will decide all appeals. In faculty and staff respondent cases, that involve a student complainant, the parties may appeal a determination or sanction. In faculty and staff respondent cases that do not involve a student, if divisional or unit procedures allow an appeal with respect to procedural errors, findings or sanctions, such right to appeal shall be available equally to the complainant and respondent.

Procedures for Title IX Sexual Harassment

Notice of Rights & Notice of Allegations

Upon receiving a report of sexual misconduct, the University will provide the complainant with a written explanation of their rights, options, and responsibilities and the resources available to assist the complainant, including notifying the complainant of the Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures. The Title IX Coordinator or designee will promptly contact the complainant to discuss the availability of interim supportive measures (regardless of whether a Formal Complaint is filed), the complainant’s wishes with respect to supportive measures, and the process for filing a Formal Complaint. Following receipt of a Formal Complaint, OIE simultaneously will provide written notice to each known party (Complainant(s) and Respondent(s)) that will include the following:

- Notice of the Procedures for Title IX Sexual Harassment, including the informal resolution process and a range of possible sanctions associated with the allegations;
- Notice of the allegations of Title IX Sexual Harassment, including: the identities of the parties involved in the incident, if known; the conduct alleged to constitute Title IX Sexual Harassment; the date, time, and location of the alleged incident(s), if known;
• A statement that the Respondent is presumed not responsible for the alleged conduct and that a determination regarding responsibility is made at the conclusion of any investigation and adjudication process;

• Information regarding the parties’ right to a supporter of choice (including an attorney or advocate) and a hearing advisor in the event of a live hearing; and

• A statement describing applicable prohibitions against knowingly making false statements or submitting false information during any investigation, adjudication, or informal resolution process.

The Title IX Coordinator or a designee reserves the right to amend or supplement the Notice of Allegations at any time and will notify the parties in writing of any changes. Along with the Notice of Allegations, the Title IX Coordinator or a designee also will provide the Complainant and Respondent, respectively, a written explanation of their rights, options, and responsibilities under these Procedures, including the availability of interim supportive measures and support resources, information regarding other civil and criminal options, and legal services organizations and referral services available to the party.

Standard of Evidence
The University will use the preponderance of the evidence standard to determine a respondent’s responsibility for alleged Sexual Misconduct Policy violations. A “preponderance of the evidence” means it is more likely than not that a policy violation occurred (or did not occur) based on the evidentiary record.

Discretionary and Mandatory Dismissal of a Formal Complaint
The Title IX Coordinator has discretion to dismiss a Formal Complaint of Title IX Sexual Harassment or any allegations within such a Formal Complaint where: (1) The Complainant notifies the Title IX Coordinator in writing that the Complainant would like to withdraw the Formal Complaint or any allegations within it; (2) The Respondent is no longer enrolled at the University or is no longer employed by the University; or (3) Specific circumstances prevent the University from gathering evidence sufficient to reach a determination as to the Formal Complaint or allegations therein.

If any of these circumstances is present, the Title IX Coordinator will make a fact-specific determination whether to dismiss the Formal Complaint, considering all relevant circumstances, including the safety and security of the University community. In the event of a discretionary dismissal, both parties will be notified simultaneously and will have the right to appeal the dismissal.

Even if a preliminary determination is made that alleged misconduct in a Formal Complaint triggers the Procedures for Title IX Sexual Harassment, as described in Section IX of the Sexual Misconduct Policy, throughout the investigation and adjudication process it may become apparent that some or all of the alleged misconduct does not meet the requirements of Title IX Sexual Harassment. In that case, the University must dismiss the Formal Complaint (or the allegations within the Formal Complaint that do not meet the Title IX Sexual Harassment requirements), but it retains the discretion to address the alleged misconduct as Other Sexual Misconduct under the Sexual Misconduct Policy or under other policies, including the Student Conduct Code.

Time Frames
The University seeks to resolve all sexual misconduct cases as promptly as reasonably possible. OIE is responsible for the investigation of a complaint, which typically takes approximately 30 - 90 days, and results in OIE providing an investigative report to the appropriate determination panel.

Following OIE’s investigation, the determination panel then determines the outcome via a live hearing with cross examination, including determining whether the Policy was violated and, if so, any appropriate sanctions. This post-OIE adjudication process typically takes 30 - 60 days, but can be impacted by the factors described below.

The length of the investigation, adjudication and/or appeal may be impacted by various factors including, but not limited to, the nature and scope of allegations; the number of witnesses; availability of witnesses, parties, party supporters and Hearing Advisors; voluminous documentary evidence; the need for language assistance or accommodation of disabilities; evidence gathering in a concurrent law enforcement investigation; and the academic calendar (e.g., exam periods, breaks).
The Title IX Coordinator (for investigations) and the decision-maker/panel or appeal officer (for adjudication and appeals) may extend the above time frames for good cause with written notice to the complainant and respondents. Good cause includes, but is not limited to, the factors listed in the above paragraph.

The University will provide the complainant and respondent with periodic updates on the status of the case, as well as timely written notice of scheduled meetings, hearings, and interviews in which they are required or permitted to attend.

Informal Resolution of a Formal Complaint
At any time prior to reaching a determination regarding a Formal Complaint of Title IX Sexual Harassment, the Title IX Coordinator or designee may facilitate an informal resolution process (such as mediation) that does not involve a full investigation and adjudication, if the following circumstances are met: (1) The parties each receive a written notice disclosing the allegations and the requirements of the informal resolution process; (2) The parties each provide voluntary, written consent to participating in the informal resolution process; and (3) The Formal Complaint does not allege that a University employee engaged in Title IX Sexual Harassment of a student. If the parties agree to engage in the informal resolution of the Formal Complaint. If either party decides to withdraw, the investigation and adjudication process for the Formal Complaint will resume.

If, through the informal resolution process, the parties agree to a resolution of the Formal Complaint, the party’s agreement will be confirmed in writing, the Formal Complaint will be closed, and the parties may no longer resume the investigation and adjudication process for the Formal Complaint that was informally resolved.

Investigation

Fact Gathering. When the Title IX Coordinator receives a complaint or report of sexual misconduct, the Title IX Coordinator determines whether to initiate an investigation. If an investigation is opened, the Title IX Coordinator will coordinate, oversee, or conduct the investigation. During the first phase of its investig-
Once the Title IX Coordinator or investigator determines that an investigation is complete, the Title IX Coordinator or investigator will transmit the investigative report and the evidence file to the appropriate determination panel.

Live Hearing
Unless a Formal Complaint is dismissed or resolved via the informal resolution process, the University will provide for a live hearing presided over by a trained determination panel. Live hearings may be conducted with all parties physically present in the same geographic location or, at the University’s discretion, any or all parties physically present in the same geographic location or, at the University’s discretion, any or all parties, witnesses and other participants may appear at the live hearing virtually, with technology enabling participants to simultaneously see and hear each other.

Cross Examination by Hearing Advisor. All parties must have a Hearing Advisor present at the live hearing, and no other supporter(s) may attend the hearing. If a party does not have a Hearing Advisor present at the live hearing, the University will provide a Hearing Advisor to the party without fee or charge to conduct cross-examination on behalf of the party during the live hearing. The determination panel will permit each party’s Hearing Advisor of choice to ask the other party and any witnesses all relevant questions and follow-up questions, including those challenging credibility. Parties are not permitted to directly question the other party(ies) or witnesses at the hearing. All questioning must be via the Hearing Advisor. The determination panel cannot draw an inference about the determination regarding responsibility based solely on a party’s or witness’s absence from the live hearing or refusal to answer cross-examination or other questions.

Determination Regarding Responsibility
The determination panel will issue a written determination regarding responsibility simultaneously to both parties which will include: (1) Identification of the allegations of Title IX Sexual Harassment; (2) A description of the procedural steps taken; (3) Findings of fact supporting the determinations; (4) Conclusions regarding the application of the Sexual Misconduct Policy to the facts; (5) A statement of, and rationale for, the result as to each allegation, including a determination regarding responsibility, any disciplinary sanctions imposed on the Respondent, and whether the University will provide to the complainant remedies designed to restore or preserve equal access to its education programs and/or activities; and (6) Information about procedures and permissible bases for the complainant and respondent to appeal.

Sanctions and Protective Measures
The determination panel will impose sanctions that are fair and appropriate, consistent with the University’s handling of similar cases, adequate to protect the safety of the campus community, and reflective of the seriousness of the misconduct at issue. The determination panel may impose any one or more of the following sanctions on a Respondent found responsible for sexual misconduct, or other such appropriate sanction as the circumstances may dictate:

- Reprimand/ warning;
- Changing the Respondent’s academic or employment schedule;
- Disciplinary probation;
- Revocation of honors or awards;
- Loss of privileges;
- Imposition of conditions of employment;
- Restricting access to University facilities or activities, including student activities and campus organizations;
Where the Respondent is a faculty member, the only available sanction for a policy violation(s) will be referred for further sanctioning pursuant to applicable policies and/or procedures. Should this sanction be imposed, both parties will be informed of subsequent processes and sanctions issued as appropriate and required by law. The University may implement additional measures that are designed to prevent the recurrence of sexual misconduct or respond to the effects of the sexual misconduct on the University community that include, but are not limited to: increased monitoring, supervision, or security at locations or activities where the sexual misconduct occurred; additional training and/or educational materials for students or groups; and campus climate surveys.

The University may also implement additional measures to remedy the effects of the sexual misconduct on the complainant. These measures may include but are not limited to: providing an escort for passage between classes and activities; ensuring the complainant and respondent do not share classes or extracurricular activities; moving the respondent or complainant (if the complainant requests to be moved to a different residence hall; providing victim focused services including medical, counseling and academic support services, such as tutoring; and arranging for the complainant to have extra time to complete or re-take a class or withdraw from a class without an academic or financial penalty.

Procedural Rights

All procedural rights will be afforded equally to complainants and respondents. The complainant and respondent will each have equal and timely access to and an opportunity to review any information that will be used during informal and formal disciplinary meetings and hearings, consistent with FERPA and to protect other confidential and privileged information. The complainant and respondent will have timely notice for meetings at which they may be present.

Supporters. If they choose, the complainant and the respondent each identify one or two supporter(s) to assist and advise them throughout the investigative and resolution process (including hearing, sanctioning, and appeals). If a party chooses to have two supporters, only one can be a personal supporter (i.e., someone who is not serving as legal counsel or advocate, for example, a friend, parent, or legal guardian and only one may be an attorney, an advocate supervised by an attorney, or a trained advocate. The supporter(s) may physically or virtually accompany the party to and attend any meeting, interview or hearing held pursuant to this Policy, except where noted below for Title IX Sexual Harassment hearings. During any such meeting or proceeding, a supporter (whether or not legal counsel) may privately consult the party (except during questioning of a party at a hearing) but may not speak on the party’s behalf or otherwise participate, or address or question the investigator, resolution panel, or other parties or witnesses. The supporter may make written submission on the party’s behalf. University personnel employed in the office responsible for the disciplinary proceedings described in these Procedures, along with those in the chain of command above them, personnel employed by the Office of the General Counsel, and others whose participation could create a conflict of interest and/or reasonably call into question the impartiality of the University’s process are not eligible to serve as supporters. If there is a question or concern about a possible supporter, please consult with the Title IX Coordinator.

Hearing Advisors. In the Title IX Sexual Harassment investigations, both the complainant and respondent are entitled to and required to have a Hearing Advisor in the event of a live hearing. During a live hearing, only one Hearing Advisor for each party may be present—no supporter(s) may attend the hearing, whether virtual or in-person. If a party does not identify their own Hearing Advisor, the University will provide a Hearing Advisor to the party without fee or charge in the event of a live hearing. The Hearing Advisor may be, but is not required to be, an attorney. The Hearing Advisor also may be, but is not required to be, an individual whom a party has selected as a personal or legal supporter.

Attorneys for Student Sexual Assault Matters. Maryland law (Education Article section 11-601) provides that a party (whether the complainant or respondent) who would like to be assisted by legal counsel during an investigation under this Policy is permitted to access counsel paid for by the Maryland Higher Education Commission (“MHEC”) if: (1) the party is current or former student; (2) the party makes or responds to a complaint alleging an incident of sexual assault; (3) the party was enrolled as a student at the University at the time of the alleged incident of sexual assault; and (4) the Title IX Coordinator decides to conduct an investigation into the complaint. Under those engage circumstances, and assuming funding is available, MHEC is required to pay the reasonable costs and attorney’s fees for students who access legal counsel. A student who is authorized to access legal counsel paid for by MHEC may select their counsel from a list of attorneys and legal services programs developed by MHEC. The following MHEC webpage provides more information, including a list of participating attorney: https://mhec.maryland.gov/Pages/Title-IX-Campus-Sexual-Assault-Proceedings---Attorney-List.aspx. Alternatively, if a student selects and retains an attorney who is not on MHEC’s list, MHEC will pay fees to the attorney selected by the student that are equivalent to those paid to attorneys under civil legal services programs administered by the Maryland Legal Services Corporation. A student may select and retain legal counsel at any time prior to the conclusion of the investigative and resolution process. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the complainant and/or the respondent may knowingly and voluntarily choose not to have legal counsel. JHU is not responsible for the provision of attorneys or funding for attorney’s fees will be available from MHEC.

Training for Officials Conducting Investigations and Hearings
The Title IX Coordinator, investigator(s), members of the determination panel, Appeal Officials, and any person who facilitates an informal resolution process will, at a minimum, receive all required and applicable training on issues including, but not limited to, definitions of and related to sexual misconduct, how to conduct an investigation and grievance process, determinations of relevance, how to facilitate informal resolutions, and how to identify conflicts of interest and bias.

Conflict of Interest
All persons participating in the investigation or resolution (including informal resolution, hearing, sanctioning and appeals) of sexual misconduct cases may not have a conflict of interest or bias for or against complainants or respondents generally or for or against an individual complainant or respond-
This includes the Title IX Coordinator, investigator(s), members of the determination panel, Appeal Official, and any person who facilitates an informal resolution process. All such individuals should disclose any potential or actual conflict of interest to the Title IX Coordinator. The Title IX Coordinator is responsible for sharing relevant information with the complainant and respondent. If either party believes that any person involved in the process has a conflict of interest, they may make a request to the Title IX Coordinator that the individual not participate. Any such request should include a description of the alleged conflict. If the Title IX Coordinator determines that a disabling conflict of interest exists, the Title IX Coordinator will take steps to address the conflict in order to ensure an impartial process.

Appeals

Both parties have the right to appeal the determination panel’s determination regarding responsibility and the dismissal of a Formal Complaint or any allegations therein on limited bases. The appeal process does not involve another hearing or any meetings with the Complaint, Respondent, supporters or Hearing Advisors. If the Appeal Officer concludes that a change in the determination of responsibility or sanctioning determination is warranted, they may (1) enter a revised written determination; (2) remand the matter to the determination panel to reconsider a determination or sanction; or (3) remand the matter for further investigation by the investigator(s). The Appeal Officer will simultaneously send the written appeal determination, including a description of the result of the appeal and the rationale for the result, to the Complainant and Respondent, with a copy to the Title IX Coordinator. No further appeals are permitted.

Definitions of Sexual Misconduct/Consent in State of Maryland and District of Columbia

Note, definitions of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence and stalking under the Clery Act, as amended by the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA), are available on pages 112-113 of this Report.

STATE OF MARYLAND

Consent

Maryland does not have a separate criminal statute for “consent.” The definition of “consent” under the Sexual Misconduct Policy may be viewed at http://sexualmisconduct.jhu.edu/policies-laws/.

Sexual Assault

Sexual assault means rape or a sexual offense in any degree that is specified in §3-303 through 3-312, § 3-314, or §3-315 of the Maryland Code, Criminal Law Article.

In summary, rape and sexual offenses in the first, second, and third degrees are as follows (other degrees are not summarized here; please visit the Maryland Code, Criminal Article, § 3-303 through 3-312, § 3-314, or §3-315 to review these [http://www.mgaleg.maryland.gov/webmga/frmStatutes.aspx?pid=statpag&tabssubject5]):

Rape and Sexual Offense and Attempted Rape and Sexual Offense in the First Degree

A person may not engage in or attempt vaginal intercourse or a sexual act with another by force, or the threat of force, without the consent of the other; and

- employ or display a dangerous weapon, or a physical object that the victim reasonably believes is a dangerous weapon
- suffocate, strangle, disfigure, or inflict serious physical injury on the victim or another in the course of committing the crime;

- by force, or the threat of force, without the consent of the other;
- if the victim is a mentally defective individual, a mentally incapacitated individual, or a physically helpless individual, and the person performing the act knows or reasonably should know that the victim is a mentally defective individual, a mentally incapacitated individual, or a physically helpless individual; or
- if the victim is under the age of 14 years, and the person performing the act is at least 4 years older than the victim, or if a person is 18 years of age or older and the victim is a child under the age of 13 years.

Sexual Offense in the Third Degree

A person may not:

- engage in sexual contact with another without the consent of the other; and, do one of the following:
  - employ or display a dangerous weapon, or a physical object that the victim reasonably believes is a dangerous weapon;
  - suffocate, strangle, disfigure, or inflict serious physical injury on the victim or another in the course of committing the crime;
  - threaten, or place the victim in fear, that the victim, or an individual known to the victim, imminently will be subject to death, suffocation, strangulation, disfigurement, serious physical injury, or kidnapping; or
  - commit the crime while aided and abetted by another;
- engage in sexual contact with another if the victim is a mentally defective individual, a mentally incapacitated individual, or a physically helpless individual, and the person performing the act knows or reasonably should know the victim is a mentally defective individual, a mentally incapacitated individual, or a physically helpless individual;
- engage in sexual contact with another if the victim is under the age of 14 years, and the person performing the sexual contact is at least 4 years older than the victim;
- engage in a sexual act with another if the victim is 14 or 15 years old, and the person performing the sexual act is at least 21 years old; or
- engage in vaginal intercourse with another if the victim is 14 or 15 years old, and the person performing the act is at least 21 years old.

Definitions

Sexual Act

A “sexual act” means any of the following acts, regardless of whether semen is emitted:

- analingus;
- cunnilingus;
- fellatio;
- anal intercourse, including penetration, however slight, of the anus; or
- an act: in which an object or part of an individual’s body penetrates, however slightly, into another individual’s genital opening or anus; and that can reasonably be construed to be for sexual arousal or gratification, or the abuse of either party.

A “sexual act” does not include:

- vaginal intercourse; or
- an act in which an object or part of an individual’s body penetrates an individual’s genital opening or anus for an accepted medical purpose.

Sexual Contact
A “sexual contact” means an intentional touching of the victim’s or actor’s genital, anal, or other intimate area for sexual arousal or gratification, or the abuse of either party.

A “sexual contact” does not include:
- a common expression of familial or friendly affection; or
- an act for an accepted medical purpose.

Dating Violence
Maryland does not define “dating violence” separately, but includes it in the offense of domestic violence.

Domestic Violence
The term “domestic violence” includes but is not limited to abuse occurring between: current or former spouses or cohabitants; persons who have a child in common; persons related to the respondent by blood, marriage, or adoption; or persons currently or formerly involved in a dating relationship; where “abuse” means any of the following acts: an act that causes serious bodily harm; an act that places a person eligible for relief in fear of imminent serious bodily harm; assault in any degree; rape or sexual offense or attempted rape or sexual offense in any degree; false imprisonment; or stalking.

Stalking
The term “stalking” means a malicious course of conduct that includes approaching or pursuing another where the person intends to place or knows or reasonably should have known the conduct would place another in reasonable fear: of serious bodily injury; of an assault in any degree; of rape or sexual offense or attempted rape or sexual offense in any degree; of false imprisonment; of death; or that a third person likely will suffer any of these acts.

District of Columbia

Consent
The term “consent” means words or overt actions indicating a freely given agreement to the sexual act or contact in question. Lack of verbal or physical resistance or submission by the victim, resulting from the use of force, threats, or coercion by the accused shall not constitute consent.

Sexual Assault
The District of Columbia Criminal Statutes, Offenses and Penalties Title (D.C. Code § 22-3001 et. al.) does not use the term “sexual assault,” but defines crimes of “sexual abuse” in several degrees.

In summary, sexual abuse in the first and second degrees are as follows (other degrees are not summarized here; please visit the District of Columbia Criminal Statutes, Title 22 (Offenses and Penalties), Subtitle I (Criminal Offenses), Chapter 30 (Sexual Abuse), Subchapter II (Sex Offenses), specifically D.C. Code § 22-3001 et. al., to review these definitions (http://www.lexisnexis.com/hottopics/dccode/):

1. First Degree Sexual Abuse
   A person may not engage in or cause another person to engage in or submit to a sexual act in the following manner:
   - By using force against that other person;
   - By threatening or placing that other person in reasonable fear that any person will be subjected to death, bodily injury or kidnapping;
   - After rendering that other person unconscious; or
   - After administering to that other person by force or threat of force, or without the knowledge or permission of that other person, a drug, intoxicant or other similar substance that substantially impairs... the ability of that other person to appraise or control his or her conduct.

Second Degree Sexual Abuse

A person may not engage in or cause another person to engage in or submit to a sexual act in the following manner:

- By threatening or placing that other person in reasonable fear (other than by threatening or placing that other person in reasonable fear that any person will be subjected to death, bodily injury, or kidnapping); or
- Where the person knows or has reason to know that the other person is:
  - Incapable of appraising the nature of the conduct;
  - Incapable of declining participation in that sexual act; or
  - Incapable of communicating unwillingness to engage in that sexual act.

A “sexual act” means:

- The penetration, however slight, of the anus or vulva of another by a penis;
- Contact between the mouth and the penis, the mouth and the vulva, or the mouth and the anus; or
- The penetration, however slight, of the anus or vulva by a hand or finger or by any object, with an intent to abuse, humiliate, harass, degrade, or arouse or gratify the sexual desire of any person.
- The emission of semen is not required for the purposes of above.

Dating Violence

The District of Columbia does not define “dating violence” separately, but includes it in the offense of domestic violence.

Domestic Violence

The term “domestic violence” can be defined as a pattern of abusive behavior in any relationship that is used by one partner to gain or maintain power and control over another intimate partner, dating partner, or family member. The term includes physical, sexual, emotional, economic, or psychological actions or threats of actions that influence another person. This consists of any behaviors that intimidate, manipulate, humiliate, isolate, frighten, terrorize, coerce, threaten, blame, hurt, injure or wound someone.

The term “domestic violence” is also defined as intrafamily, intimate partner violence or interpersonal violence.

The term “intrafamily violence” means an act punishable as a criminal offense that is committed or threatened to be committed by an offender upon a person to whom the offender is related by blood, adoption, legal custody, marriage, or domestic partnership, or with whom the offender has a child in common.

The term “intimate partner violence” means an act punishable as a criminal offense that is committed or threatened to be committed by an offender upon a person: to whom the offender is or was married; with whom the offender is or was in a domestic partnership; or with whom the offender is or was in a romantic, dating, or sexual relationship.

The term “interpersonal violence” means an act punishable as a criminal offense that is committed or threatened to be committed by an offender upon a person: with whom the offender shares or has shared a mutual residence; or who is or was married to, in a domestic partnership with, divorced or separated from, or in a romantic, dating, or sexual relationship with another person who is or was married to, in a domestic partnership with, divorced or separated from, or in a romantic, dating, or sexual relationship with the offender.

Stalking

The term “stalking” is a purposeful engagement in a course of conduct directed at a specific individual with the intent to cause that individual (or where the person knows that it would reasonably cause the individual or should have known would cause a reasonable person in the individual's circumstances) to: fear for his or her safety or the safety of another person; feel seriously alarmed, disturbed, or frightened; or suffer emotional distress.

Incest
The term “incest” is defined as sexual intercourse between persons who are related to each other within the degrees wherein marriage is prohibited by law.

Statutory Rape
The term “statutory rape” is defined as sexual intercourse with a person who is under the statutory age of consent.

The University’s former Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures, which applies to reports of sexual misconduct alleged to have occurred prior to August 14, 2020 provides the following definitions:

Sexual Misconduct: The term “sexual misconduct” includes sexual harassment, sexual assault, relationship violence, and stalking.

Sexual Harassment: The term “sexual harassment,” whether between people of different sexes or the same sex, includes, but is not limited to, unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, sexual assault and other verbal, non-verbal, electronic or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:
- submission to such conduct is implicitly or explicitly a term or condition of an individual’s employment or participation in an educational program;
- submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for personnel decisions or for academic evaluation or advancement; or
- such conduct creates a hostile environment.

Examples of conduct that may, depending on the facts and circumstances, constitute sexual harassment include, but are not limited to: making comments about someone’s appearance in a sexually suggestive way; staring at someone or making obscene gestures or noises; repeatedly asking someone on a date; stalking (including cyber stalking); “flashing” or exposing body parts; spreading sexual rumors; rating peers or colleagues with respect to sexual performance; non-consensual observation, photographing, or recording of sexual activity or nudity; non-consensual distribution or dissemination of photographs or recordings of sexual activity or nudity, including distribution or dissemination of photographs or recordings that were made consensually; allowing a third party to observe sexual activity without the consent of all parties; and prostituting or trafficking another person. In evaluating allegations of sexual harassment, the University considers all relevant evidence, weighs a variety of factors, and

FEDERAL DEFINITIONS

Sexual Assault
The term “sexual assault” is an offense that meets the definition of rape, fondling, incest, or statutory rape as used in the FBI’s Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) program. Per the National Incident-Based Reporting System User Manual from the FBI UCR Program, a sex offense is “any sexual act directed against another person, without the consent of the victim, including instances where the victim if incapable of giving consent.”

Rape
The term “rape” is defined as the penetration, no matter how slight, of the vagina or anus with any body part or object, or oral penetration by a sex organ of another person, without the consent of the victim.

Fondling
The term “fondling” is defined as the touching of the private parts of another person for the purposes of sexual gratification, without the consent of the victim, including instances where the victim is incapable of giving consent because of his/her age or because of his/ her temporary or permanent mental incapacity.

Incest
The term “incest” is defined as sexual intercourse between persons who are related to each other within

Statutory Rape
The term “statutory rape” is defined as sexual intercourse with a person who is under the statutory age of consent.

The University’s former Sexual Misconduct Policy and Procedures, which applies to reports of sexual misconduct alleged to have occurred prior to August 14, 2020 provides the following definitions:

Sexual Misconduct: The term “sexual misconduct” includes sexual harassment, sexual assault, relationship violence, and stalking.

Sexual Harassment: The term “sexual harassment,” whether between people of different sexes or the same sex, includes, but is not limited to, unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, sexual assault and other verbal, non-verbal, electronic or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:
- submission to such conduct is implicitly or explicitly a term or condition of an individual’s employment or participation in an educational program;
- submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for personnel decisions or for academic evaluation or advancement; or
- such conduct creates a hostile environment.

Examples of conduct that may, depending on the facts and circumstances, constitute sexual harassment include, but are not limited to: making comments about someone’s appearance in a sexually suggestive way; staring at someone or making obscene gestures or noises; repeatedly asking someone on a date; stalking (including cyber stalking); “flashing” or exposing body parts; spreading sexual rumors; rating peers or colleagues with respect to sexual performance; non-consensual observation, photographing, or recording of sexual activity or nudity; non-consensual distribution or dissemination of photographs or recordings of sexual activity or nudity, including distribution or dissemination of photographs or recordings that were made consensually; allowing a third party to observe sexual activity without the consent of all parties; and prostituting or trafficking another person. In evaluating allegations of sexual harassment, the University considers all relevant evidence, weighs a variety of factors, and evaluates the conduct at issue from both a subjective and objective perspective.

Sexual Assault: The term “sexual assault” includes, but is not limited to:

- Nonconsensual Sexual Intercourse or Rape, which is any act of sexual intercourse with another individual against a person’s will or without consent, where sexual intercourse includes vaginal or anal penetration, however slight, with any body part or object, or oral penetration involving mouth to genital contact.

- Nonconsensual Sexual Contact, includes: fondling, which is any intentional touching of the intimate parts of another person or causing another to touch one’s intimate parts against a person’s will or without consent, where intimate parts may include genitalia, groin, breast, or buttocks, or clothing covering them, or any other body part that is touched in a sexual manner; disrobing or exposure of another against a person’s will or without consent; other sexual acts or sexual contact against a person’s will or without consent; sexual battery; sexual coercion; and attempted non-consensual sexual intercourse.

- Incest, which is sexual intercourse between persons who are related to each other within the degrees wherein marriage is prohibited by law.

- Statutory Rape, which is sexual intercourse with a person who is under the statutory age of consent.

Resistance of any form need not occur to fulfill the definition of sexual assault.

Consent: Sexual activity of any kind requires “consent,” which consists of the following:

- Consent means clear and voluntary agreement between participants to engage in the specific act.

- Consent requires a clear “yes,” verbal or otherwise; it cannot be inferred from the absence of a “no.”

- Consent cannot be obtained from someone who is unconscious, asleep, physically helpless, or incapacitated (including, but not limited to, mentally incapacitated). A person is incapacitated when she or he is unable to make a rational decision because the person lacks the ability to understand his or her decision. A person who is incapacitated is unable to consent to sexual activity. A person can become incapacitated as a result of physical or mental disability, involuntary physical constraint, being asleep or unconscious, or consumption of alcohol or other drugs. A person can consume alcohol and/or drugs without becoming incapacitated. A person who engages in sexual activity with someone that person knows or reasonably should know is incapacitated does not have consent and will be found responsible for a Policy violation.

- Consent cannot be obtained by pressure, threats, coercion or force of any kind, whether mental or physical. Consent means actually agreeing to the specific sexual activity, rather than merely submitting as a result of pressure, threats, coercion or force of any kind, whether mental or physical.

- Consent cannot be obtained from an individual who is under the legal age of consent.

- Consent must be ongoing throughout a sexual encounter and can be revoked at any time.
- Consent to some sexual acts does not necessarily imply consent to others.
- Past consent does not necessarily imply ongoing or future consent.
- Consent to engage in sexual activity with one person does not imply consent to engage in sexual activity with another.

The definition of consent will be used when analyzing whether any alleged sexual intercourse or sexual contact was consensual or nonconsensual and for educational purposes.

Relationship Violence: The term “relationship violence” means dating violence and domestic violence.

Dating Violence: The term “dating violence” means violence committed by a person who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the victim. The existence of such a relationship shall be determined based on the reporting party’s statement and with consideration of: the length of the relationship; the type of relationship; and the frequency of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship. Dating violence includes, but is not limited to, sexual or physical abuse or the threat of such abuse, but excludes acts covered under domestic violence. Dating violence is covered by the Policy whether or not it involves sexual conduct.

Domestic Violence: The term “domestic violence” means violence committed by a current or former spouse or intimate partner of the victim, by a person with whom the victim shares a child in common, by a person who is cohabitating with or has cohabitated with the victim as a spouse or intimate partner, by a person similarly situated to a spouse of the victim under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction in which the crime of violence occurred, or by any other person against an adult or youth victim who is protected from the person’s acts under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction in which the crime of violence occurred. Domestic violence includes, but is not limited to, sexual or physical abuse or the threat of such abuse. Domestic violence is covered by the Policy whether or not it involves sexual conduct.

Stalking: The term “stalking” means engaging in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to fear for the person’s safety or the safety of others, or suffer substantial emotional distress. For purposes of this definition, course of conduct means two or more acts, including, but not limited to, acts in which a person directly, indirectly, or through third parties, by any action, method, device, or means, follows, monitors, observes, surveils, threatens, or communicates with another person, or interferes with that person’s property. Stalking is covered by the Policy whether or not it involves sexual conduct.
Sexual Misconduct: The term "sexual misconduct" refers to both "Title IX Sexual Harassment" and "Other Sexual Misconduct".

Title IX Sexual Harassment: The term "Title IX Sexual Harassment" means conduct on the basis of sex that satisfies one or more of the following:

- An employee conditioning educational benefits on participation in unwelcome sexual conduct (quid pro quo)
- Unwelcome conduct that a reasonable person would determine is so severe, pervasive, and objectively offensive that it effectively denies equal access to the educational institution’s education program or activity; and/or
- Sexual Assault, Dating Violence, Domestic Violence, or Title IX Stalking.

Other Sexual Misconduct: The term "Other Sexual Misconduct" includes all sexual misconduct that is not considered "Title IX Sexual Harassment." This includes non-Title IX sexual harassment, non-Title IX gender-based harassment, and non-Title IX stalking. It also includes sexual assault, stalking, dating violence, and domestic violence that does meet all of the jurisdictional requirements to be considered under the Procedures for Title IX Sexual Harassment," for example if the conduct occurred outside of the United States.

Non-Title IX Sexual Harassment: The term "non-Title IX sexual harassment" whether between people of different sexes or the same sex, includes, but is not limited to, conduct that does not meet the definition of Title IX Sexual Harassment but otherwise constitutes unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal, non-verbal, electronic or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:

- The respondent is a non-employee and submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for academic decisions, evaluation or advancement; or
- Such conduct creates a non-Title IX hostile environment ("non-Title IX hostile environment").

Examples of such conduct that may, depending on the facts and circumstances, constitute non-Title IX sexual harassment include, but are not limited to: making comments about someone’s appearance in a sexually suggestive way; staring at someone or making obscene gestures or noises; repeatedly asking someone on a date; “flashing” or exposing body parts; sexual coercion; intentional sexual in nature touching that does not meet the definition of Title IX Sexual Harassment; disrobing, spreading sexual rumors; rating peers or colleagues with respect to sexual performance; non-consensual observation, photographing, or recording of sexual activity or nudity; non-consensual distribution or dissemination of photographs or recordings of sexual activity or nudity, including distribution or dissemination of photographs or recordings that were made consensually; allowing a third party to observe a sexual activity without the consent of all parties; and prostituting or trafficking another person. In evaluating allegations of sexual harassment, the University considers all relevant evidence, weighs a variety of factors, and evaluates the conduct at issue from both a subjective and objective perspective. These conduct examples may constitute Title IX Sexual Harassment if they are accompanied by additional facts and circumstances that bring them within the definition of the Title IX (e.g., the conduct occurred within the University's education program or activity and other criteria described in Section IX are satisfied.)

Sexual Assault: The term "sexual assault" includes the following actual or attempted acts:

- Rape (except Statutory Rape): The carnal knowledge of a person, without the consent of the victim, including instances where the victim is incapable of giving consent because of their age or because of their temporary or permanent mental or physical incapacity.
• Statutory Rape: Non-forcible sexual intercourse with a person who is under the statutory age of consent.

• Sodomy: Oral or anal sexual intercourse with another person, without the consent of the victim, including instances where the victim is incapable of giving consent because of their age or because of their temporary or permanent mental or physical incapacity.

• Sexual Assault with An Object: To use an object or instrument to unlawfully penetrate, however slightly, the genital or anal opening of the body of another person, without the consent of the victim, including instances where the victim is incapable of giving consent because of their age or because of their temporary or permanent mental or physical incapacity. This includes digital penetration.

• Fondling: The touching of the private body parts of another person for the purpose of sexual gratification, without the consent of the victim, including instances where the victim is incapable of giving consent because of their age or because of their temporary or permanent mental or physical incapacity.

• Incest: Non-forcible sexual intercourse between persons who are related to each other within the degrees wherein marriage is prohibited by law.

Consent: Sexual activity of any kind requires "consent," which consists of the following:

• Consent means clear and voluntary agreement between participants to engage in the specific act.

• Consent requires a clear "yes" verbal or otherwise; it cannot be inferred from the absence of a "no."

• Consent cannot be obtained from someone who is unconscious, asleep, physically helpless, or incapacitated (including, but no limited to, mentally incapacitated). A person is incapacitated when they are unable to make a rational decision because the person lacks the ability to understand their decision. A person who is incapacitated is unable to consent to the sexual activity. A person can become incapacitated as a result of physical or mental disability, involuntary physical constraint, being asleep or unconscious, or consumption of alcohol or other drugs. A person can consume alcohol and/or drugs without becoming incapacitated. A person who engages in sexual activity with someone that person knows or reasonably should know is incapacitated does not have consent and will be found responsible for a Policy violation.

• Consent cannot be obtained by pressure, threats, coercion or force of any kind, whether mental or physical. Consent means actually agreeing to the specific sexual activity, rather than merely submitting as a result of pressure, threats, coercion or force of any kind, whether mental or physical.

• Consent cannot be obtained from an individual who is under the legal age of consent.

• Consent must be ongoing throughout a sexual encounter and can be revoked at any time.

• Consent to some sexual acts does not necessarily imply consent to others.

• Past consent does not mean ongoing or future consent.

• Consent to engage in sexual activity with one person does not imply consent to engage in sexual activity with another.
Relationship Violence: The term “relationship violence” means dating violence and domestic violence.

Dating Violence: The term “dating violence” means violence committed by a person who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the victim. The existence of such a relationship shall be determined based on the reporting party’s statement and with consideration of: the length of the relationship; the type of relationship; and the frequency of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship. Dating violence includes, but is not limited to, sexual or physical abuse or the threat of such abuse, but excludes acts covered under domestic violence. Dating violence is covered by the Policy whether or not it involves sexual conduct.

Domestic Violence: The term “domestic violence” means felony or misdemeanor crimes of violence committed by a current or former spouse or intimate partner of the victim, by a person with whom the victim shares a child in common, by a person who is cohabitating with or has cohabited with the victim as a spouse or intimate partner, by a person similarly situated to a spouse of the victim under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction receiving grant monies. Domestic violence includes, but is not limited to, sexual or physical abuse or the threat of such abuse. Domestic violence is covered by the Policy whether or not it involves sexual conduct.

Non-Title IX Sex-Based Harassment: The term “non-Title IX sex-based harassment,” whether between people of different sexes, or the same sex, includes, but is not limited to, conduct that does not meet the definition of Title IX Sexual Harassment but otherwise constitutes unwelcome conduct based on sex (including, gender, sexual orientation, and gender identity/expression) that creates a non-Title IX hostile environment. Non-Title IX Gender-Based Harassment does not include unwelcome conduct of a sexual nature, which is considered non-Title IX Sexual Harassment.

Sex-Based Stalking: The term “sex-based stalking” means, on the basis of sex, engaging, in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to fear for the person’s safety or the safety of others, or suffer substantial emotional distress. Acts which solely create an annoyance or inconvenience are generally insufficient to meet this standard. For purposes of this definition, course of conduct means two or more acts, including, but not limited to, acts in which a person directly, indirectly, or through third parties, by any action, method, device, or means, follows, monitors, observes, surveils, threatens, or communicates with another person, or interferes with that person’s property. Sex-Based Stalking was formerly referred to in this policy as “Title IX Stalking.”

Non-Sex-Based Stalking: The term “non-sex-based stalking” means conduct that is not sex-based but still constitutes engaging in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to fear for the person’s safety or the safety of others, or suffer substantial emotional distress. Acts which solely an annoyance or inconvenience are generally insufficient to meet this standard. For purposes of this definition, course of conduct means two or more acts, including, but not limited to, acts in which a person directly, indirectly, or through third parties, by any action, method, device, or means, follows, monitors, observes, surveils, threatens, or communicates with another person, or interferes with that person’s property. Non-Sex-Based Stalking was formerly referred to in this policy as “Non-Title IX Stalking.”
Homewood Campus

Background
The 140-acre Homewood Campus, located in North Baltimore City, is the primary location for the Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences (“KSAS”), the G.W.C. Whiting School of Engineering (“WSE”), the Carey Business School and the School of Education (“SOE”). Combined full-time enrollment through KSAS and WSE for the 2021-2022 fall semester was over 5,000 undergraduates and over 8,000 graduate students. Over 2,700 students reside in University housing, dormitories, and apartment buildings. Supporting the Homewood Campus student population are approximately 2,600 faculty and staff.

Reporting Crimes and Other Emergencies
Crime and safety concerns may be reported to Johns Hopkins Public Safety by calling the on-campus emergency numbers 410-516-7777 or 911, or activating any of the 115 campus emergency phones for an immediate Johns Hopkins Public Safety officer response. To report non-emergency safety concerns, an email can be sent to security@jhu.edu or call 410-516-4600. Uniformed officers maintain highly visible patrols 24 hours a day and are accessible to anyone wishing to report any incident. The prompt reporting of crime is encouraged through various publications and program reminders.

Campus Law Enforcement
Johns Hopkins Public Safety is the recognized law enforcement agency of the Homewood Campus. It maintains the web site https://publicsafety.jhu.edu/ for the daily publication of crimes known to have occurred on campus, in residential halls and in University-owned buildings, on public property contiguous to the campus, as well as in designated patrol zones. This web site, accessible through the University home page (www.jhu.edu), also provides crime prevention information and personal safety tips. A daily crime log is available for review during normal business hours at the front desk of Johns Hopkins Public Safety headquarters. Johns Hopkins Public Safety embraces a community-based philosophy, striving to prevent crime, provide assistance to victims and investigate reported incidents in cooperation with other campus authorities and city, State, and Federal law enforcement agencies. Johns Hopkins Public Safety has the authority to enforce campus policies and violations of the law that occur on JHU owned or controlled property. A close working relationship is maintained with the Baltimore Police Department (“BPD”), and when appropriate Maryland State Police, and in any serious or major criminal incident on the Homewood Campus, the BPD would be the investigative agency as they have primary jurisdiction. Public Safety would serve in a support role in assisting in the investigation. Public Safety does not have a written memorandum of understanding pertaining to the investigation of criminal incidents with BPD or any other law enforcement agency.

Under the direction of an Executive Director, and Senior Director, Johns Hopkins Public Safety employs 44 special police officers or Campus Police Officers ("CPOs"). All are commissioned by the State of Maryland with full arrest powers and jurisdiction on University property throughout Maryland. A large number of these uniformed, highly trained professionals have graduated from accredited law enforcement academies. They do not carry firearms. All newly hired CPOs receive formal entry level training, which includes laws of arrest, evidence collection, community policing, crime prevention, cultural diversity, hate crimes, sexual harassment, and first aid/AED. Annual refresher training provided to all staff enables them to keep pace with the varied security service demands. A senior department coordinator, administrative coordinator and a hi-tech Homewood Communication Center support Campus Safety and Security operations. The Homewood Communication Center is operational 24 hours a day under the supervision of a Security Systems Manager and a staff that includes a technical systems analyst, LAN administrator and 12 security systems specialists.
For incidents on the Homewood Campus, the Investigative Services of Homewood Public Safety will make every effort to identify the person(s) responsible for criminal or other incidents and to recover property and/or evidence. Investigators provide support for student, faculty and staff victims throughout the reporting process and subsequent criminal proceedings. They encourage students to avail themselves of University physical and mental health services when appropriate. Investigators enjoy a close working relationship with the BPD and other law enforcement agencies and work in concert with them to solve crimes impacting students, faculty and staff, regardless of the agency to whom the crime may have been reported. Investigators work closely with University administrators and Student Affairs staff to handle student-related issues administratively when possible.

Contract security is also assigned to various on and off-campus locations. These officers have no arrest authority, but do maintain the authority to enforce JHU policies on campus. They provide a visible uniformed presence targeted at preventative patrol and provide extra eyes and ears for campus police officers and BPD. The contract officers attend a pre-deployment entrance-level training program as prescribed by the University and security service company. They also attend an annual in-service training through their agency.

Off duty armed uniformed BPD officers and off duty armed uniformed Baltimore Deputy Sheriffs are employed during specific times and assigned to areas adjacent to campus along Charles Street, St. Paul Street, University Parkway and the Charles Village. Off-duty BPD officers and Deputy Sheriffs maintain arrest authority with jurisdiction on all JHU property when employed by the University.

During the school year, students are employed as campus security monitors, bringing the total number of campus police officers, security guards, and support staff to over 200. All members of Public Safety, regardless of job title or position, are held to the same high standard of professional conduct.

Johns Hopkins Public Safety provides full security services to the Homewood Campus community around the clock. It functions in concert with several other service-oriented offices to ensure a safe and secure environment in which students, faculty and staff may enjoy rewarding academic and social experiences. To this end, Public Safety maintains an open-door policy and works in partnership with students, faculty, staff and the community. A close working relationship exists between Public Safety, the Dean of Student Life, the directors of Residential Life, Housing, Counseling and Student Development, and Multicultural Student Affairs. In keeping with its community-based philosophy, Public Safety strives to keep officers on regular posts and foster positive rapport with all members of the campus community.

Public Safety maintains Visible Uniformed Patrols, including:

• 24-hour foot, motorized, and club cars coverage on and adjacent to campus.
• 24-hour uniformed presence at the entrance/turnstiles and perimeter of the on-campus Alumni Memorial Residence Halls (“AMRs”).
• 24-hour uniformed presence at the front desks/turnstiles of the Wolman, McCoy and Charles Commons residence halls and the entrances to the desks at the Homewood and Bradford Apartments (off-campus University-owned residence halls). Positive identification of all guests and visitors is required before allowing entry. Of note, the Bradford Apartment building is equipped with an intercom system that requires guests to speak with a tenant before being allowed to enter the building. This system is also paired with a video camera, allowing residents to use their computers and positively identify their guests at the door before allowing the guest entrance into the building.

- 24-hour foot patrols adjacent to campus in the Charles Village community, a popular student gathering and shopping area.
- Officers join with staff at the Athletic Center to provide security at the Center during its open hours.
- Dedicated off campus community patrols in marked Public Safety patrol vehicles, fulfilling a University commitment to the surrounding neighborhoods where many students, faculty and staff from Homewood Campus, The Peabody Institute and the Medical Institutions reside.

Community Asset Walks

In previous years, each first-year floor was organized into a walk with Johns Hopkins Public Safety and there was a specific path that they followed, highlighting blue lights, personal safety tips, and other issues to be aware of, as students transition to an urban campus. This year, the walks are being re-tooled into Community Asset Walks, pairing a student leader with a Public Safety officer to provide additional information when helpful and offer a personal introduction to the officer. The goal is to provide a holistic introduction to the JHU campus and surrounding community, including how to get involved, while providing answers to any safety and security questions that may arise from students. Each walk departs at 5 PM from outside the targeted residence hall. There are two walks, at the same time, with two leaders each. Split the total group of students as equally as possible. One group goes clockwise, one goes counterclockwise. Each walk will have a Safety and Security officer accompanying the students, walking in the back. These walks happen during the month of September, every weekday, Monday through Thursday.

Security and Access of Campus Facilities

At the Homewood Campus, academic and research halls are open during normal business hours, 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM, Monday through Friday, and at other times to accommodate scheduled classes and activities. Faculty, staff, and students may also be granted after-hours access to buildings by Johns Hopkins Public Safety officers for study, research or other legitimate purposes.

Non-commuting freshmen and sophomores are required to live in University housing. Student residence halls are secured at all times and may be entered only by key and/or electronic access card or when escorted by a hall resident. Residence halls are equipped with fire and access door alarm systems. On-campus residence halls have contract security guards at the turnstiles on duty 24 hours a day. Johns Hopkins Public Safety patrol the perimeter and common areas of these buildings. Three undergraduate residence halls (Wolman, McCoy, and Charles Commons) across the street from campus have security guards stationed at the desk/turnstiles with a campus police officer patrolling the perimeter and common areas of these facilities as well as adjacent University-owned property 24 hours a day. University-owned apartment buildings (Homewood and Brad-
Security Systems (Smart CCTV, Emergency Phones)
The Homewood Communication Center, is staffed 24 hours a day with Security Systems Specialists who are responsible for taking calls and dispatching requests for security-related services, monitoring of the 705 CCTV cameras mounted in and around the Homewood Campus, monitoring intrusion and fire alarms on University properties, and maintaining constant communications with the Baltimore Police Department and Baltimore City Fire Department.

The University continues installing “Smart CCTV” systems using behavioral recognition software to identify suspicious or unusual behaviors, focusing primarily on the exterior of residence halls and their surroundings and areas where students congregate. The behavioral recognition software reacts to persons, vehicles, or objects according to parameters defined by Campus Safety and Security, and alerts the CCTV operator whenever an event occurs and facilitates an appropriate level of response. The current number of “Smart CCTV” cameras has increased to 190, with additional cameras planned as the area of coverage expands.

There are 117 blue light emergency phones on and around campus. Students, faculty and staff are encouraged to familiarize themselves with their locations and operation. The push of the red button activates the siren, light and phone and the location is displayed to the Security Systems Specialist who immediately dispatches Public Safety officers. Emergency phones are tested regularly and any service requirement is promptly reported to the Telecommunications Department. An out-of-service phone is clearly marked and promptly repaired.

Maintenance of Campus Facilities
Johns Hopkins Public Safety encourages recommendations from its members, faculty, other staff and students for ways to better protect the University community as may be needed. Public Safety takes security into consideration in the maintenance of JHU facilities by scheduling evening walks around campus with the dean of student life, the director of plant operations, and student representatives to identify hazards and areas in need of improved lighting, pruning, upgraded locks, or other improvements. Cooperative efforts and partnership is the keystone of providing the best possible security services to the Homewood Campus. Facilities and landscaping are typically maintained in a manner that minimizes hazardous conditions. Public Safety units regularly patrol campus and report malfunctioning lights and other unsafe physical conditions to the Facilities Management unit for correction. Other members of the JHU community at each campus are helpful when they report equipment problems to Public Safety or to Facilities Management directly.

Off-Duty Baltimore Police and Sheriffs Initiatives
Public Safety employs a cadre of off duty armed uniformed BPD officers and uniformed Deputy sheriffs to walk foot patrols on public streets contiguous to campus, most frequented by JHU students. These patrols add yet another layer of security to the JHU multi-layer security strategy. The patrols are employed throughout the week during targeted hours most susceptible to high student foot traffic. The current foot posts for these officers are along Charles Street, St. Paul Street, University Parkway and in the Charles Village neighborhood. Regular assessments are conducted to determine where these valuable resources are most beneficial for student safety and adjusted accordingly.

Non campus Locations of Recognized Student Organizations
JHU has officially recognized student organizations that own or control housing facilities outside of the JHU core campus. If BPD is called by a citizen to respond to one of those locations, BPD will typically notify Public Safety to respond with them or they will notify Public Safety after they have responded to inform JHU of the situation. However, BPD does this out of courtesy and is not “required” to notify or involve Public Safety when they respond to a call involving private property.
Campus Safety Awareness Programs

At freshman orientation and throughout the school year, Johns Hopkins Public Safety addresses the student body on security matters and methods to enhance their personal safety. It also provides knowledgeable speakers for summer programs, resident advisors, the student council and others upon request. These speakers address a variety of timely campus security topics and encourage students to report crimes and other emergencies to Public Safety as quickly as possible and to become partners responsible for their own security and the security of others.

There are also security publications that include a weekly e-mail sent to resident advisors to post in their respective areas and to use in open discussions with students in their care. Seasonal bulletins published throughout the year and distributed on and around campus also provide a variety of timely safety tips.

Homewood Human Resources advises new University employees on security procedures and practices to enhance their personal safety on campus as well as crime prevention techniques. The department encourages all employees to report crimes in a timely fashion to the appropriate law enforcement authorities and to be responsible for their own safety and the safety of others.

“Meet and Greet” sessions with students and employees are held at different locations on campus throughout the school year. This affords interested persons the opportunity to speak directly with a campus police officer, ask questions, voice concerns or make suggestions. As an added feature, pens, bookmarks, security whistles, and other materials with emergency security and escort phone numbers are given to all that come to the session. Public Safety conducted 18 “Meet and Greet” sessions during the school year.

“Security Socials” are coordinated through Housing. These events allow students to meet and get to know officers in an informal setting. Two of these events occurred.

Campus Safety and Security also meets regularly with the Student Government Association, Safety and Development Committee. These meetings allow for an open and frank exchange of ideas to enhance student safety and security both on and off campus. Student recommendations have significant value and are seriously considered.

Shuttle Service to The Peabody Institute, the Medical Institutions and JHU at Eastern

Through the Office of Facilities Management’s oversight of a contract bus service, daily shuttle departures and returns provide transportation for students, faculty, staff and guests between Homewood, The Peabody Institute, and the Medical Institutions. Security is ensured through the close cooperation of the security departments of these campuses, the BPD and the contract bus company. Shuttle schedules can be viewed at http://ts.jhu.edu/shuttles.

Blue Jay Shuttle Service

The “Blue Jay” shuttle service is operated through Parking Services. This is a free service, transporting more than 10,000 passengers during peak months. It is designed to enhance the safety and security of members traveling to and from the Homewood Campus and within the surrounding communities. Drivers provide an additional security watch throughout the off campus communities driven.

This service operates from 5:50 PM to 11:30 PM daily around the area of the campus, providing both fixed-route and on-demand service. Shuttle schedules can be viewed at http://ts.jhu.edu/shuttles. Passengers can request a ride as early as 5:50 PM or dusk, whichever is later. Real-time shuttle tracking information is provided at http://jhu.transloc.com.

From 11:30 PM to 3:45 AM the “Blue Jay” shuttle reverts to Night Ride only, which is an on-demand curb-to-curb service to and from locations within the service area. While the regular Blue Jay Shuttle routes are running, Night Rides will be dispatched only to those who need service to locations not served by the fixed routes. To request a Night Ride call (410) 516-8700 and the dispatcher will provide an estimated time of arrival or directions as to which route(s) to take.
Walking Escorts
Student security monitors are available throughout the school year from 6:00 PM to 12:00 AM daily and may be posted on the Upper and Lower quadrangles, and on Charles Street between the Homewood Apartments and McCoy Hall. These security monitors carry radios that keep them in constant contact with the security dispatcher. They wear highly visible “florescent yellow” vests with reflective lettering reading “Campus Security Monitor” for ease of identification.

Emergency Taxi Cab Service
Through contract with local private cab services, stranded students (outside of the escort area) will be returned to campus by calling the security dispatcher at 410-516-4600.

Crime Prevention and Security Presentations
Public Safety provides presentations covering personal safety and campus security resources throughout the school year. Over 30 presentations were conducted during the school year. Public Safety also conducts these presentations during freshman orientation and for parents each fall.

LiveSafe Personal App
LiveSafe is a personal safety mobile app that Johns Hopkins Public Safety is providing to all students, faculty, and staff to download for free. The app provides a quick, convenient and discreet way to communicate directly with Public Safety. To download this app visit the Public Safety website at http://publicsafety.jhu.edu/resources-services/livesafe-app/.

Bicycle Rack Patrols
Johns Hopkins Public Safety monitors bicycle racks and encourages the use of U-bolt locks. A notice is placed on bicycles that are secured with thin type cable locks. The notice states that U-bolt locks are a more effective way of securing bicycles and gives general safety tips on where and how to secure a bicycle. In cases where bicycles are left unsecured, Public Safety may place a temporary U-bolt on the bicycle until the owner retrieves the bicycle.

Emergency Response and Prevention Procedures
In addition to the general University-wide information given, Homewood Campus-specific additional communication methods include the following:

Emergency Notification For JHU Guests
Visitors to campus can prepare for emergency or dangerous situations on campus and the surrounding area before they happen, so they can access up-to-the-minute alerts and advisories, by taking the following proactive steps:

We encourage all JHU staff, students, and non JHU-affiliated guests residing on or near campus to subscribe to our emergency text alert system. In cases involving an imminent threat to safety and security on or near the Homewood campus, the university may send text message alerts. You are welcome to subscribe to Johns Hopkins Emergency Alerts now and for the duration of your time on campus.

To subscribe, text JHUHomewoodAlerts to 226-787. Subscribers will receive a confirmation text message in return.

To unsubscribe when you leave campus, text STOP JHUHomewoodAlerts to 226-787.

This enables staff, chaperones, and students the ability to receive any emergency alerts. JHU recommends everyone take advantage of this while you are near campus if you are not already a JHU affiliate and subscribed.

We also encourage Visitors and Affiliates to Register for text alerts and Twitter feeds from the following local and regional jurisdictions:
Baltimore City Police Department:
https://www.baltimorepolice.org/baltimore-police-mobile-app

Montgomery County (MD) Police Department:
https://www.montgomerycountymd.gov/oemhs/alert-montgomery/

Washington DC Police Department:
https://mpdc.dc.gov/service/dc-police-alert

JHU encourages guests who do not have access to a smartphone to contact the department directly at 410-516-7777.

Siren/Public Address System
The Homewood Campus maintains three siren/public address mass notification devices on the roofs of Garland Hall, Whitehead Hall, and the O’Connor Recreational Center. These devices are strategically located around the campus to provide maximum coverage of the campus and the surrounding community.

In the event of a confirmed major incident that threatens the safety of the campus community, Johns Hopkins Public Safety will immediately send a text message alert to the students, faculty and staff who have subscribed to the service, notifying them of the incident. At the Homewood campus, the Rave alert system is tested concurrently with the siren/public address system.

Should a confirmed incident that presents an immediate danger occur, the siren/public address system will be activated to sound a 60-second warning tone, followed by voice instructions notifying the campus community of an emergency. During the course of any emergency, additional instructions can be broadcast using any or all of these devices. Once the incident has been resolved, an all-clear tone and message will be broadcasted. This system is tested three times each year. The campus community is notified that siren/public address system is being tested.

Bull Horns
Select units patrolling the Homewood Campus are equipped with bull horns for announcing instructions and information to supplement the other technologies to ensure that maximum communication is achieved.

Evacuations
Building evacuation maps are located on all floors in all buildings on the Homewood Campus. Should there be a need to evacuate, follow the recommended evacuation route on the map. Once outside, adhere to the directions of Johns Hopkins Public Safety officers, BPD, or other local public safety official (Baltimore City Fire Department). Evacuation procedures in place meet ADA compliance.

In the event a particular evacuation requires evacuees to be relocated to an alternative shelter, shelter locations on campus have been designated. Evacuees will be directed to those locations by Public Safety, BPD or other local public safety officials (Baltimore City Fire Department).

In 2019, and 2021, a Crisis Management table top exercise was completed with senior leadership. The purpose of the exercise was to test the University’s Incident Command System and Business Continuity Planning.

Announced tests of the emergency notification system were conducted on February 9, 2021, and June 15, 2021.

Missing Student Procedures
If an individual has reason to believe that a residential student has been missing for 24 hours they should immediately report the situation to Johns Hopkins Public Safety at 410-516-7777. Individuals who are concerned about someone who has not been missing for 24 hours but has failed to return to his/her residence are encouraged to contact the respective campus security office to report the situation.

In addition to registering a general emergency contact, person contact, unless local law enforcement made the determination that the student was missing. The University will provide the necessary information to assist in locating the missing student.

If the circumstances related to a student’s disappearance appear to be related to foul play, i.e., kidnapping or other criminal acts, then the appropriate notifications and actions will be initiated immediately, even if the student has been missing for less than 24 hours.

Information about Registered Sex Offenders
In Maryland, convicted sex offenders must register with the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services. A listing of sex offenders in Maryland is available at the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services website, at https://www.communitynotification.com/cap_main.php?office=56622

1 Of the crimes identified as On Campus, the number of crimes that took place in dormitories or other residential facilities on campus.

Due to new guidance from the U.S. Department of Education, Sexual Assaults, Domestic Violence, Dating Violence and Stalking are no longer included in the hierarchy rule, which means multiple offenses that occur in one incident are reported in the institution’s Clery statistics.
HATE CRIMES STATISTICS

2019: Five hate crimes reported
- Four intimidation cases reported on public property characterized by a religion bias.
- One intimidation case reported on public property characterized by a nationality bias.

2020: Three hate crimes reported
- One intimidation case reported on public property characterized by a race bias.
- One intimidation case reported on campus characterized by a race bias.
- One Stalking case reported on campus characterized by a nationality bias.

2021: Five hate crimes reported
- One intimidation cases reported on public property characterized by a race basis.
- One intimidation cases reported on public property characterized by a religion basis.
- One intimidation cases reported on on-campus characterized by a sexual orientation basis.
- One stalking case reported on on-campus residence hall characterized by a religious basis.
- One assault case reported on public property characterized by a race basis.

UNFOUNDED CRIME STATISTICS
A crime is considered unfounded for Clery Act purposes if a sworn or commissioned law enforcement personnel make a formal determination that the report is false or baseless.

2019: There was one crime unfounded by the Baltimore Police Department.
2020: There was one crime unfounded by Public Safety.

ANNUAL FIRE SAFETY REPORT

On-Campus Fire Safety Systems
For residential facilities on the Homewood Campus, fire drills are conducted in every University owned and operated residential building twice a year as required by Baltimore City fire codes by University staff and the Baltimore City Fire Department. Additional fire alarm tests and drills occur as necessary.

Smoke detectors have been installed in each student room for protection in case of fire. In addition to detectors, all Homewood Campus residence halls have sprinkler systems. It is unlawful to tamper with this equipment or any other fire safety equipment.

The University contracts for certain systems and equipment to be inspected to include; all sprinkler systems are inspected quarterly, Fire Alarm systems are inspected annually, and fire extinguishers are inspected yearly (monthly by JHU mechanics).

If a fire occurs in a residential building, community members should immediately notify their local campus security office or the local agency emergency services.

If campus security is contacted, campus security will initiate a response and contact the local fire department. If a member of the JHU community finds evidence of a fire that has been extinguished, and the person is not sure whether campus security has already responded, the community members should immediately notify campus security to investigate and document the incident.

Evacuation Procedures for Fire and Number of Mandatory Fire Drills

Procedures Students and Employees Should Follow In Case of a Fire
Your worst enemy during a fire is smoke. If you’re surrounded by smoke, get down on the floor and crawl to safety. Hold your breath and close your eyes if you can. Close doors behind you as you escape. Always use stairs to escape. Never use an elevator. Here are a few simple fire safety tips in case of a fire:

- Learn the location of fire exits and alarm pull stations near you and know the campus security and local agency emergency call number for assistance.
- Sound the fire alarm if you see smoke or detect a burning odor.
- Have a prepared escape plan and know your escape route.
- Remember to remain calm.
- Use exit stairs. Never use elevators.
- Close doors behind you as you escape. In most cases, this will prevent smoke damage and fire from entering the room you are exiting.
- Do not re-enter a fire-damaged building until it has been declared safe.
- If you become trapped, seal off cracks around doors and vents with cloth or rugs. (Soak them in water if possible.)
- Shut off fans and air conditioners.

- Signal for help from a window. If a campus phone is still operational or you have access to a cell phone, call local Campus Security or local agency emergency services.

Additionally, individuals should follow these procedures:

If You See or Smell Fire:

- Remember the acronym RACE:
  - R – Remove yourself from contact with smoke or fire.
  - A – Alarm – Pull the nearest fire alarm.
  - C – Call campus security from a safe location.
  - E – Evacuate the building to a safe location.

- Do NOT use elevators.

Procedures Students and Staff Should Follow in Case of Evacuation

Residents are required by law and University policy to evacuate their residences immediately when the fire alarm sounds. Procedures include:

1. If you hear the fire alarm sound, you must prepare to evacuate. Students found in the building during an evacuation will be subject to disciplinary action.
2. Feel your room door. If it is hot, stay in your room and signal for help from your window. Put a towel under your door.
3. If there are no flames or heavy smoke, close your room door behind you and walk quickly to the nearest exit.
4. Homewood Campus AMR residents should remember that there are multiple fire exit stairs in the rear of the Clark and Hollander and the front of Royce and Wood. Homewood Campus’ Wolman, McCoy, Charles Commons, Bradford, and Homewood apartments residents must use the stairs only. Do not use elevators. Resident Assistants will conduct a student head count.
5. Remain a safe distance from the building until you are told by Housing or Residential Life staff members that you may go back inside.

It is essential for each student to know what to do if and when an evacuation of a complex is necessary; a minimum of one fire evacuation drill is conducted each semester and is mandatory for students.

University Organizations that should be Informed of Fire

The University is required to annually disclose statistical data on all fires that occur in on-campus student housing facilities. To report a fire that has already been extinguished contact Campus Safety and Security non-emergency number 410-516-4600. When calling, please provide as much information as possible about the location, date, time, and cause of the fire.
The University’s Policies on Portable Electrical Appliances, Smoking, and Open Flames

Students are informed in applicable handbooks and policies that guidelines have been established in the interest of individuals’ safety and the preservation of University housing property. At the Homewood campus within their handbook and policies, students are informed that the following portable electrical appliances, flammable liquids and other sources of open flames are not permitted within the facility:

- halogen lamps of any type
- flammable liquids
- space heaters
- hookahs
- lamps with plastic covers

Regarding decorating personal space, the following are prohibited:

- items that could create a fire hazard
- hanging of sheets, blankets or any object obstructing emergency evacuation
- hanging posters or other decorations that cover large portions of wall or other surfaces that could present a fire hazard
- candles, incense or any other open flame/heat producing items
- anything hung from the sprinkler heads.

Smoking is prohibited in University housing. Specifically, smoking is prohibited inside University housing buildings, including but not limited to, student rooms, suites, lounges, bathrooms, common areas, stairwells, lobbies and elevators.

Residents who smoke must do so outside of the building and must be far enough away from the building that smoke will not filter into the building via exterior doors, windows or the building ventilation systems.

Full cooperation with these policies is expected. Any violation of these policies will result in disciplinary action.

Limited types of cooking appliances are allowed in residence halls. All appliances must have an automatic shut off and may not contain an external heating element. For the Homewood Campus, all appliances must be Underwriters Laboratory (“UL”) approved. Refrigerators and freezers leased or brought from home may not exceed 4 cubic feet or 15 amps. Microwaves must not exceed 1100 watts.

Fire Safety Education and Training

During student orientation and new employee orientation programs, students, faculty, and staff are provided education on fire safety and information on how to report a fire, or evidence of a fire, to whom, and procedures to be followed for non-residential buildings on campus when a fire alarm signals.

Each building has fire evacuation plans posted in common areas. All students and employees are encouraged to become familiar with the escape routes for all buildings and floors and the locations of fire extinguishers, hoses and alarms. In the event of a fire or evacuation, every student and employee should follow the fire safety evacuation route and vacate the premises until the officials in charge declare the premises safe to enter. Exits and areas around fire extinguishers must be kept clear at all times. Periodic fire safety inspections and drills are held to test equipment and procedures.

Resident Advisors (“RAs”) are trained and given specific information on the following:

- who to contact in emergency
- how to assess an emergency situation
- how to respond using general response steps
- how to respond to fire emergencies

In addition at the Homewood Campus, RAs receive a Resident Advisor Training Manual from the Office of Residential Life that contains information for future reference. This training is put into practice by Resident Advisors when drills are conducted.

Any Plans for Improving Fire Safety

JHU continues to monitor its life safety systems. There are no future improvements currently planned. Training and fire safety information is reviewed on an annual basis.

The Peabody Institute

Background
The Johns Hopkins Peabody Institute (“Peabody”) is located in the center of Baltimore City’s historic Mount Vernon section. The main campus occupies one entire city block. It contains six buildings in this one square block, with an additional two buildings across a public street on the campus’ south side. The main campus covers 407,791 square feet. A one-story satellite branch, used by the Peabody Preparatory department, is located in the Towson area of Baltimore County at 949 Dulaney Valley Road and covers 11,880 square feet. The city campus consists of the Conservatory, Preparatory, Residence Halls, and several other buildings, including a parking garage. The campus has approximately 690 Conservatory students with a resident student capacity of 250. The campus has a faculty and staff of over 482 and a Preparatory student population of approximately 2,200.

Reporting Crimes and Other Emergencies
Johns Hopkins Public Safety and/or local emergency services, including Baltimore Police Department (“BPD”), fire or ambulance, can be obtained via the Campus Security Dispatcher from any emergency campus telephone or by calling 667-208-6608 or by calling 911. Emergency contact with the dispatchers can also be made by simply picking up one of the direct security ring-down telephones, located throughout campus hallways or by using any of the intercoms located at all exterior entrances.

Campus Law Enforcement
Johns Hopkins Public Safety (“Public Safety”) provides a full range of security services to the campus community 24 hours a day. Campus Security maintains the web site http://peabody.jhu.edu/life-at-peabody/campus-safety/ and provides daily publication of crimes known to have occurred both on and off campus, in the residential halls and in Peabody owned buildings, as well as on public property contiguous to the campus. A daily crime log is available for review during normal business hours at the dispatch desk at the Public Safety Office. The operation of Public Safety is based on a community-oriented approach to law enforcement. A close working relationship is maintained with the BPD and in any serious or major criminal incident at Peabody, BPD would be the primary investigative agency. Public Safety would serve in a support role in assisting in the investigation. Public Safety does not have a written memorandum of understanding pertaining to the investigation of criminal incidents with BPD or any other law enforcement agency.

Community focus is greatly enhanced through Public Safety’s continuous contact with other service-oriented offices, and many other security agencies in the surrounding downtown area of the city. As members of the Public Safety Coalition of the Downtown Partnership and The Midtown Community Benefits District’s Security Committee, Campus Security actively participates in this multi-agency network to reduce the threat of off campus crimes to faculty, staff, students and guests of Peabody.

Headed by the Director of Security, Public Safety supports a staff of 31. This number consists of 14 full-time uniformed security officers, two (2) part-time security officers, two (2) full-time dispatcher, two (2) part-time dispatchers, one (1) full-time greeter and 10 casual/part-time officers who assist with special events, dispatching and other security activities on the campus. Campus Security officers are unarmed, trained professionals, some having graduated from law enforcement academies and possessing many years of practical law enforcement experience. All of the officers undergo annual training conducted by qualified in-house professionals or local law enforcement agencies. Officers also attend training sessions on the Clery Act, the impact of crime reporting, the officers’ responsibility in taking reports, cultural diversity, sexual harassment, rape crisis, first aid, CPR and public relations communication. Campus Security has a close working partnership with the faculty, staff and students toward ensuring a safe campus environment. A close working relationship is maintained with the Dean of Academic Affairs, Counseling, the Director of Student Affairs and the Coordinator for International Student Affairs.

Every attempt is made to identify the person(s) responsible for criminal or other incidents and to recover property and/or evidence. Public Safety identifies and implements crime prevention measures and informs the community of these strategies.

Public Safety actively pursues and accepts recommendations from all Campus Security employees, faculty, staff and students on methods to better protect the Peabody Community.

The Director, three sergeants, and ten full-time officers have powers of arrest. Officers have the authority to enforce State and Local laws and University policies. The officers have jurisdiction to operate on JHU owned and controlled property.

Public Safety maintains a 24-hour communication center that is staffed with two (2) full-time and two (2) part-time security dispatchers. The center is located in the Shapiro House. All members of Public Safety are held to the same standard of professional conduct and are held accountable for the safety and security of the campus community.

Security and Access of Campus Facilities

The regular business hours for campus buildings are 8:00 AM to 10:00 PM, Monday through Saturday, and 12:00 PM to 10:00 PM on Sunday. Access to campus for all authorized personnel is 24 hours. Entrances to the campus are secured at all times and are equipped with an intercom system connecting directly to the campus security office. Campus access is made through the use of an individual’s “Key-Card Access” identification card. Public Safety monitors the use of these cards. The student dormitories have additional access card readers that only permit entrance to the students living in the dormitories, appropriate Student Affairs staff, appropriate Facilities staff, and Campus Security personnel. Individual guests and/or visitors without a “Key-Card,” are granted access to the campus through the main entrance, located at 17 East Mt. Vernon Place, only after presenting satisfactory identification to ensure their identity. Public Safety maintains a 24-hour foot patrol of the entire campus while also monitoring campus activity on electronic surveillance equipment. The Public Safety office force is supplemented on most evenings during the academic year by a uniformed, off duty BPD officer who patrol both the interior and exterior of the campus. The only static-posts are at the main entrance and the dispatcher desk. All other officers conduct roving patrols and are free to respond to issues requiring their attention.

Operation & Monitoring of Identification “Key-Card” Campus Access System & CCTV System

- Activating and deactivating access cards based on authorization, registration, and loss of cards or for location purposes.
- 24-hour monitoring of the computer access system and all alarms indicating any unauthorized entry attempts.
- Maintaining accurate records of individual and area use and/or special needs.
- 24-Hour monitoring and recording of the CCTV system, which consists of 153 cameras located both internally and externally throughout the campus.

Security Escort Van Service

This free escort service is part of the Blue Jay Shuttle service and is provided through the use of University owned vans. This service provides transportation for community members traveling to and from the Peabody campus and their off-campus residence. It is designed to enhance the safety and security of those members traveling within the area of service, which is approximately a one-mile radius from the center of campus. Passenger safety is the primary concern of this service. Features of the escort van service include:

- In service during the academic year from 6:00 PM to 3:45 AM.
- Covers an area within a one-mile (approximately 12 city blocks) radius of the center of campus.
- Use the TransLoc App or call 410-516-8700.
- Limited to those traveling between the campus and an off campus place of residence.
- Information regarding the escort vans can be found at: http://peabody.jhu.edu/life-at-peabody/campus-safety/escort-van/

Crime Prevention and Security Presentations
During the 2020-2021 academic year, JHU offered approximately 3 crime prevention and security awareness programs. A presentation on security is delivered to prospective students and parents of prospective students during Audition Week. In addition, undergraduate and graduate students are presented with a CitySafe crime prevention program during orientation. During one semester each academic year, the Public Safety Department conducts an alcohol awareness day, when information about the effects of alcohol and general crime prevention information is disseminated. Crime prevention tips are made available at various events on campus throughout the academic year.

LiveSafe Personal App
LiveSafe is a personal safety mobile app that Public Safety is providing to all students, faculty, and staff to download for free. The app provides a quick, convenient and discreet way to communicate directly with Campus Safety and Security. To download this app visit the Campus Safety and Security website at http://publicsafety.jhu.edu/resources-services/livesafe-app/.

Emergency Response and Prevention Procedures
The campus emergency response is based on the National Incident Management System (NIMS) Incident Command System (ICS) model. Building evacuation maps are located on all floors in all buildings of Peabody. Should there be a need to evacuate, students, faculty, and staff are instructed to follow the recommended evacuation route on the map. Once outside students, faculty, and staff are instructed to follow the directions of Campus Security or the local public safety officials (fire/police). Unannounced fire drills are held in the residence halls at least once per semester. These drills are evaluated by the Director of Public Safety for the speed, completeness, and general organization of the drill. The results are shared with the Residential Life Administrator.

Fire drills were held in the Residence Hall (dorm) and Peabody Living Center (formerly called the Peabody Inn) on 3/28/2019, 10/24/2019 and 5/26/2021. No fire drills were conducted in 2020 due to the absence of students on campus during the COVID-19 Pandemic. The RAVE system was tested on 6/1/2021.
Fire alarms will sound in the buildings if fire is detected or if a pull station is activated. Once an alarm is sounded or there is a determination that an evacuation is necessary, a Rave alert is sent via text message, email, and information displays informing of the danger and providing direction. There is also a bull horn in the Campus Security office that can be used to provide instruction during an evacuation. In the event of an emergency requiring an evacuation that is not triggered by a fire alarm, the Director of Public Safety, or in his/her absence, the on-duty Public Safety Supervisor, will determine the need for an evacuation. Students or staff will be notified via a Rave alert and will be directed by Campus Security staff. In the event of an extended or long-term evacuation, the Director of Public Safety will notify Peabody’s Incident Commander, who will activate Incident Command.

All resident students are advised of fire safety procedures via the Residence Hall and Peabody Living Center Handbooks. Incoming freshman, transfer, and graduate students are also advised on fire safety and evacuation procedures during orientation. Students or staff can report fires or other emergency situations via phone by calling 911. Students and staff may also call Public Safety at 667-208-6608 to report such emergencies. The Residence Hall and other buildings are equipped with emergency call-down phones which ring directly to the security office. Information on fire safety will be available on the revamped Peabody website and will be provided via email during the course of the academic year.

Emergency Notification for Guests at The Peabody Institute of the Johns Hopkins University

Non-affiliates who are visiting The Peabody Institute of the Johns Hopkins University now have the option to Opt In for RAVE notifications. In the event of a confirmed major incident that threatens the safety of the campus community, the University will immediately send a text message alert through the RAVE system.

To sign up for RAVE notifications at The Peabody Institute of the Johns Hopkins University: Text “JHUPeabodyAlerts” to 226-787 to sign up. When you leave campus-or at any time-text “STOP JHUPeabodyAlerts” 226-787 to unsubscribe from alerts.

Missing Student Procedures

If an individual has reason to believe that a residential student has been missing for 24 hours, they should immediately report the situation to Public Safety at 667-208-6608. Individuals who are concerned about someone who has not been missing for 24 hours but has failed to return to his/her residence are encouraged to contact the campus security office to report the situation.

In addition to registering a general emergency contact, students residing in campus housing will be informed annually that each student has the option to identify one or more confidential missing person contacts. If designated, the missing person contact(s) will be notified by the University no later than 24 hours after the time the student is determined to be missing by either the designated campus official(s) authorized to make that determination or local law enforcement. This confidential information is accessible only to authorized campus officials who have the responsibility of notification as well as law enforcement officers in furtherance of a missing person investigation.

In the case that the missing student is under the age of 18 and not emancipated, his or her custodial parent(s) or guardian(s) will be notified within 24 hours of the determination that the student is missing, in addition to notifying any additional contact person designated by the student.

In all cases, local law enforcement will be notified within 24 hours of the determination that the student is missing even if the student is above the age of 18, is an emancipated minor, or has not provided a missing person contact, unless local law enforcement made the determination that the student was missing. The University will provide the necessary information to assist in locating the missing student.

If the circumstances related to a student’s disappearance appear to be related to foul play, i.e., kidnapping or other criminal acts, then the appropriate notifications and actions will be initiated immediately, even if the student has been missing for less than 24 hours.

Information about Registered Sex Offenders

In Maryland, convicted sex offenders must register with the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services. A listing of sex offenders in Maryland is available at the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services website, at https://www.communitynotification.com/cap_main.php?office=56622
HATE CRIMES STATISTICS

The Hate Crime statistics are crimes where the offender was motivated to commit the offense because of his/her bias against the victim's race, religion, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, ethnicity, national origin, or disability.

There were no reported Hate Crimes for the years 2019-2020.

2021: One hate crimes reported
• One Vandalism on-campus characterized by a religion bias.

UNFOUNDED CRIME STATISTICS

A crime is considered unfounded for Clery Act purposes if a sworn or commissioned law enforcement personnel make a formal determination that the report is false or baseless.

There were no unfounded crimes reported in 2019, 2020, or 2021.

1 Of the crimes identified as On campus, the number of crimes that took place in dormitories or other residential facilities for students on campus.

Due to new guidance from the U.S. Department of Education, Sexual Assaults, Domestic Violence, Dating Violence and Stalking are no longer included in the hierarchy rule, which means multiple offenses that occur in one incident are reported in the institution’s Clery statistics.
Annual Fire Safety Report

On-Campus Fire Safety Systems
For residential facilities on the Peabody Institute campus, fire drills are conducted in every residential building twice a year as required by Baltimore City fire codes by University staff and the Baltimore City Fire Department. Additional fire alarm tests and drills occur as necessary. No fire drills were conducted in 2020.

Smoke detectors have been installed in each student room for protection in case of fire. In addition to detectors, the Peabody Living Center has a fire sprinkler system. It is unlawful to tamper with this equipment or any other fire safety equipment.

If a fire occurs in a residential building, community members should immediately notify Public Safety office at 667-208-6608 or Baltimore City Fire Department at 911. If campus security is contacted, campus security will initiate a response, and contact the local fire department. If a member of the JHU community finds evidence of a fire that has been extinguished, and the person is not sure whether campus security has already responded, the community member should immediately notify campus security to investigate and document the incident.

Evacuation Procedures for Fire and Number of Mandatory Fire Drills
Procedures Students and Employees Should Follow In Case of a Fire
Your worst enemy during a fire is smoke. If you’re surrounded by smoke, get down on the floor and crawl to safety. Hold your breath and close your eyes if you can. Close doors behind you as you escape. Always use stairs to escape. Never use an elevator. Here are a few simple fire safety tips in case of a fire:

- Learn the location of fire exits and alarm pull stations near you and know the campus security and local agency emergency call number for assistance.
- Sound the fire alarm if you see smoke or detect a burning odor.
- Have a prepared escape plan and know your escape route.
- Remember to remain calm.
- Use exit stairs. Never use elevators.
- Close doors behind you as you escape. In most cases, this will prevent smoke damage and fire from entering the room you are exiting.
- Do not re-enter a fire-damaged building until it has been declared safe.
- If you become trapped, seal off cracks around doors and vents with cloth or rugs. (Soak them in water if possible.)
- Shut off fans and air conditioners.
- Signal for help from a window. If a campus phone is still operational or you have access to a cell phone, call Campus Security or local agency emergency services.

Additionally, individuals should follow these procedures:
If You See or Smell Fire:
- Remember the acronym RACE:
  R – Remove yourself from contact with smoke or fire.
  A – Alarm – Pull the nearest fire alarm.
  C – Call campus security from a safe location.
  E – Evacuate the building to a safe location.
- Do NOT use elevators.

Procedures Students and Employees Should Follow in Case of Evacuation
Residents are required by law and University policy to evacuate their residences immediately when the fire alarm sounds. Procedures include:

- If you hear the fire alarm sound, you must prepare to evacuate. Students found in the building during an evacuation will be subject to disciplinary action.
- Feel your room door. If it is hot, stay in your room and signal for help from your window. Put a towel under your door.
- If there are no flames or heavy smoke, close your room door behind you and walk quickly to the nearest exit.
- At The Peabody Institute residents must use the stairs only. Do not use elevators. At The Peabody Institute, proceed to Joe Byrd Hall in the Arcade unless directed to another location by Campus Security officers. Resident Assistants will conduct a student head count.

- Remain a safe distance from the building until you are told by Housing or Residential Life staff members that you may go back inside.

It is essential for each student to know what to do if and when an evacuation of a complex is necessary; a minimum of one fire evacuation drill is conducted each semester and is mandatory for students.

University Organizations that should be Informed of Fire
The University is required to annually disclose statistical data on all fires that occur in on-campus student housing facilities. To report a fire that has already been extinguished contact Campus Security non-emergency number, 667-208-6608. When calling, please provide as much information as possible about the location, date, time, and cause of the fire.

The University's Policies on Portable Electrical Appliances, Smoking, and Open Flames
Students are informed in applicable handbooks and policies that guidelines have been established in the interest of individuals’ safety and the preservation of University housing property. At The Peabody Institute, within their handbook and policies, students are informed that the following portable electrical appliances, flammable liquids and other sources of open flames are not permitted within the facility:

- flammable liquids
- space heaters
- items that could create a fire hazard
- anything hung from the sprinkler heads
- Microwaves are not allowed in residence hall rooms, with the exception of those specifically provided by the Conservatory
- George Foreman grills or similar cooking appliances
- Toasters, toaster ovens, smokeless indoor grills, etc.
- Hotplates, electric skillets, crock pots, electric tea kettle without automatic shut-off, etc.
- Coffee Pots without automatic shut-off
- Refrigerators over 4 cubic feet
- Air Conditioners & All portable heating devices (space heaters of any kind)
- Halogen Lamps

- Plastic or paper shade decorative lamps
- Candles, lanterns, incense, or anything else that produces an open flame
- Hookahs (decorative or otherwise), water pipes, bowls, bongs, or other smoking paraphernalia
- All combustible materials [gas, lighter fluid, charcoal, propane, solvents, etc.]
- All items powered by combustible fuels (such as motorcycles)
- All fireworks, explosives, etc.
- All corrosive (or poisonous) chemicals and hazardous materials

Regarding decorating personal space, the following are prohibited:

- Decorative string lights (cannot be near curtains or hanging from ceiling)
- Multiple power strips connected together (“chaining”)
- Wire across floors that are not held down by a carpet or tape
- Curtain/drapes and anything covering ceilings (tapestries, banners, posters, or other flammable materials)
- Wall decorations covering more than 50% of the walls (tapestries, banners, posters, or other flammable materials)
- All tapestries or cloth decorations must be clearly labeled “Flame resistant”
- Crepe paper, plastic or Mylar decorations, ribbons, streamers, etc. hanging from light fixtures or ceiling
- Food lying open on desks, floors, etc.
- Baltimore City Property
- City or University Signage
- Lounge or Common Area Furniture
- Weapons
- Pets

Smoking is prohibited in University housing. Specifically, smoking is prohibited inside University housing buildings, including but not limited to, student rooms, suites, lounges, bathrooms, common areas, stairwells, lobbies and elevators.

Residents who smoke must do so outside of the building and must be far enough away from the building that smoke will not filter into the building via exterior doors, windows or the building ventilation systems.

Full cooperation with these policies is expected. Any violation of these policies will result in disciplinary action.
Limited types of cooking appliances are allowed in residence halls. All appliances must have an automatic shut off and may not contain an external heating element. For the Peabody Institute, all appliances must be Underwriters Laboratory (“UL”) approved. Refrigerators and freezers leased or brought from home may not exceed 4 cubic feet or 15 amps. Microwaves must not exceed 1100 watts.

Fire Safety Education and Training

Students, faculty, and staff are provided education on fire safety and information on how to report a fire, or evidence of a fire, to whom, and procedures to be followed for non-residential buildings on campus when a fire alarm signals. New students receive information on fire safety during orientation. Students, faculty, and staff have access to information on what to do in the event of a fire at this link: https://peabody.jhu.edu/life-at-peabody/campus-safety/emergency-preparedness/

Each building has fire evacuation plans posted in common areas. All students and employees are encouraged to become familiar with the escape routes for all buildings and floors and the locations of fire extinguishers, hoses and alarms. In the event of a fire or evacuation, every student and employee should follow the fire safety evacuation route and vacate the premises until the officials in charge declare the premises safe to enter. Exits and areas around fire extinguishers must be kept clear at all times. Periodic fire safety inspections and drills are held to test equipment and procedures.

Resident Advisors (“RAs”) are trained and given specific information on the following:

- who to contact in an emergency
- how to assess an emergency situation
- how to respond using general response steps
- how to respond to fire emergencies

Any Plans for Improving Fire Safety

JHU continues to monitor its life safety systems. The current fire alarm system in the Peabody Living Center is planned to be upgraded to a state of the art fully addressable system with audible and strobe features in fiscal year 2022.

East Baltimore Campus

Background
The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, the Bloomberg School of Public Health, the School of Nursing, Kennedy Krieger Institute and the Johns Hopkins Hospital (collective, the “Medical Institutions” or “JHMI”) are located within the eastern sector of Baltimore City. The Medical Institutions comprise more than 59 buildings located on 53.4 acres. Approximately 1,500 students are enrolled with a full complement of faculty and staff.

Reporting Crimes and Other Emergencies
Public Safety and/or local emergency services, including the Baltimore Police Department (“BPD”), fire or ambulance, can be requested via the Security Communication Center by calling 410-955-5585, or x5-5585 using any of the in-house phones. Uniformed officers maintain highly visible posts and are accessible to anyone wishing to report any incident. The prompt reporting of crime is encouraged through various publications and program reminders.

Campus Law Enforcement
The Johns Hopkins Public Safety Department (“Public Safety”), a staff of over 500 uniformed (unarmed) officers providing interior, exterior and mobile patrols, operates on a 24-hour basis to assist and respond to emergency or security related incidents. Public Safety enforces corporate policy and assists law enforcement in the enforcement of local and state criminal laws for Johns Hopkins University, Johns Hopkins Hospital and all entities of the Johns Hopkins Health System Corporation. Strategically placed electronic surveillance equipment and a radio communications center support Public Safety’s response to security incidents. This system increases the ability of security personnel to pinpoint areas of concern. Public Safety officers may be summoned via any number of in-house phones by calling x5-5585. The x5-5585 number may also be used to summon local police or emergency services through the central Security Communications Center. Public Safety documents and departmental publications prominently display this information. Public Safety maintains the website http://www.hopkinsmedicine.org/security_parking_transportation and provides daily publication of crimes known to have occurred on campus, in the residential halls and in JHU owned buildings, as well as on public property contiguous to the campus. A daily crime log is available for review during normal business hours at the front desk in the Public Safety Office, Harvey 109. Public Safety works in close concert with the BPD concerning the apprehension of criminal offenders, investigations, crime awareness programs and crime prevention programs. In addition, Public Safety attends Intel meetings at the BPD Eastern District Police Station to discuss current crime patterns that may directly affect the East Baltimore campus as well as solutions to deter crime. Although Public Safety officers do no have arrest powers, a contingent of uniformed and plain-clothed off-duty BPD officers with full arrest powers, paid by the University, perform duties at various inside and outside locations of the complex. A close working relationship is maintained with the BPD and in any criminal incident on the East Baltimore Campus, the BPD would be the investigative agency as they have primary jurisdiction. Public Safety would serve in a support role in assisting in the investigation. Public Safety does not have a written memorandum of understanding pertaining to the investigation of criminal incidents with BPD or any law enforcement agency.

Public Safety further provides the following services:

- The general public and prospective students and employees can find information about security and crime statistics on the internet at http://www.hopkinsmedicine.org/security_parking_transportation/index.html
- Conducts preliminary crime investigations and follow-up.
- Conducts crime prevention and security awareness programs for students and employees on various topics, including Clery reporting.
- Conducts student orientation on security and safety matters and prevention, including Clery reporting.
- Conducts nursing unit security talks and advises staff of ongoing security resources and initiatives.
- Informs Medical Institutions leadership of crime patterns through use of crime statistics by providing monthly, quarterly and annual comprehensive reporting.
- Maintains a 24-hour communications center that receives information by phone, CCTV cameras, computers and direct alarm connections as well as a centrally located security business office for walk-ins.
- Provides a 24-hour recorded, anonymous Security Tip Line (410-614-3903) for reports of security offenses or information concerning criminal or suspicious activity.
- Maintains a close liaison between The National Crime Prevention Council, the BPD and the Maryland Community Crime Prevention Association.

Security and Access of Campus Facilities

Most campus buildings remain open 24 hours a day. Students, faculty and staff may gain access to restricted areas, e.g. laboratories or libraries, by key or access card, depending on the location and their approved access. All areas are patrolled by security officers in addition to security officers assigned to specific access locations. All unusual or suspicious activities or persons are investigated and appropriate action is taken, when necessary. Security mobile units, bike patrol units, K-9 units, and the Special Response Unit (“SRU”) support interior and exterior security officers. Personal escorts by security officers are available for all faculty, staff and students. The 929 Apartments are only accessible to building residents and their authorized guests and visitors. The apartment complex employs concierge officers at the courtesy Desk who have walkie-talkies to contact Public Safety.

Security related information is published regularly in the “Hopkins Hotline” and via Security Alerts and Advisories. appropriate notifications or incidents involving missing students. Public Safety in cooperation with the designated Associate Deans of Student Affairs at the JHU Schools of Medicine, Public Health and Nursing has mirrored the established University policy of the Homewood Campus.

Maintenance of Campus Facilities
Public Safety participates in identifying and reporting facility hazards to the Facilities Department for maintenance and repair. The East Baltimore Campus does not have any officially recognized student organizations that own or control off campus housing facilities and therefore does not monitor off campus criminal activity.

Campus Safety Awareness Programs
In 2021, due to COVID-19 restrictions, Public Safety participated in 14 virtual presentations. Public Safety provided narrated Power Point presentations for new students, faculty, and staff. Public Safety personnel participate in all student and employee orientations and provide information about the services provided, to include, how the office communicates with students and employees during an emergency, how they can reach the office in an emergency, and how and when the office may communicate with them in a non-emergency situation. Public Safety also presents basic crime prevention strategies during orientation to students and employees. In these programs, students and employees are encouraged to be aware of their surroundings at all times and to minimize personal distractions, i.e. on the phone.

Public Safety attends student government meetings and staff meetings on an as-needed or as-requested basis and distributes general safety information emails at least twice a year.

Crime Prevention and Security Presentations
Public Safety conducts various security presentations for Johns Hopkins students, residents and employees on an annual basis. These presentations are customized for the audience and provide educational and safety awareness resources. The frequency of programs is based upon an identified need of the requesting party, or on an annual basis such as student orientations. Student orientations consist of general safety guidelines, security escort services, and personal safety. Public Safety also participates at new employee orientations, which are conducted on a weekly basis. Educational programs are offered frequently throughout the year at venues such as Town Hall meetings, Career Fairs, Visitors Day and Summer Job Programs to include Active Shooter Responses and Security on Campus programs.

Emergency Response and Prevention Procedures
The East Baltimore Campus has a department of Emergency Management and Response and an Emergency Management Committee. The Emergency Operations Plan to include the Evacuation Plan comes under the authority of that office and committee. The committee is a multi-disciplinary team to include Johns Hopkins Public Safety, Legal, Supply Chain Management, Support Services Clinical Departments, Facilities Managers, and Maintenance. It is an all hazards plan that addresses natural and man-made disasters, pandemics and bio-chemical and radiological events.

Emergency Notification for Guests at Johns Hopkins Hospital and East Baltimore Campus
Non-affiliates who are visiting the Johns Hopkins Hospital and the East Baltimore Campus now have the option to Opt In for RAVE notifications. What RAVE is for and how to activate the system on a personal cell
In October and November of 2021 Public Safety participated in unannounced Infant Abduction drills. The RAVE system is tested at least twice a month via text message. These tests are unannounced.

Missing Student Procedures
If an individual has reason to believe that a residential student has been missing for 24 hours, they should immediately report the situation to Public Safety at 410-955-5585 for the East Baltimore Campus. Individuals who are concerned about someone who has not been missing for 24 hours but has failed to return to his/her residence are encouraged to contact Public Safety office to report the situation.

In addition to registering a general emergency contact, students residing in campus housing will be informed annually that each student has the option to identify one or more confidential missing person contacts. If designated, the missing person contact(s) will be notified by the University no later than 24 hours after the time the student is determined to be missing by either the designated campus official(s) authorized to make that determination or local law enforcement. This confidential information is accessible only to authorized campus officials who have the responsibility of notification as well as law enforcement officers in furtherance of a missing person investigation.

In the case that the missing student is under the age of 18 and not emancipated, his or her custodial parent(s) or guardian(s) will be notified within 24 hours of the determination that the student is missing, in addition to notifying any additional contact person designated by the student.

In all cases, local law enforcement will be notified within 24 hours of the determination that the student is missing even if the student is above the age of 18, is an emancipated minor, or has not provided a missing person contact, unless local law enforcement made the determination that the student was missing. The University will provide the necessary information to assist in locating the missing student.

If the circumstances related to a student’s disappearance appear to be related to foul play, i.e., kidnapping or other criminal acts, then the appropriate notifications and actions will be initiated immediately, even if the student has been missing for less than 24 hours.

Information about Registered Sex Offenders
In Maryland, convicted sex offenders must register with the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services. A listing of sex offenders in Maryland is available at the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services website, at https://www.communitynotification.com/cap_main.php?office=56622

1 Of the crimes identified as On campus, the number of crimes that took place in dormitories or other residential facilities for students on campus.

Due to new guidance from the U.S. Department of Education, Sexual Assaults, Domestic Violence, Dating Violence and Stalking are no longer included in the hierarchy rule, which means multiple offenses that occur in one incident are reported in the institution’s Clery statistics.
HATE CRIMES STATISTICS
The Hate Crime statistics are crimes where the offender was motivated to commit the offense because of his/her bias against the victim’s race, religion, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, ethnicity, national origin, or disability.

2019: One hate crime reported
  • Two Simple Assaults reported on campus characterized by a race bias.

2020: One hate crime reported
  • One Aggravated Assault reported on campus characterized by a race bias.

2021: One hate crimes reported
  • One Aggravated Assault reported on campus characterized by a race bias.

UNFOUNDATION CRIME STATISTICS
A crime is considered unfounded for Clery Act purposes if a sworn or commissioned law enforcement personnel make a formal determination that the report is false or baseless.

There were no unfounded crimes reported in 2020.

2019: There were two crimes unfounded by BPD.

2021: There were 5 crimes unfounded by BPD. One unfounded incident had two Clery categories.

ANNUAL SECURITY & FIRE SAFETY REPORT

On-Campus Fire Safety Systems
The 929 Apartments is managed by EDR Trust, however the School of Nursing and Public Health have an agreement for rooms for students and visiting faculty. For the residential facility on the East Baltimore Campus, smoke detectors have been installed in each apartment to alert residents in case of fire. In addition to detectors, the 929 Apartments has a sprinkler system. It is unlawful to tamper with this equipment or any other fire safety equipment.

If a fire occurs in a residential building, community members should immediately notify Public Safety or call 911. If Public Safety is contacted, Public Safety will initiate a response, and contact the local fire department. If a member of the JHU community finds evidence of a fire that has been extinguished, and the person is not sure whether Public Safety has already responded, the community member should immediately notify Public Safety to investigate and document the incident.

Evacuation Procedures for Fire and Number of Mandatory Fire Drills

Procedures Students and Employees Should Follow in Case of a Fire
Your worst enemy during a fire is smoke. If you’re surrounded by smoke, get down on the floor and crawl to safety. Hold your breath and close your eyes if you can. Close doors behind you as you escape. Always use stairs to escape. Here are a few simple fire safety tips in case of a fire:

• Learn the location of fire exits and alarm pull stations near you and know the campus security and local agency emergency call number for assistance.

*Only 1 Fire Drill was conducted in 2020 due to COVID-19 restrictions.
• Sound the fire alarm if you see smoke or detect a burning odor.
• Have a prepared escape plan and know your escape route.
• Remember to remain calm.
• Use exit stairs. Never use elevators.
• Close doors behind you as you escape. In most cases, this will prevent smoke damage and fire from entering the room you are exiting.
• Do not re-enter a fire-damaged building until it has been declared safe.
• If you become trapped, seal off cracks around doors and vents with cloth or rugs. (Soak them in water if possible.)
• Shut off fans and air conditioners.
• Signal for help from a window. If a campus phone is still operational or you have access to a cell phone, call local Campus Security or local agency emergency services.

Additionally, individuals should follow these procedures:

If You See or Smell Fire:
• Remember the acronym RACE:
  R – Remove yourself from contact with smoke or fire.
  A – Alarm – Pull the nearest fire alarm.
  C – Call campus security from a safe location.
  E – Evacuate the building to a safe location.
• Do NOT use elevators.

Procedures Students and Employees Should Follow in Case of Evacuation

Residents are required by law and University policy to evacuate their residences immediately when the fire alarm sounds. Procedures include:
• If you hear the fire alarm sound, you must prepare to evacuate. Failure to do so is not only dangerous and illegal, but it also may result in criminal prosecution and the initiation of eviction proceedings.
• Feel your room door. If it is hot, stay in your room and signal for help from your window. Put a towel under your door.
• If there are no flames or heavy smoke, close your room door behind you and walk quickly to the nearest exit.
• Remain a safe distance from the building until you are told by the fire department that you may go back inside.

It is essential for each student to know what to do if and when an evacuation of a complex is necessary.

University Organizations that should be Informed of Fire

The University is required to annually disclose statistical data on all fires that occur in on-campus student housing facilities. To report a fire that has already been extinguished contact Public Safety at 410-955-5585. When calling, please provide as much information as possible about the location, date, time, and cause of the fire.

The University's Policies on Portable Electrical Appliances, Smoking, and Open Flames

Students are informed in the Resident Handbook for the 929 Apartments that guidelines have been established in the interest of individuals' safety and the preservation of the property. At the 929 Apartments, within their handbooks, students are informed that the following portable electrical appliances, flammable liquids and other sources of open flames are not permitted within the facility:
• candles
• space heaters
• incense
• hot plates

Regarding decorating personal space, the following are prohibited:
• items that could create a fire hazard
• hanging of sheets, blankets or any object obstructing emergency evacuation
• hanging posters or other decorations that cover large portions of wall or other surfaces that could present a fire hazard
• anything hung from the sprinkler heads.

Smoking is prohibited in University housing. Specifically, smoking is prohibited inside University housing buildings, including but not limited to, student rooms, suites, lounges, bathrooms, common areas, stairwells, lobbies and elevators.

Residents who smoke must do so outside of the building and must be far enough away from the building that smoke will not filter into the building via exterior doors, windows or the building ventilation systems.

Full cooperation with these policies is expected. Any violation of these policies will result in disciplinary action.

Fire Safety Education and Training

Students, faculty, and staff are provided education on fire safety and information on how to report a fire, or evidence of a fire, to whom, and procedures to be followed for non-residential buildings on campus when a fire alarm signals.

Each building has fire evacuation plans posted in common areas. All students and employees are encouraged to become familiar with the escape routes for all buildings and floors and the locations of fire extinguishers, hoses and alarms. In the event of a fire or evacuation, every student and employee should follow the fire safety evacuation route and vacate the premises until the officials in charge declare the premises safe to enter. Exits and areas around fire extinguishers must be kept clear at all times. Periodic fire safety inspections and drills are held to test equipment and procedures.

Any Plans for Improving Fire Safety

JHU continues to monitor its life safety systems. There are no future improvements currently planned. Training and fire safety information is reviewed on an annual basis.

Harbor East Campus

Background
Johns Hopkins University Carey Business School is located in the Legg Mason building situated in the Harbor East area of Baltimore. The school occupies 150,000 square feet of space on seven floors. The first floor serves as an entrance to the school. The second floor contains classrooms, breakout spaces for students and faculty, group study rooms, a library, and offices. There are no student organizations that have sanctioned off campus housing facilities. Student Services and Student Commons are located on the 5th floor along with staff offices. The 6th, 12th and 13th floors house offices for the dean, faculty and staff. On the 24th floor there are classrooms and a student study space. The Legg Mason building serves 1075 full-time students and 579 part-time students. There are 170 full and part-time staff located at the Legg Mason building.

Reporting Crimes and Other Emergencies
Crime and safety concerns may be reported to Security by calling Campus emergency at 410-234-9300 or 911. To report non-emergency safety concerns, contact Campus Security at 410-234-9301. Uniformed officers are accessible to anyone wishing to report any incident during the Center’s operating hours. The prompt reporting of crime is encouraged through various publications and program reminders.

Campus Law Enforcement
Security Officers are on duty during all operating hours in order to respond to emergencies and incidents. Detailed reports on security matters are submitted to the Center Director. There are non-sworn security officers, who do not have arrests powers, who enforce University policy. The security officers attend training sessions as well as in-service training sessions offered by Homewood Campus Safety and Security, including Clery training. The Harbor East Campus building utilizes contract guard service to ensure that the building is adequately covered. Johns Hopkins Public Safety maintains the web site https://publicsafety.jhu.edu/ for the daily publication of crimes known to have occurred on campus and on public property contiguous to the campus at the Harbor East Campus. This web site, accessible through the University home page (www.jhu.edu), also provides crime prevention information and personal safety tips. A daily crime log is available for review during normal business hours at the first floor lobby security desk. The security officers have jurisdiction to operate on JHU owned or controlled property.

Excellent relationships are maintained with local law enforcement agencies and Johns Hopkins Public Safety. A close working relationship is maintained with Legg Mason building security as well as the Baltimore Police Department (“BPD”) and in any serious or criminal incident at the Harbor East building, the BPD would be the primary investigative agency. The perimeter of the building is patrolled by Harbor East security.

Information regarding criminal incidents and other security-related matters is provided annually to Johns Hopkins Public Safety. All criminal activity is reported to the BPD. Emergency phones are located in the lobby of student populated floors for them to have immediate access to security. When a call is received the security team responds immediately to that location.

The University’s policies, on the University’s website (https://www.jhu.edu/university-policies/), concerning substance abuse and sexual misconduct information are commonly found in University catalogs and other widely circulated documents.
Security of Campus Facilities
The Harbor East campus is open Monday through Thursday, 7:30 AM to 10:00 PM, Friday 7:30 AM to 6:00 PM, and closed Saturday and Sunday. Students and visitors enter through the first floor lobby area. Students must present their J-card to the Public Safety office at the front desk. Visitors must present identification to the security officer. Daily, security is given Visitor Information forms that include contact information on whom they are visiting prior to gaining entry. Faculty and staff members are issued an access card, granting them access to specified areas. Doors are controlled by access control cards, thus preventing unauthorized persons from gaining access to restricted areas. There are 80 cameras located throughout the seven floors of the school. These cameras are being monitored by Public Safety during normal business hours. Public Safety can also monitor access card usage, tracking individual cards, individual users, and individual doors. Through the access control system Public Safety can further access floor plans allowing them to view what doors are open and what doors are closed. This program allows Public Safety to unlock and/or lock doors in the event of an emergency.

Security officers inspect the entire facility, including classrooms, hallways and administrative offices at regular intervals. Security-related concerns such as lighting, fire safety, equipment security, and suspicious persons are reported immediately and promptly addressed. An email will be sent if there is need to inform faculty, staff and students of a major incident. Harbor East security officers are not armed.

Maintenance of Campus Facilities
Public Safety encourages recommendations from its faculty, staff, and students for ways to better protect the community as may be needed. Security is taken into consideration in the maintenance of the facilities by scheduling periodic rounds by the Campus Director and CPOs to assess the safety conditions in the Center. A collaborative effort with the building engineer to report any hazardous conditions to the security team is completed daily. The Harbor East Campus does not have any officially recognized student organizations that own or control off campus housing facilities and therefore does not monitor off campus criminal activity.

Campus Safety Awareness Programs
Crime prevention and other security services offered by the Carey Business School at Harbor East include:
- Escort service to parking garages is available during business hours to students, faculty and staff.
- Information, guest speakers, etc. is provided to staff to promote security education and awareness.
- Bulletins are circulated to students, faculty and staff regarding matters of immediate security concern.
- Contacts are maintained with local, State and Federal law enforcement agencies, as well as Johns Hopkins Public Safety and Legg Mason Security.
- Orientation (Representatives from Johns Hopkins Public Safety conduct a presentation.)

Crime Prevention and Security Presentations
JHU offers crime prevention and security awareness programs during orientations. Students and employees are encouraged to be responsible for their own safety and to contact security to report any suspicious behavior.

Emergency Response and Prevention Procedures
In the event of an emergency, the building’s fire alarm system will be activated that relays a message to evacuate the building depending on the floor of impact and all elevators will be automatically deactivated. Once
Public Safety identifies the alarm they must call the first floor front desk of the Legg Mason lobby to gather more information. If unable to reach the lobby, Public Safety must call the Harbor East Command Center at 410-665-0019 (this number is located at both security post). At this point, the Senior Associate Dean for Finance and Administration is contacted imme-diately, informing him/her of the pending emergency.

If evacuation is deemed necessary for the Carey Business School respective floors, the 1st and 2nd floor Public Safety should remain at their post sites to assist all students, staff, faculty and visitors to the nearest emergency exit. During this time, the roving Public Safety officer proceeds to vacate all work and study spaces on the 1st and 2nd floors and secures the doors behind them. The remaining floors (5th, 6th, 12th, 13th and 24th floors) have designated floor marshals to assist with evacuation on their respective floor. Everyone is directed by Public Safety to meet at the designated gathering point. During this time, a Rave alert is sent to students, faculty, and staff.

If for any reason someone is unable to vacate the building, they are instructed to wait in the stairwell for assistance. Public Safety must record the location and proceed with their evacuation. Once all of the remaining spaces are clear, Public Safety must inform the fire department and the Director of Campus Operations of the respective locations.

The annual unannounced evacuations of the entire Legg Mason building have occurred on October 3rd in 2018 and 2019. During the evacuations, Public Safety along with the fire marshals, vacate all floors occupied by the Carey Business School. Students, faculty, and staff are directed to a designated gathering point. All evacuations of the building are documented by Public Safety in an incident report. The Rave notification system is tested on the 2nd and 4th Thursday of each month.

HATE CRIMES STATISTICS

Applied Physics Laboratory

Background
The Applied Physics Laboratory ("APL"), a division of JHU, is located on a 412-acre complex in Howard County, Maryland. The campus-like setting employs about 7,789 part-time and full-time staff members. APL provides a vast array of scientific energies in numerous disciplines for the U.S. Government, mainly the Department of the Navy. Designated as a “Prime Contractor” operating under the security cognizance of NAVSEA and the Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency (DCSA), APL is involved in many task assignments vital to national defense. In addition to defense research, APL maintains strong academic relationships with other divisions of JHU through joint programs, seminars, exchange of lecturers and fellowships. The Whiting School of Engineering in partnership with the Applied Physics Laboratory, offers on-site Engineering for Professionals graduate classes to over 198 non-APL students. The following programs offer classes at the Applied Physics Laboratory: Applied Biomedical Engineering, Applied and Computational Mathematics, Applied Physics, Civil Engineering, Computer Science, Cybersecurity, Electrical and Computer Engineering, Engineering Management, Information Systems Engineering, Materials Science and Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Space Systems Engineering, Systems Engineering, and Technical Management.

Reporting Crimes and Other Emergencies
Crime and safety concerns may be reported to the Security Services Department by calling the emergency numbers 443-778-7575 or 911. Uniformed officers are accessible to anyone wishing to report any incident during the Center’s operating hours. The prompt reporting of crime is encouraged through various publications and program reminders.

Security of Campus Facilities
The Kossiakoff Conference and Education Center is open and staffed by an APL security officer during normal business hours and when classes or events are being held at the center. The APL Main campus can be accessed by authorized personnel 24 hours each day, seven days a week through Lobby One. The Security Services Department ("SECD") is tasked to ensure the safety of the staff, to protect the APL facility and property and to instruct and assist staff members in preventing unauthorized disclosure of classified information to individuals who are not properly cleared or who do not have a need-to-know. The latter is in accordance with National Industrial Security Program Operating Manual (attachment to DD form 441). Whenever unusual security situations develop which vary from the written established guidance, the SECD should be contacted.

The SECD supervises and directs the physical and personnel security program at APL, promulgates necessary written and verbal presentations to ensure proper safeguarding of classified information at APL and at field test sites and coordinates all visit requests. The Campus is patrolled by Security 24 hours/7 days a week. The SECD is an integral part of APL’s overall security program. In addition to their duties of loss prevention, the Security Group performs daily security inspections to ensure that classified material is properly safeguarded.

The SECD is made up of 79 non-sworn officers who have jurisdiction on APL owned and controlled property and enforce APL policies. This force is supplemented by two armed off duty law enforcement officers. Reports of irregularities and after-hours security infractions are submitted to the Security Office for corrective action. Although the SECD does not have arrest powers, it enjoys an excellent relationship with the Howard County Police Department (“HCPD”) and in any serious or major criminal incident on the APL campus, the HCPD would be the primary investigative agency. The SECD would serve in a support role in assisting in the investigation. The APL does not have any officially-sanctioned off campus locations and therefore does not monitor off campus criminal activity.

The Clery regulations are reviewed by the security managers and disseminated to the appropriate staff at APL. In emergency situations involving the limited amount of students attending classes at APL, several options to notify them are available. Personal notification by a SECD officer, phone contact directly to the affected classroom, as well as the public address system are used for ensuring information reaches the appropriate people. Other SECD responsibilities include:

- Liaison with Federal and local law enforcement agencies, including the HCPD, with whom an excellent relationship is maintained.
- Monitoring of all security surveillance equipment to include fire, perimeter and classified area alarms, CCTV and access control systems.
- Enforcing parking regulations.
- Assisting motorists to start their cars when requested.
- Providing after-hours escort service to the parking lots.
- Providing Visitor Control functions for classified meetings.
- Escorting cleared as well as un-cleared personnel when required.
- Providing security and escort protection when classified material is in transit.
- Supervising property being hand-carried into or out of APL.
- Conducting security and safety inspections.
- Administering basic first aid and CPR as required after hours

The SECD conducts an in-house review of all Departments and Sectors to evaluate their respective security posture. These reviews occur throughout the year. Staff interviews are conducted during the reviews to gauge overall staff security awareness. A detailed findings report noting all vulnerabilities discovered during the assessment is provided to APL management and mitigation actions for vulnerabilities must be reported.

APL provides an anonymous Compliance Hotline for staff to report concerns regarding APL policy, contract obligations, or laws and regulations. The Compliance Hotline is managed by an independent organization and can be reached by calling 1-888-266-7593 or 1-888-COMPLY3.

Maintenance of Campus Facilities

The SECD conducts weekly inspections of the perimeter lighting and reports any deficiencies to APL’s Facilities Maintenance and Operations Group for corrective action. Any structural or infrastructure deficiencies are also addressed by this group. Facilities Maintenance has a Service Call system that staff can utilize to report any issues.

Campus Safety Awareness Programs

The SECD is able to notify all students, staff and faculty who attend the Whiting School of Engineering of emergencies at the APL through the mass e-mail system.

APL provides mandatory online security training each year to all staff. In addition, the SECD issues quarterly Security Bulletins via e-mail, posts security reminders throughout the Laboratory, and maintains a website on APL’s internal network.

The SECD posts security awareness and updates on an as needed basis to the APL internal website.

The SECD also maintains a website on APL’s internal network.

Crime Prevention and Security Presentations

Each of the 12 APL Departments has a designated Department Security Representative (“DSR”) who distributes security-related materials to their respective departments on an as-needed basis and who holds an annual security refresher for each department. The SECD holds a quarterly meeting with all DSRs to discuss any relevant security changes.

All APL staff are required to complete an annual Refresher Compliance and Security Training Course, which provides staff with reminders and updates concerning APL’s compliance and security policies and procedures.

Emergency Response and Prevention Procedures

APL utilizes the Incident Command System (ICS) structure for emergency management. Laboratory-wide emergency response and evacuation procedures/policies are posted in an online policy library where all staff can access them. APL also has an Emergency homepage on the internal internet where all emergency response procedures are listed for staff to access. Procedures include information on evacuations, reporting medical emergencies, active assailant procedures, shelter-in-place, and lockdowns. In an emergency situation, staff would contact an emergency line at the SECD security console. SECD staff would then notify 911 as appropriate.

APL conducts annual fire alarm and evacuation exercises which are unannounced. Tests are conducted by building. Over the course of 8 days in March 2021, an active assailant exercise was conducted in 45 buildings. These exercises were able to test both staff ability to respond to mass notifications and the Security Force’s internal processes, procedures, and mass notification equipment performance.

Notifications: Emergency notifications will be made by the Everbridge Notification system, Alertus system, mass e-mail, APL website and the PA system. The Everbridge system sends notifications to cell phones, office phones and home phones. The system is tested weekly and periodic unannounced tests. The Alertus system which provides network notifications of emergency incidents to desktop and laptop computers and Cisco phones. The message must be acknowledged prior to using the system. There are annual tests of the PA system are conducted on a monthly basis. Exterior emergency notifications are made by the Eaton WAVES Mass Notification System with exterior speakers positioned throughout campus.

Information about Registered Sex Offenders

In Maryland, convicted sex offenders must register with the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services. A listing of sex offenders in Maryland is available at the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services website, at https://www.community-notification.com/cap_main.php?office=56622

HATE CRIMES STATISTICS

The Hate Crime statistics are crimes where the offender was motivated to commit the offense because of his/her bias against the victim’s race, religion, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, ethnicity, national origin, or disability.

There were no reported Hate Crimes for the years 2019, 2020, or 2021.

UNFOUNDED CRIME STATISTICS

A crime is considered unfounded for Clery Act purposes if a sworn or commissioned law enforcement personnel make a formal determination that the report is false or baseless.

There were no unfounded crimes reported for the years 2019, 2020, or 2021.
The Applied Physics Laboratory is a commuter campus with no residence halls, dormitories or noncampus buildings or property. Additional information may be obtained from: Group Supervisor – Facilities Security, Security Services Department, Applied Physics Laboratory, 11100 Johns Hopkins Road, Laurel, MD 20723-6099, 443-778-7575

Due to new guidance from the U.S. Department of Education, Sexual Assaults, Domestic Violence, Dating Violence and Stalking are no longer included in the hierarchy rule, which means multiple offenses that occur in one incident are reported in the institution’s Clery statistics.

Washington Centers

Background
The Johns Hopkins University Carey Business School, the Zanvyl Krieger School of Arts and Sciences (“KSAS”), and the Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies (“SAIS”) (collectively, the “Washington Centers”) offer programs at four building locations along the 1600 and 1700 blocks of Massachusetts Avenue, N.W. in Washington, D.C. The buildings are open a minimum of normal business hours Monday through Friday and at other times to accommodate scheduled classes and activities. Faculty, staff, and students may also be granted after-hours access to buildings by Campus Safety and Security officers for study, research, or other legitimate purposes. The school is closed on University holidays. Closing times are listed in catalogues and posted periodically.

The Carey Business School has staff offices and classrooms on the first and second floors at 1625 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W. and has administrative and Student Services offices in 1717 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W. on the 3rd floor. The Carey Business School offers an average of 130 classes each semester. Approximately 30 staff and faculty members are employed at this facility. In addition, approximately 120 full-time and practitioner faculty teach at 1625 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W.

KSAS joins other divisions offering mostly graduate education close to the Dupont Circle metro station, at 1717 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W. Full-time faculty offices and administrative staff offices and classrooms are located on the 1st, 2nd, 4th and parts of the 6th and 8th floors. A few undergraduate courses are also offered during the day at this location. 1717 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W. is a commuter facility and has no residence halls or dormitories. Twenty-six classrooms, an executive seminar room, three computer laboratories, a library resource center, a student lounge, a faculty lounge and administrative and faculty offices are located in approximately 52,000 sq. ft. located on five floors of an eight-story building.

KSAS Advanced Academic Programs offers approximately 216 D.C.-based classes each year with over 625 students per semester. Thirty seven full-time administrative staff and 26 full-time faculty have offices on site. Approximately 153 adjunct faculty travel to and from the center to teach during the year. Public transportation is close by, although faculty and students may elect to park at Federal Parking in this building, located at 1717 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W.

SAIS is a small campus of two 60,000 square foot buildings, located in the Dupont Circle area of Washington, D.C. The two buildings that comprise SAIS are located at 1619 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., 1740 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., and the 5th, 7th and parts of the 3rd and 6th floors of 1717 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W. on “Embassy Row.” The campus consists of the immediate property on which each building stands.

Reporting Crimes and Other Emergencies
Crime and safety concerns may be reported to the D.C. Campus Command Center by calling the emergency numbers 202-663-5808 or police at 911. Uniformed security officers are accessible to anyone wishing to report any incident. The prompt reporting of crime is Public Safety would serve in a support role in assisting in the investigation. Relationships with the D.C. Fire Department and MPD are excellent. Public Safety does not have a written memorandum of understanding pertaining to the investigation of criminal incidents with MPD or any other law enforcement agency.

Security information and University policies are available from the University website, and KSAS Advanced Academic Programs catalog. Johns Hopkins Public Safety Department maintains the website https://publicsafety.jhu.edu for the daily publication of crimes known to have occurred on campus, in University-owned buildings, and on public property contiguous to the campus. This web site, accessible through the University home page (www.jhu.edu), also provides crime prevention information and personal safety tips. A daily crime log is available for review during normal business hours in the Berstein-Offit Building Security Operations Center on the 8th floor. Excellent relations are maintained with local law enforcement agencies and Johns Hopkins Public Safety. The Washington Center does not have any officially-sanctioned off campus locations and therefore does not monitor off campus criminal activity.

Security and Access of Centers Facilities

Public Safety mans a communication center on the 8th floor of the Berstein-Offit Building. This facility, named the Security Operations Center, is staffed 24 hours a day with security officers who are responsible for taking calls and dispatching requests for security-related services, monitoring of the CCTV cameras mounted in and around the Washington D.C. Centers, and fire alarms on University properties, and maintaining constant communications with the Washington D.C. Police and Fire Departments.

As the Carey Business School leases space in the building, its staff works with non-JHU management, building maintenance staff, housekeeping, and building management to maintain the facility. All emergency and non-emergency incidents that take place within areas administered by the Carey Business School are reported to the Associate Dean of Finance and Administration, the Director of Operations of the Carey Business School and the building’s lobby attendant, who reports to the building’s chief engineer. Evacuation routes are posted on all floors of the building. Upkeep and maintenance, especially in security-related areas such as locks, windows and lighting, are promptly addressed. Security and/or safety related matters in areas administered by the Carey Business School are addressed to the Front Desk staff located in suite 100 on the first floor and to the building lobby attendant. Crimes are reported to the MPD. A public telephone is also located in the first floor lobby. An operations coordinator and a security officer are normally available in the first floor suite during evening classes to provide information and assistance.

Generally, the KSAS location at 1717 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W. is open for students, faculty and visitors Monday through Saturday during normal business hours. Full-time staff and faculty have security card access to the premises at all times.
The administrative staff works with non-JHU building management, housekeeping, maintenance, garage operations and security provided under a University contract. Upkeep and maintenance of security-related areas, such as locks, windows and lighting are reported to the building engineer. A contract, uniformed officer, who does not have arrest powers, greets students, staff and faculty, tenants and visitors in the lobby to allow entrance and egress from the building. Students, faculty and staff show the J-Card for access. Those who do not have a J-Card, sign in with identification at the officer’s desk in the lobby.

The building is open seven days a week. University holidays are listed in semester schedules and on the JHU website. There is a security officer at the main lobby during normal operating hours. The building management maintains security cameras throughout the building.

At SAIS, the Nitze Building at 1740 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W. has a security officer/fire watch on duty 24 hours a day from Sunday at 7:00 AM through Friday at 11:00 PM and Saturday from 7:00 AM to 11:00 PM. For more information about building hours visit https://sais.jhu.edu/washington-dc

At the Rome Building at 1619 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W. there is a security guard on duty in the lobby during normal working hours. However, faculty and full-time staff have access to either building at all times. The Facilities Department is responsible for the upkeep and operations of the two buildings including, but not limited to, heating, cooling and cleanliness.

SAIS provides information on on-campus criminal incidents through e-mail and weekly and annual publications.

Security services offered by SAIS include:

- Free van service during the fall and spring semesters to transport students to nearby Metro stations and to student living accommodations within two miles of the SAIS buildings when required. This van “delivery” service is available most evenings and scheduled runs occur at 7:30 PM, 8:30 PM, 10:00 PM and 11:15 PM.
- Facilities staff and/or security personnel will escort (upon request) members to faculty and staff cars in the limited surface or underground parking facilities.
- Video monitors the interior and exterior locations around the building.
- Identification cards (J-cards) are issued to faculty, staff and students to gain access to the front and rear doors; and limited access to the garage door of the Rome building.
- Hourly rounds by the lobby attendant in the Nitze building when the building is closed.
- The Rome building is under security alarm system after 11:00 PM and on weekends.
- Security presentations are held as required at new student orientation sessions and informational briefings. The student handbook contains statements on violence.
- Faculty and staff receive security information from the Human Resources Office. Special bulletins are circulated when threatening security matters arise.
- Visible security presence in building lobbies.
- Visitor passes are issued for visitors and color-coded passes are issued to vendors visiting a building and/or providing an onsite service.

Maintenance of Centers Facilities

Public Safety encourages recommendations from its members, faculty, staff and students for ways to better protect the Washington Centers community as may be needed. The department takes security into consideration in the maintenance of JHU facilities by encouraging proactive patrols by Public Safety officers and conducting campus inspections with a member of the engineering department. Cooperative efforts and communication is the keystone of providing the best possible security services to the Washington D.C. Campus. The Director of Security attends scheduled staff meetings with all schools represented at the Washington Centers to gather updated information and address their concerns. Facilities and landscaping are typically maintained in a manner that minimizes hazardous conditions. Students are continually encouraged by staff and Public Safety to report equipment problems or safety issues to Campus Security or to Facilities Management directly.

Centers Safety Awareness Programs

New initiatives and security procedures are passed along to the schools at the Washington Centers by the Director of Security. Student Affairs representatives from each school have been instrumental in passing along new security initiatives and procedures to the student population. The Director of Security attends monthly staff meetings at all three schools where security related information is conveyed to the representative school staff members. During the 2021-2022 academic year, JHU offered approximately 10 crime prevention and security awareness programs. All crime prevention and security programs encourage students and employees to be responsible for their own security.

SAIS students and employees are informed about campus security procedures and practices and advised about personal safety and crime prevention at least once per year, during the initial orientation week in September by the Director of Operations/CIO. The SAIS website also contains campus security procedures and this information is emailed to students during the academic year. Crime prevention measures provided at the Carey Business School include:

- Visible security presence in the lobby of the building;
- Visible security presence in suite 100;
- Video monitors of the 1st and 2nd floors, and the program suite areas;
- Video monitors of alley and garage entrances;
- Electronic HID proximity access system on the front door, garage entrance door and elevators operational during non-business hours, suite 206 (Carey space) and the program suite at all times.

Datawatch Systems records related to access to the building/key access areas are maintained by and available from the building’s chief engineer; JHU identification cards are issued to students; Bulletin boards containing current announcements and general information;

- Underground parking for faculty, staff and students; and
- Underground parking established in cooperation with a nearby commercial garage for students, staff and faculty.

- LiveSafe Mobile App, which offers students and staff the ability to report tips, request emergency assistance and request SafeWalk. To download this app visit the SAIS website at https://publicsafety.jhu.edu/resource-services/livesafe-app/

Crime Prevention and Security Presentations

An annual orientation briefing covers topics such as personal safety, reporting suspicious activity, emergency procedures, Campus Security capabilities, and contact information.

Emergency Response and Prevention Procedures

In an emergency situation, Carey Business School faculty or staff should contact 911.

Students in the KSAS Advanced Academic Program are guided to report emergency and non-emergency incidents via a student information guide distributed each semester. Notification of emergency information can be disseminated by email to students, faculty and staff. The KSAS Advanced Academic Programs web page is updated with pertinent information for students and faculty. Security Officers are instructed to call 911 for crimes and emergencies. A phone is available for emergencies at the lobby desk and the front desk of the administrative office, as well as the 4th floor faculty lounge. A phone on the 2nd and 4th floors adjacent to elevators and stairwells connects directly to the lobby security officer to report emergencies.

In the event of an emergency within the SAIS facility, Campus Security will notify leadership. The Senior Dean of Finance and Operations is immediately advised of the situation and will initiate emergency response directives.

In addition to the emergency notifications from all three schools representative of the Washington Centers to their students and staff, notification will be made to Campus Security. This information will be immediately passed on to the Senior Associate Dean of Operations for SAIS. A decision will then be made between the Director of Security and the Senior Associate Dean as to which emergency procedure to enact. This emergency procedure can either entail a shelter in place combined with lockdown procedures or an evacuation of the facilities.

Notifications: Emergency notifications will be made via the Rave alert system, mass email, school website and overhead building page systems.

The Washington Centers conducted 6 fire drills in 2020 and 2021. All the drills were unannounced.

Upon completion of the evacuation test, Public Safety will document the date, time, whether it was announced or unannounced, and any critiques and recommendations following the evacuation drill. All documentation of the evacuation drills will be retained in the security office.

Information regarding the emergency procedure guidelines for the Washington Centers schools will be disseminated to the students through the individual school websites and through mass email.

Information about Registered Sex Offenders

HATE CRIMES STATISTICS

The Hate Crime statistics are crimes where the offender was motivated to commit the offense because of his/her bias against the victim’s race, religion, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, ethnicity, national origin, or disability.

There were no reported Hate Crimes for the years 2020 and 2021.

2019: Two hate crime reported

• Two Aggravated Assaults reported on public property characterized by a race bias.

UNFOUNDED CRIME STATISTICS

A crime is considered unfounded for Clery Act purposes if a sworn or commissioned law enforcement personnel make a formal determination that the report is false or baseless.

There were no unfounded crimes reported for the years of 2019, 2020 or 2021.

The Washington Centers are commuter facilities with no residence halls or dormitories.

Due to new guidance from the U.S. Department of Education, Sexual Assaults, Domestic Violence, Dating Violence and Stalking are no longer included in the hierarchy rule, which means multiple offenses that occur in one incident are reported in the institution’s Clery statistics.
SAIS Europe, Bologna, Italy

Background
SAIS Europe is a full-time, non-resident graduate school situated in the historic area of Bologna, a thriving city in northern Italy, within driving distance of Venice, Milan, Florence, and Rome. SAIS Europe occupies a five-story building (The Bologna Center, or “Center”) on Via Andreatta 3, a suite of offices in Via Andreatta 7 (next door to the main building) which contains the Business and Technology Services (BaTS) as well as work and meeting space for visiting professors (the Adjunctory), and a suite of offices in Via Zanolini 15 (about 300 yards from the main building), which houses the Language Department. The Center’s 5th floor penthouse has a terrace with a large conference room, four small conference rooms, and a dining and food preparation area. An auditorium and a snack bar are located on the 1st floor as is a library, which spans part of the 1st and 2nd floors. There are a total of 49 offices, 9 classrooms and a language lab.

The Center is open to the general public during normal business hours on weekdays, and is closed on Saturday and Sunday. The Library, which is situated inside the Center facility, has the following operating hours for students:

- Mon - Thurs: 8:30 AM to 11:00 PM
- Friday: 8:30 AM to 10:00 PM
- Saturday: 10:00 AM to 10:00 PM
- Sunday: 10:00 AM to 10:00 PM

The Center is open to the general public during normal BaTS and the Adjunctory are located on the ground floor of a residential building just to the left of the main building. Students arrive there by exiting the main building, turning right and walking about 40 yards, then another right into the Andreatta 07 courtyard. BaTS is the first door on the right, the Adjunctory on the left. The areas in and around this location are covered by centrally controlled CCTV cameras and access is only allowed with JHU badges.

The SAIS Language Faculty (consisting of seven offices) is on the 3rd floor of an office building approximately two blocks from the main Center. It is not open to the public and no classes are held in this location. Students occasionally visit faculty during office hour and engage in work study programs. Access to the building is gained through a gated front entrance, through a courtyard area to the front door of the building. Once inside there are stairs leading to the language department lobby door. The gate entrance and front door are opened by a buzzer control from inside each of the offices. These entrances are monitored by a CCTV enabling the staff member opening the gate and front door to see who is being granted access. The 3rd floor lobby door (which is kept locked) needs to be physically opened by a staff member. The building’s elevator is restricted from stopping at the 3rd floor (staff members have a key to allow the elevator to the 3rd floor when needed). Fire exits are clearly marked as well as a host of other precautions for the safety of staff and students.

Both of the above locations are surveilled by private security outside of office hours, and a security guard

Approximately 185 students attend classes per academic year representing up to 40 countries. Each year, about 50 percent are from the United States. Of these students, several Arts & Sciences undergraduate students are enrolled in the “Junior Year Abroad” program at SAIS Europe. This is a commuter campus and housing is the responsibility of the students, who generally rent apartments in the area. SAIS Europe does not have any officially-sanctioned noncampus locations, including those with student organizations with noncampus housing facilities, and therefore does not monitor off campus criminal activity.

SAIS Europe is headed by a Director and operates under the same policies and guidelines as SAIS in Washington, D.C., to the extent that Italian law and business practice allows.
Reporting Crimes and Other Emergencies

Crime may be reported to State Police by calling the emergency number 112. The prompt reporting of crime is encouraged through various publications and program reminders.

Security and Access of Facilities

SAIS Europe maintains excellent rapport with the local authorities with an open line of communication and a history of effective and fruitful collaboration. They have agreed to provide additional security in the event of political turmoil or times of anti-American sentiment. Due to the relative nonexistence of serious crime on the campus, the administration has not had to avail themselves significantly of the local police services. Petty crimes are reported to the authorities by telephone, fax or in person and all appropriate reports are compiled either at the Bologna Center or at the local police head-quarters. A closed-circuit television and a receptionist whose office faces the front door monitors the front entranceway. In the event of any abnormal activity or entry of unauthorized persons, the receptionist alerts management. During non-business hours, the Center is patrolled by a private security agency. The security officers are non-sworn and does not have any arrest powers. A custodial staff member resides in the building and is present during the day and most evenings. When the library remains open past normal business hours, the staff locks up upon leaving. In the event of criminal activity, faculty, staff and students would be informed of all relevant details through the Director of Finance and Administration, who is responsible for the security of SAIS Europe facilities. Should a student at SAIS Europe require or feel a need for counseling, they have access to a local, English-speaking, licensed psychologist.

After being open to the public for almost 50 years, SAIS Europe has taken a number of steps to restrict access to the facility and to increase perimeter surveillance. While there have been no specific threats against SAIS Europe, the administration recognizes that as one of the few U.S. activities in the area, SAIS Europe must increase its awareness and tighten its security, at least for the time being. Therefore, additional security cameras (with 24-hour recording) have been added to cover a greater area of the building perimeter, and split-screen monitors have been installed at the front desk, in the Library, at the Snack Bar, and in the Custodian’s apartment. In addition, a proximity card reader system has been installed at a number of key entryways throughout the building, and students and staff have been issued programmable access cards. Members of the general public must ring a doorbell and identify themselves to the video camera before they are granted access. Guests with business on the upper floors of the facility who do not have JHU or University of Bologna ID must register at the front desk and are issued a temporary visitor ID. A private security firm has been engaged to cover the front desk in the evenings. Significant landscaping work has been done in the front of the building to create a more open space with less area for loitering or hiding. Blast proof laminate has been applied to front windows to increase the safety of those inside the building.

Given the nature of the SAIS Europe program, with a relatively tight geographic concentration of its students and limited dispersion (all students live within walking or biking distance of the Center), emergencies are usually handled on a personal basis. For immediate notification purposes during an emergency when it is necessary to communicate with the entire class/building occupants, email is used as well as a broadcast text messaging system. Additionally, the Center was completely renovated in 2006/2007, and currently meets all Europe-wide mandated safety and disability access requirements.
This includes clear marking of fire exits, extinguishers, seismic compliance, and a host of other precautions for the safety of staff and students. All side exit doors have panic bars so that it is easy to exit during an emergency. In SAIS Europe’s crisis response plan, specific personnel have been designated to assist with evacuation to ensure that everyone is evacuated from the premises. A specific area outside the complex has been designated as a meeting place for evacuees.

Maintenance of SAIS Europe Facilities
SAIS Europe is required by Italian and European Community law to have in place a formal safety infrastructure, which includes nominating management and labor safety representatives. This legally mandated process includes extensive staff training on fire safety, evacuation, first responder, and other emergency treatments, as well as the installation and upkeep of alarms, evacuation signage, fire and flood equipment, and other infrastructure throughout our facility. SAIS Europe’s insurance underwriter also inspects SAIS Europe’s facilities periodically to ensure that the highest standards of safety are met. Finally, the Center’s Facilities Maintenance coordinator lives in the building, and works with subcontractors and maintenance consultants to ensure that the campus facilities are safe and comfortable for students, faculty and staff, and that they comply with all applicable regulations.

Safety Awareness Programs
During Orientation, students are provided with Student Welcome Packets; these packets include an “Evacuation Flyer” that includes maps, lists evacuation instructions, and provides students with contact information for police as well as local and internal emergency numbers.

Crime Prevention and Security Presentations
As part of Orientation, all students receive a PowerPoint presentation on safety and security both via email and through an in-person discussion. Students receive the same PowerPoint a month later in advance of the “Opening Ceremony” and are again presented with a short speech concerning safety and security. Students receive the presentation once again at the beginning of the spring semester and are encouraged to refresh their understanding of the steps they can take towards safety and security. All crime prevention and security awareness programs encourage students and employees to be responsible for their own security.

Emergency Response and Prevention Procedures
At the beginning of each academic year, SAIS provides all Bologna campus students with a flier containing Center evacuation procedures and contact information. They also receive both an email and a briefing at orientation that reinforces the safety procedures, as well as an indication that the Administration will conduct at least one unannounced “fire drill” per year. SAIS Europe is required by Italian law to evaluate and document the unannounced evacuation test(s); documentation is prepared by the SAIS Safety Committee and provided to SAIS Europe’s safety consultant, but is not made publically available. In addition, the campus is required to provide a document, “Documento Valutazione Rischi” (DVR), that catalogues all possible health and safety risks to its employees and students, the creation and updating of which is managed by a legally mandated committee composed of an employer safety representative, a labor union safety representative, and a medical doctor (its structure is primarily aimed at worker and student occupational safety, not criminal security).

Hopkins-Nanjing Center, Nanjing, China

Background
The Johns Hopkins University–Nanjing University Center for Chinese and American Studies (“Hopkins-Nanjing Center” or “Center”) is a joint-venture educational institution located in a Nanjing University compound adjacent to the University’s urban Gulou campus in Nanjing, China. The street address of the Center is 162 Shang-hai Road, Gulou District, Nanjing 210008. The Center offers two full-time residential graduate-level programs: a Master of Arts in International Studies and a graduate certificate in Chinese and American Studies.

Established in 1986, the Center is jointly managed by American and Chinese co-directors who are hired by, and represent, their respective parent institutions.

The Center faculty consists of 8 non-Chinese professors hired by JHU, and up to 30 Chinese professors hired by Nanjing University. The Center’s administrative staff comprises four Americans and nine Chinese citizens. Library, housekeeping, physical plant, maintenance, and cafeteria personnel total 50, all Chinese nationals. Janitorial and physical security services are provided by a building management company that employs 24 personnel on site.

The Center facility consists of approximately 200,000 square feet of floor space in two connected U-shaped buildings (a newer, 10-story “East” building and an older, five-story “West” building) comprising an interior courtyard, a 100-room student dormitory, five floors of faculty, staff, and guest apartments (34 apartments in total), a cafeteria, a library, two auditoriums, five classrooms, five conference rooms, 30 faculty offices, nine administration offices, an underground parking garage, four rooftop terraces, two laundry rooms, a student lounge, a recreation center (billiards, ping pong, and music rooms), a fitness room, a student computer room, and an outdoor basketball court.

The Center is situated in a Nanjing University compound at the northwest corner of the Nanjing University’s Gulou campus. It shares roughly one city block with three other Nanjing University entities: the Foreign Students Department (two buildings), the Sciences Laboratories (one building), and the School of Business (one building). The compound is bordered on all four sides by Nanjing city streets and is separated from them by walls and fences. The Center does not have any officially-sanctioned off campus locations.

There are two main entrances into the Nanjing University compound: one entrance primarily for vehicles, and one entrance primarily for pedestrians. The vehicle entrance is manned around the clock and provides electronic gated vehicle access to surface and underground parking. Pedestrian and bicycle traffic can also enter the compound through pedestrian lanes at this gate. The primary pedestrian entrance is not guarded and is open to pedestrians around the clock. Although it is closed to normal vehicle traffic, it is designed to provide emergency vehicle access to the compound when necessary.

Reporting Crimes and Other Emergencies
Crime may be reported to Nanjing Public Security Bureau by calling the emergency numbers 110. Uniformed office officers are accessible to anyone wishing to report any incident. The prompt reporting of crime is encouraged through various publications and program reminders.

Center Law Enforcement
The Center employs a 14 security guard force around the clock, with at least three security officers on duty at all times. The security officers primary mission is to control access, as well as making hourly inspection rounds of the entire facility, interior and exterior. The security office also have fire suppression and evacuation responsibilities in the event of a fire on the premises.

The security guards are hired and trained by a building management company under contract to the Center. The security officers are certified to have undergone basic training by the Nanjing municipal police, but they are not armed and are not qualified to interdict armed or violent intruders.

The Center relies on the Nanjing University security officers as first responder for the investigation of break-ins or damage to Center property, or for routine situations involving Center participants and the surrounding community. The security office hotline number is 86-25-8359-5110. The Nanjing University security office is staffed by security professionals who have detention authority and are capable of conducting limited investigations on campus, but they are not armed. Campus security does not have the authority to conduct criminal investigations or arrest anyone. They can detain individuals until police arrive. Chinese campuses are closed compounds, and campus security mans access points, conducts fire and public safety patrols throughout campus, and enforces university policies.

In the event of a violent crime on or near campus involving students, faculty, or staff of the Center, the Nanjing University security office and the Nanjing municipal police would be contacted immediately. The Nanjing University security incident hotline is 8359-5110; the Nanjing municipal police crime incident hotline is 110.

Within the municipal police department, the Foreign Affairs (“FA”) Office is responsible for handling incidents involving foreigners. The FA office is subdivided along city district lines, with a specific FA officer assigned to cover each district. In cases involving international Center personnel, the municipal police FA office would be brought in as soon as the involvement of a foreigner was confirmed. The Center maintains excellent rapport with the local authorities and has a long history of effective collaboration with the police official responsible for foreigners in our district.

The Gulou District, in which the Center is situated, is also home to three other major universities with large foreign student populations: Nanjing Normal University, Southeast University, and Hohai University. Given the large concentration of foreign students in their district, the Gulou District municipal police are extremely sensitive to political or social circumstances that might pose a threat to the safety of the foreigners in their charge. In times of high tension in the relations between the United States and China, the municipal police have taken the initiative to increase the security of the Center. After the missile attack on the Chinese embassy in Belgrade, and again after the collision of a U.S. navy aircraft and a Chinese Air Force jet, the municipal police consulted with the joint leadership of the Center to plan for the protection of Center facilities and personnel in the event of violent protests against perceived American assets in China.

Break-ins, thefts, vandalism, or other serious crimes are reported by telephone to the Nanjing University security office and simultaneously to the Center administration (Deputy Director for Administration and the American Deputy Director); the nature of the case determines whether the municipal police will become involved.

Official records of criminal incidents are held by the Nanjing University security office or the municipal police. Official police records are not available to the Center.

Security and Access of Center Facilities
All external doors are fitted with electronic locks to control access to the Center. Center students, faculty, staff, and registered residents are issued key cards for all entrances. At the Shanghai Road entrance to the compound, an external gate with an electronic lock is manned around the clock by security officers who screen guests who wish to enter the Center. Pedestrians using this gate cross a small external courtyard and enter the building through the West Lobby entrance (ground floor), where a reception desk is staffed by reception staff personnel during normal business hours. The receptionist at this desk is trained to greet and direct non-Center individuals who enter the lobby via the west entrance. The West Lobby ground floor entrance, as well as entrances to the lobby from the interior courtyard, are equipped with electronic locks that require key cards for access during hours of darkness.

Access through the East Lobby main entrance is controlled by electronic key card and by reception desk personnel. The East Lobby reception desk is staffed by reception office personnel or a security office during business hours. The reception desk staff controls the doors for non-Center individuals who have business in the building during business hours. After 10:00 PM, non-Center individuals may enter the Center only with the assistance of Center residents or security guards, through the manned gate at the West Lobby entrance. Non-resident guests are required to leave the Center no later than midnight. No unregistered guests are allowed in the Center between the hours of midnight and 8:00 AM daily.

Video Surveillance System

The Center has a CCTV monitoring and recording system composed of 12 infrared-assisted color video cameras that allow for the surveillance of high-priority common areas, including the underground garage, the garage-level stairwell exits, basketball court, and approaches to the Center within the Nanjing University compound. An additional surveillance camera is situated to record unauthorized exits through the library’s emergency exit when that door’s theft alarm is triggered.

Intrusion Detection System

An infrared intrusion detection system is installed on the outside walls of the West building. The older West building has ground-level windows that are designed to be opened to provide ventilation to dormitory rooms, faculty offices, recreation rooms, and the fitness and laundry rooms. Eight sets of window-level infrared-beam sensors are activated at dusk to warn the Center security guards of activity in these areas during the night. The newer East building has no ground-level windows that can be opened.

Interior motion detectors are located in the West building at entrances that are not covered by the exterior infrared sensors, and in the East building at all external door locations.

Maintenance of Center Facilities

The Center routinely cleans and repairs surveillance cameras and infrared sensors, and notifies Nanjing University when university lights in the area need to be replaced or repaired. The Center also routinely checks to ensure that the wall and fence along Beijing West Road and Shanghai Road are in good condition and secure. Students, faculty, and staff are encouraged to notify the maintenance staff if they notice that security lighting (including stairwell and fire exit lights) or electronic locks in any area are broken or malfunctioning.

Center Safety Awareness Programs

The General Handbook issued at the beginning of the orientation week contains a section that describes the Center’s security procedures and gives basic guidance about safety and security in the Center.

Crime Prevention and Security Presentations

The Nanjing Public Security Bureau gave a safety presentation to Center program participants on March 9, 2021. Move-in was delayed due to a large Covid outbreak in China, the administration gave an in-person personal safety and fire safety presentation on November 9, 2021. The presentation covers personal safety issues and risky behaviors (pickpocketing, night-clubbing, etc.) as well as security procedures like locking doors and securing personal property. The presentation also includes advice about how to avoid unsafe situations and explains what a student should do if he or she is the victim of a crime. Periodically throughout the year the administration issues reminders about travel safety and physical security as well, particularly during holiday periods.

Emergency Response and Prevention Procedures

Instructions for student, faculty, and staff responses to security incidents and fires are included in the General Handbook. In the event of a Center-wide emergency, the fire alarm public address system can be used to disseminate information and instructions in all areas of the Center, including the dormitories. In an emergency other than fire, the decision to use the public address system would be made jointly by the Chinese and American co-directors or their representatives. To notify the community about an ongoing emergency, a message will be sent to the community via email and using the mobile messaging platform WeChat. Once an emergency has been identified, designated administrators will compose a message in English and Chinese and disseminate the message to contacts pre-sorted as current HNC students. A fire emergency evacuation drill was conducted on January 18, 2021, announced, March 9, 2021, unannounced, and November 9, 2021, announced.

Because the Center is a self-contained academic and residential compound with administrative office and residential facilities in immediate proximity, all incidents during business hours will immediately involve administration leadership and building security personnel. During non-business hours, American administration leaders are resident in the facility, and the immediate reporting chain between security personnel and administration leadership is maintained. The primary after-hours emergency contact is the Deputy American Co-Director, but all four resident American staff members are on-call for emergencies 24 hours a day.
Missing Student Procedures

If an individual has reason to believe that a residential student has been missing for 24 hours, they should immediately report the situation to American Co-Director at 86.25.8359.2436 for the Hopkins-Nanjing Center. Individuals who are concerned about someone who has not been missing for 24 hours but has failed to return to his/her residence are encouraged to contact the American Co-Director to report the situation.

In addition to registering a general emergency contact, students residing in campus housing will be informed annually that each student has the option to identify one or more confidential missing person contacts. If designated, the missing person contact(s) will be notified by the University no later than 24 hours after the time the student is determined to be missing by either the designated campus official(s) authorized to make that determination or local law enforcement. This confidential information is accessible only to authorized campus officials who have the responsibility of notification as well as law enforcement officers in furtherance of a missing person investigation.

In the case that the missing student is under the age of 18 and not emancipated, his or her custodial parent(s) or guardian(s) will be notified within 24 hours of the determination that the student is missing, in addition to notifying any additional contact person designated by the student.

In all cases, local law enforcement will be notified within 24 hours of the determination that the student is missing even if the student is above the age of 18, is an emancipated minor, or has not provided a missing person contact, unless local law enforcement made the determination that the student was missing. The University will provide the necessary information to assist in locating the missing student.

If the circumstances related to a student’s disappearance appear to be related to foul play, i.e., kidnapping or other criminal acts, then the appropriate notification and actions will be initiated immediately, even if the student has been missing for less than 24 hours.

Information about Registered Sex Offenders

In Nanjing, China sex offender registries are not known to exist.

HATE CRIMES STATISTICS

The Hate Crime statistics are crimes where the offender was motivated to commit the offense because of his/her bias against the victim’s race, religion, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, ethnicity, national origin, or disability.

There were no reported Hate Crimes for the years 2019, 2020, or 2021.

UNFOUNDED CRIME STATISTICS

A crime is considered unfounded for Clery Act purposes if a sworn or commissioned law enforcement personnel make a formal determination that the report is false or baseless.

There were no unfounded crimes reported for the years of 2019, 2020, and 2021.

ANNUAL FIRE SAFETY REPORT

The University provides on-campus student housing facilities at the Hopkins-Nanjing Center in Nanjing, China. Except where specified below, all of these facilities follow the same University-wide policies and procedures for ensuring fire safety.

On-Campus Fire Safety Systems

At the Center, the General Handbook issued at the beginning of the orientation week contains sections that describe the Hopkins-Nanjing Center's fire safety systems and tell students what to do in the event of a fire. In addition, fire safety orientation is provided to all residents by the Nanjing Fire Department during the first-week orientation sessions, and fire drills are conducted once each semester.

Smoke detectors have been installed in each student room to alert residents in case of fire.

At the Center, in addition to smoke detectors and sprinkler systems, all dormitory rooms are equipped with two personal smoke hoods for emergency use. It is unlawful to tamper with this equipment or any other fire safety equipment.

If a fire occurs in a residential building, community members should immediately notify their local campus security office or the local agency emergency services (see contact information on page 3). If campus security is contacted, campus security will initiate a response, and contact the local fire department. If a member of the JHU community finds evidence of a fire that has been extinguished, and the person is not sure whether campus security has already responded, the community member should immediately notify campus security to investigate and document the incident.

Evacuation Procedures for Fire and Number of Mandatory Fire Drills

Procedures Students and Employees Should Follow In Case of a Fire

Your worst enemy during a fire is smoke. If you're surrounded by smoke, get down on the floor and crawl to safety. Hold your breath and close your eyes if you can. Close doors behind you as you escape. Always use stairs to escape. Here are a few simple fire safety tips in case of a fire:

- Learn the location of fire exits and alarm pull stations near you and know the campus security and local agency emergency call number for assistance.
- Sound the fire alarm if you see smoke or detect a burning odor.
- Have a prepared escape plan and know your escape route.
- Remember to remain calm.
- Use exit stairs. Never use elevators.
- Close doors behind you as you escape. In most cases, this will prevent smoke damage and fire from entering the room you are exiting.
- Do not re-enter a fire-damaged building until it has been declared safe.
- If you become trapped, seal off cracks around doors and vents with cloth or rugs. (Soak them in water if possible.)
- Shut off fans and air conditioners.
- Signal for help from a window. If a campus phone is still operational or you have access to a cell phone, call local Campus Security or local agency emergency services.

Additionally, individuals should follow these procedures:

If You See or Smell Fire:

- Remember the acronym RACE:
  R – Remove yourself from contact with smoke or fire.
  A – Alarm – Pull the nearest fire alarm.
  C – Call campus security from a safe location.
  E – Evacuate the building to a safe location.
- Do NOT use elevators.

Procedures Students and Employees Should Follow in Case of Evacuation

Residents are required by law and University policy to evacuate their residences immediately when the fire alarm sounds. Procedures include:

- If you hear the fire alarm sound, you must prepare to evacuate. Students found in the building during an evacuation will be subject to disciplinary action.
- Feel your room door. If it is hot, stay in your room and signal for help from your window. Put a towel under your door.
- If there are no flames or heavy smoke, close your room door behind you and walk quickly to the nearest exit.

• Remain a safe distance from the building until you are told by a member of the administration that you may go back inside.

It is essential for each student to know what to do if and when an evacuation of a complex is necessary; a minimum of one fire evacuation drill is conducted each semester and is mandatory for students.

University Organizations that should be Informed of Fire

The University is required to annually disclose statistical data on all fires that occur in on-campus student housing facilities. Listed below are non-emergency numbers to call to report fires that have already been extinguished. When calling, please provide as much information as possible about the location, date, time, and cause of the fire.

Hopkins-Nanjing Center: Campus Security Authority - 86.25.8359.2436

The University’s Policies on Portable Electrical Appliances, Smoking, and Open Flames

At the Hopkins-Nanjing Center, the following portable electrical appliances and other sources of open flames are not permitted within the facility:
- halogen lamps of any type
- space heaters
- multiple-outlet extension cords without self-contained circuit breaker
- incandescent bulbs in lamps with plastic covers
- cooking appliances
- refrigerators
- fireworks
- candles or incense
- e-cigarettes

Smoking is prohibited in University housing. Specifically, smoking is prohibited inside University housing buildings, including but not limited to, student rooms, suites, lounges, bathrooms, common areas, stairwells, lobbies and elevators.

Residents who smoke must do so outside of the building and must be far enough away from the building that smoke will not filter into the building via exterior doors, windows or the building ventilation systems.

Full cooperation with these policies is expected. Any violation of these policies will result in disciplinary action.

Fire Safety Education and Training

Students, faculty, and staff are provided education on fire safety and information on how to report a fire, or evidence of a fire, to whom, and procedures to be followed for non-residential buildings on campus when a fire alarm signals.

Each building has fire evacuation plans posted in common areas. All students and employees are encouraged to become familiar with the escape routes for all buildings and floors and the locations of fire extinguishers, hoses and alarms. In the event of a fire or evacuation, every student and employee should follow the fire safety evacuation route and vacate the premises until the officials in charge declare the premises safe to enter. Exits and areas around fire extinguishers must be kept clear at all times. Periodic fire safety inspections and drills are held to test equipment and procedures.

Any Plans for Improving Fire Safety

JHU continues to monitor its life safety systems. There are no future improvements currently planned.

Training and fire safety information is reviewed on an annual basis.

Bayview Medical Center

Background
The Johns Hopkins Bayview Medical Center is located in the southeastern sector of Baltimore City. The campus comprises more than 15 buildings located on 140 acres. The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine owns the Asthma and Allergy Center and frequently conducts educational seminars in several meeting rooms on the campus. There are approximately 1,150 Johns Hopkins University Faculty and staff on the Bayview campus and approximately 240 students that rotate through the campus during the year.

Reporting Crimes and Other Emergencies
The Johns Hopkins Public Safety (“Public Safety”) and/or local emergency services, including Baltimore Police Department (“BPD”), fire or ambulance, can be requested via the Security Communication Center by calling 410-550-0333 or 0-0333 using any of the in-house phones. Uniformed officers maintain highly visible posts and are accessible to anyone wishing to report any incident. The prompt reporting of crime is encouraged through various publications and program reminders.

Campus Law Enforcement
Johns Hopkins Public Safety, a staff of over 100 uniformed (unarmed) officers providing interior, exterior, and mobile patrols, operates on a 24-hour basis to assist and respond to emergency or security related incidents. Public Safety enforces corporate policy and assists law enforcement in the enforcement of local and state criminal laws for Johns Hopkins University, Johns Hopkins Hospital and all entities of the Johns Hopkins Health System Corporation. The security officers have jurisdiction to operate on JHU owned and controlled property and have authority to enforce University policy. Strategically placed electronic surveillance equipment and a radio communications center support Public Safety’s response to security incidents. This system increases the ability of security personnel to pinpoint areas of concern. Public Safety officers may be summoned via any number of in-house phones by calling 410-550-0333. The 410-550-0333 number may also be used to summon local police or emergency services through the central Security Communications Center. Public Safety documents and departmental publications prominently display this information. Public Safety maintains the website https://www.hopkinsmedicine.org/security_parking_transportation and provides daily publication of crimes known to have occurred on campus, in the residential hall and in JHU owned buildings, as well as on public property contiguous to the campus. A daily crime log is available for review during normal business hours at the security administrative office located in the ASC building. Public Safety works in close concert with the BPD concerning the apprehension of criminal offenders, investigations, crime awareness programs and crime prevention programs. A close working relationship is maintained with the BPD and in any criminal incident on the Bayview Medical Center campus, the BPD would be the investigative agency as they have primary jurisdiction. Public Safety would serve in a support role in assisting in the investigation. Public Safety does not have a written memorandum of understanding pertaining to the investigation of criminal incidents with BPD or any law enforcement agency.

The Bayview Medical Center does not have any officially-sanctioned off campus locations and therefore does not monitor off campus criminal activity.

Security and Access of Campus Facilities
Most campus buildings remain open 24 hours a day. Students, faculty and staff may gain access to restricted areas, e.g. laboratories or libraries, by key or access card, depending on the location and their approved access. All areas are patrolled by security officers in addition to security officers assigned to specific access locations. All unusual or suspicious activities or persons are investigated and appropriate action is taken, when necessary. Security mobile units support interior and exterior security officers. Personal escorts by security officers are available for all faculty, staff and students. Security related information is published regularly in the “Hopkins Hotline” and via Security Alerts and Bulletins.

Public Safety further provides the following services:

• The general public and prospective students and employees can find information about security and crime statistics on the internet at www.hopkinsmedicine.org/security_parking_transportation/security.

• Conducts preliminary crime investigations and follow-up.

• Conducts crime prevention and security awareness programs for students and employees on various topics, including Clery reporting.

• Conducts student orientation on security and safety matters and prevention, including Clery reporting.

• Conducts nursing unit security talks and advises staff of ongoing security resources and initiatives.

• Informs Medical Institutions leadership of crime patterns through use of crime statistics by providing monthly, quarterly and annual comprehensive reporting.

• Maintains a 24-hour communications center that receives information by phone, CCTV cameras, computers and direct alarm connections as well as a centrally located security business office for walk-ins.

• Provides a 24-hour recorded, anonymous Security Tip Line (410-614-3903) for reports of security offenses or information concerning criminal or suspicious activity.

• Maintains a close liaison between The National Crime Prevention Council, the BPD and the Maryland Community Crime Prevention Association. Provides brochures and pamphlets on security and crime prevention and participates in crime prevention and awareness seminars.

• Provides a 24-hour walking escort service.

• Provides security surveys with security recommendations.

• Provides mobile and foot patrol security units to patrol the grounds.

• Maintains an ongoing partnership to immediately address and coordinate investigations and appropriate notifications for incidents involving missing students. Public Safety in cooperation with the designated Associate Deans of Student Affairs at the JHU Schools of Medicine, Public Health and Nursing has mirrored the established University policy of the Homewood Campus.

Maintenance of Campus Facilities
Security participates in identifying and reporting facility hazards to the Facilities Department for maintenance and repair.

Campus Safety Awareness Programs
Public Safety personnel participate in all student and employee orientations and provide information about the services provided, how the office communicates with students and employees during an emergency, how they can reach the office in an emergency, and how and when the office may communicate with them in a non-emergency situation. Public Safety also presents basic crime prevention strategies during orientation to students and employees. Public Safety attends student government meetings and staff meetings on an as-needed or as-requested basis and distributes general safety information emails at least twice a year.

Crime Prevention and Security Presentations
Public Safety conducts various security presentations for Johns Hopkins students, residents and employees on an annual basis. These presentations are customized for the audience and provide educational and safety awareness resources. The frequency of programs is based upon an identified need of the requesting party, or on an annual basis such as student orientations. During the 2021-2022 academic year, JHU offered approximately 3 crime prevention and security awareness programs. Student orientations consist of general safety guidelines, security escort services, and personal safety. Public Safety also participates at new employee orientations, which are conducted on a weekly basis. Educational programs, provided by Nursing Education and Emergency Management personnel with assistance and input from Public Safety, are offered frequently throughout the year at venues such as Town Hall meetings, Career Fairs, Visitors Day and Summer Job Programs to include Active Shooter Responses and Security on Campus programs.

Emergency Response and Prevention Procedures
The Bayview Medical Center has a department of Emergency Management and Response and an Emergency Management Committee. The Emergency Operations Plan to include the Evacuation Plan comes under the authority of that office and committee. The committee is a multi-disciplinary team to include Public Safety, Legal, Supply Chain Management, Support Services Clinical Departments, Facilities Managers, and Maintenance. It is an all hazards plan that addresses natural and man-made disasters, pandemics and biochemical and radiological events.

Information about Registered Sex Offenders
In Maryland, convicted sex offenders must register with the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services. A listing of sex offenders in Maryland is available at the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services website, at https://www.communitynotification.com/cap_main.php?office=56622

HATE CRIMES STATISTICS
The Hate Crime statistics are crimes where the offender was motivated to commit the offense because of his/her bias against the victim’s race, religion, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, ethnicity, national origin, or disability.

Due to new guidance from the U.S. Department of Education, Sexual Assaults, Domestic Violence, Dating Violence and Stalking are no longer included in the hierarchy rule, which means multiple offenses that occur in one incident are reported in the institution’s Clery statistics.
The Johns Hopkins University Public Policy Center, Barcelona, Spain

Background
The Johns Hopkins University Public Policy Center, established in Spring 2013, builds upon a longstanding collaborative relationship between the Bloomberg School of Public Health and the Universitat Pompeu Fabra (“UPF”). The Center resides within the Universitat Pompeu Fabra Ciutadella campus in Barcelona, the capital city of Catalonia, Spain. The Center occupies the fourth floor of the Mercè Rodoreda Building. There are 10 offices on the floor and classrooms used during the Hopkins Fall Institute vary according to need.

The Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health runs the Fall Institute in Health Policy and Management out of the Center. The Fall Institute is sponsored by the Agencia De Salut Publica de Barcelona (the Public Health Agency of Barcelona) and attracts public health professionals and students from around the globe to participate in the offerings by faculty from the Johns Hopkins University and the Public Health Agency of Barcelona. The Center is open to the general public during the hours of 8:00 AM to 1:00 AM on weekdays, 10:00 AM to 9:00 PM on Saturdays and is closed Sunday. The Universitat Pompeu Fabra maintains the website https://www.upf.edu/web/campus/campus-ciutadella

Crime may be reported to local Police by calling the emergency number 112. The prompt reporting of crime is encouraged through various publications and program reminders.

Security and Access of Center Facilities
The campus is open to the public. The UPF security is managed by the private company, Prosegur. They are located in the concierge of the building, Jaume 1 Building, Ramon Triaz Fargas, 25-27. There are three security guards on campus 24 hours a day; all year round Prosegur officers have the authority to enforce State and Local laws and Uni-versity policies. There are no written agreements or memorandums of understanding regarding any topics, including the investigation of criminal incidents, between JHU and the local police department. There is, however, a strong working relationship between the UPF, Prosegur, and local police agencies including the Mossos d’Esquadra. The Prosegur officers have the authority to detain individuals until the police arrive.

In the event of criminal activity, faculty, staff and students would be informed of all relevant details through the Director of the UPF Ciutadella Campus. Should a student at the Center require or feel a need for counseling, they have access to a local, English-speaking, licensed psychologist.

Security Considerations Used in the Maintenance of Campus Facilities
UPF maintains campus facilities in a manner that minimizes hazardous and unsafe conditions. Parking lots and pathways are illuminated with lighting. There are security cameras and alarms in the entrance of the building, which are controlled in the Alarms Center Reception by security personnel. Security works closely with Facilities Management to address burned out lights promptly as well as malfunctioning door locks or other physical conditions that enhance security. Other members of the University community are helpful when they report equipment problems to Security or to Facilities Management.

Center Safety Awareness Programs
During Orientation, students are provided with information in the Welcome to UPF packet; these packets provide students with contact information for police as well as local and internal emergency numbers. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, there were no events held on the UPF Ciutadella campus in 2021 which involved JHU students. All students are given an introduction to campus safety upon arrival, including information about protecting valuables, fire emergencies, and emergency contact numbers. Also, the Mobility Office invites the local police to come and speak to international students about safety in Barcelona and on campus at the start of the academic year. All crime prevention and security awareness programs encourage students and employees to be responsible for their own security and the security of others. Participants in these programs are asked to be alert, security-conscious and involved and advised to contact the UPF reception to report suspicious behavior. For additional questions regarding crime prevention, contact the UPF reception directly at 34-93-542-1701.

Emergency Response and Prevention Procedures
The UPF has a Self-Protection Plan with which students, staff and faculty should familiarize themselves. It includes basic information about programs aimed at ensuring that buildings are properly evacuated and fire-fighting appliances are used appropriately. In all University buildings panels can be located on the walls with instructions which will help students and staff to evacuate the buildings in case of emergency. The plan also includes UPF plans for emergencies that may occur as a result of its activities and the response measures in situations of risk, catastrophes, and public disasters that may affect the campus community. In the case of a fire or accident, the Ciutadella reception should be called at 1701, or from an outside phone.

What to do in case of evacuation from a building:
1. Follow the marked evacuation route.
2. When you leave the building, avoid obstructing emergency exits.
3. Go to the designated meeting point and wait there for further instructions.

Current legislation requires that administrative and service staff as well as teaching and research staff at the Center must be aware of the prevention system and the risk prevention procedures in the various workplaces. With this in mind, UPF started the campaign, “Prevention is everybody’s responsibility.” Among other initiatives, each month staff and faculty will receive a short email containing the essential information they need to have about each specific topic in this area, which can be consulted in more depth on the Technical Office for Occupational Hazards Prevention website.

Due to the pandemic, no fire drill was scheduled in 2021.

Information about Registered Sex Offenders
In Barcelona, Spain, sex offender registries are not known to exist.

HATE CRIMES STATISTICS
The Hate Crime statistics are crimes where the offender was motivated to commit the offense because of his/her bias against the victim’s race, religion, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, ethnicity, national origin, or disability.

There were no reported Hate Crimes for 2019, 2020, and 2021.

UNFOUNDED CRIME STATISTICS
A crime is considered unfounded for Clery Act purposes if a sworn or commissioned law enforcement personnel make a formal determination that the report is false or baseless.

There were no unfounded crimes reported for 2019, 2020, and 2021.

Appendix A:
Campus Crime Statistics

General Notes on Data

• The data reported in the charts in each campus section include reports of crimes made directly to Homewood Campus Safety and Security and other campus security offices reported to any campus security office by other CSAs, and obtained from local police jurisdictions for each campus or center.
• The data reported in the charts include crime victims from the community at large.
• In keeping with the Clery Act regulations (34 CFR § 668.46), crime statistics were compiled using the definitions of crimes provided in Appendix A to Subpart D of Part 668 of the CFR, and the Federal Bureau of Investigations Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program, including the Summary Reporting System (SRS) User Manual, the National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS) User Manual, and Hate Crime Data Collection Guidelines and Training.
• In accordance with the Violence Against Women Act (“VAWA”) amendments to the Clery Act, the charts contain a section representing incidents of domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking. Incidents of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking that involve any other Clery crimes are also counted under that particular category of crime. For 2021, the Homewood Campus had 1 rape that was also counted as domestic violence, 1 rape that was also counted as domestic violence and stalking, and 2 stalking that was also counted as domestic violence. On East Baltimore Campus, there were 2 aggravated assaults that were also counted as domestic violence, 1 fondling that was also counted as stalking, and 3 domestic violations that were also counted as stalking. On Bayview Medical Campus, there was one domestic violence also counted as an aggravated assault. For 2020, the Homewood Campus had 1 rape that was also counted as an aggravated assault, 1 fondling as stalking, 1 aggravated assault as domestic violence, and a stalking also counted as domestic violence. On the East Baltimore Campus, there were 2 aggravated assaults that were also counted as domestic violence, an aggravated assault counted as a weapons arrest, a robbery also counted as domestic violence, and 2 aggravated assaults counted as 2 arsons. On the Bayview Medical Campus, there were 1 aggravated assault that was also counted as domestic violence.
• All definitions of the criminal offenses listed in the charts are available in the “Appendix Definitions” at the end of this Report.

For 2019, the Homewood Campus had 1 rape that was also counted as domestic violence, 1 rape that was also counted as domestic violence and stalking, and 2 stalking that was also counted as domestic violence. On East Baltimore Campus, there were 2 aggravated assaults that were also counted as domestic violence, 1 fondling that was also counted as stalking, and 3 domestic violations that were also counted as stalking. On Bayview Medical Campus, there was one domestic violence also counted as an aggravated assault. For 2020, the Homewood Campus had 1 rape that was also counted as an aggravated assault, 1 fondling as stalking, 1 aggravated assault as domestic violence, and a stalking also counted as domestic violence. On the East Baltimore Campus, there were 2 aggravated assaults that were also counted as domestic violence, an aggravated assault counted as a weapons arrest, a robbery also counted as a domestic violence, and 2 aggravated assaults counted as 2 arsons. On the Bayview Medical Campus, there were 1 aggravated assault that was also counted as domestic violence.
Appendix B: Definitions

Criminal Offenses Definitions
In accordance with the Clery Act regulations (34 CFR §668.46), the following definitions are used for reporting the statistics for the crimes in the campus or center charts in this report.

Aggravated Assault
An unlawful attack by one person upon another for the purpose of inflicting severe or aggravated bodily injury. This type of assault usually is accompanied by the use of a weapon or by means likely to produce death or great bodily harm. (It is not necessary that injury result from an aggravated assault when a gun, knife, or other weapon is used which could and probably would result in serious personal injury if the crime were successfully completed).

Arson
Any willful or malicious burning or attempt to burn, with or without intent to defraud, a dwelling house, public building, motor vehicle or aircraft, personal property of another, etc.

Burglary
The unlawful entry of a structure to commit a felony or a theft. For reporting purposes this definition includes: unlawful entry with intent to commit a larceny or felony; breaking and entering with intent to commit a larceny; housebreaking; safecracking; and all attempts to commit any of the aforementioned.

Criminal Homicide- Manslaughter by Negligence
The killing of another person through gross negligence.

Criminal Homicide-Murder and Non negligent Manslaughter
The willful (non-negligent) killing of one human being by another. Deaths caused by negligence, attempts to kill, assaults to kill, suicides, accidental deaths, and justifiable homicides are excluded.

Dating Violence
Dating violence means violence committed by a person: who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the victim; and where the existence of such a relationship shall be based on the reporting party’s statement and with consideration of the following factors, namely, the length of the relationship, the type of relationship, and the frequency of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship. For purposes of this definition:
- Dating violence includes, but is not limited to, sexual or physical abuse or threat of such abuse.
- Dating violence does not include acts covered under the definition of domestic violence.

Destruction/Damage/Vandalism of Property
To willfully or maliciously destroy, damage, deface, or other-wise injure real or personal property without the consent of the owner or the person having custody or control of it.

Domestic Violence
Domestic violence includes felony or misdemeanor crimes of violence committed by a current or former spouse or intimate partner of the victim, by a person whom the victim shares a child in common, by a person who is cohabiting with or has cohabited with the victim as a spouse or intimate partner, by a person similarly situated to a spouse of the victim under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction in which the crime of violence occurred, or by any other person against an adult or youth victim who is protected from that person’s acts under the domestic or family violence laws of the jurisdiction in which the crime of violence occurred.

Drug Abuse Violations
The violation of laws prohibiting the production, distribution, and/or use of certain controlled substances and the equipment or devices utilized in their preparation and/or use. The unlawful cultivation of any controlled drug or narcotic substance. Arrests for violations of State and local laws, specifically those relating to the unlawful possession, sale, use, growing, manufacturing, and making of narcotic drugs.

Hate Crimes
A crime reported to local police agencies or to a CSA that manifests evidence that the victim was intentionally selected because of the perpetrator’s bias against the victim. For the purposes of this section, the categories of bias include the victim’s actual or perceived race, religion, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, ethnicity, national origin, and disability.

Hate Crime Biases
Disability: A preformed negative opinion or attitude toward a group of persons based on their physical or mental impairments/challenges, whether such disability is temporary or permanent, congenital or acquired by heredity, accident, injury, advanced age or illness.
Ethnicity: A preformed negative opinion or attitude toward a group of people whose members identify with each other, through common heritage, often consisting of a common language, common culture (often including a shared religion) and/or ideology that stresses common ancestry.
Gender: A preformed negative opinion or attitude toward a group of persons because those persons are male or female.
Gender Identity: A preformed negative opinion or attitude toward a group of persons because the perceived gender of those persons may be different from the gender traditionally associated with their gender at birth.

National Origin: A preformed negative opinion or attitude toward a group of people based on their actual or perceived country of birth.

Race: A preformed negative attitude toward a group of persons who possess common physical characteristics (e.g., color of skin, eyes, and/or hair; facial features, etc.) genetically transmitted by descent and heredity, which distinguish them as a distinct division of humankind (e.g., Asians, blacks, whites).

Religion: A preformed negative opinion or attitude toward a group of persons who share the same religious beliefs regarding the origin and purpose of the universe and the existence or nonexistence of a supreme being (e.g., Catholics, Jews, Protestants, atheists).

Sexual Orientation: A preformed negative opinion or attitude toward a group of persons based on their sexual attraction toward, and responsiveness to, members of their own sex or members of the opposite sex (e.g., gays, lesbians, heterosexuals).

Intimidation
To unlawfully place another person in reasonable fear of bodily harm through the use of threatening words and/or other conduct, but without displaying a weapon or subjecting the victim to actual physical attack.

Larceny-Theft (Except Motor Vehicle Theft)
The unlawful taking, carrying, leading, or riding away of property from the possession or constructive possession of another. Attempted larcenies are included. Embezzlement, confidence games, forgery, worthless checks, etc., are excluded.

Liquor Law Violations
The violation of State or local laws or ordinances prohibiting: the manufacture, sale, transportation, purchasing, furnishing, possession or use of intoxicating liquor; maintaining unlawful drinking places; bootlegging; operating a still; furnishing liquor to a minor or intemperate person; using a vehicle for illegal transportation of liquor; drinking on a train or public conveyance; and all attempts to commit any of the aforementioned. Drunkenness and driving under the influence are not included in this definition.

Motor Vehicle Theft
The theft or attempted theft of a motor vehicle; includes all cases where automobiles are taken by persons not having lawful access even though the vehicles are later abandoned, including joyriding.

Robbery
The taking or attempting to take anything of value from the care, custody, or control of a person or persons by force or threat of force or violence and/or by putting the victim in fear.

Sex Offenses
Any sexual act directed against another person, without the consent of the victim, including instances where the victim is incapable of giving consent

Rape: The penetration, no matter how slight, of the vagina or anus with any body part or object, or oral penetration by a sex organ of another person, without the consent of the victim.

Fondling: The touching of the private parts of another person for the purpose of sexual gratification, without the consent of the victim, including instances where the victim is incapable of giving consent because of his/her age or because of his/her temporary or permanent mental incapacity.

Incest: Sexual intercourse between persons who are related to each other within the degrees prohibited by law.

Statutory Rape: Sexual intercourse with a person who is under the statutory age of consent.

Simple Assault
An unlawful physical attack by one person upon another where neither the offender displays a weapon, nor the victim suffers obvious severe or aggravated bodily injury involving apparent broken bones, loss of teeth, possible internal injury, severe laceration, or loss of consciousness.

Stalking
Stalking means engaging in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to fear for his or her safety or the safety of others; or suffer substantial emotional distress. For the purposes of this definition:

• Course of conduct means two or more acts, including, but not limited to, acts which the stalker directly, indirectly, or through third parties, by any action, method, device, or means follows, monitors, observes, surveils, threatens, or communicates to or about, a person, or interferes with a person’s property.

• Reasonable person means a reasonable person under similar circumstances and with similar identities to the victim.

• Substantial emotional distress means significant mental suffering or anguish that may, but does not necessarily, require medical or other professional treatment or counseling.

Weapons Law Violations
The violation of laws or ordinances dealing with weapon offenses, regulatory in nature, such as: manufacture, purchase, transportation, sale, use, or possession of deadly weapons; carrying deadly weapons, concealed or openly; using, manufacturing of silencers; furnishing deadly weapons to minors; aliens possessing deadly weapons; and all attempts to commit any of the aforementioned.
Crime Reporting Areas
For the purpose of reporting statistics, institutions of higher education need to distinguish, by means of three separate geographic categories, certain criminal offenses that occur on campus: in or on a noncampus building or property; and on public property. These three geographic categories are defined as:

On-Campus
(1) Any building or property owned or controlled by an institution within the same reasonably contiguous geographic area and used by the institution in direct support of, or in a manner related to, the institution’s educational purposes, including residence halls; and
(2) Any building or property that is within or reasonably contiguous to the area identified in paragraph (1) of this definition, that is owned by the institution but controlled by another person, is frequently used by students and supports institutional purposes (such as a food or other retail vendor).

Noncampus Building or Property
(1) Any building or property owned or controlled by a student organization that is officially recognized by the institution; or
(2) Any building or property owned or controlled by an institution that is used in direct support of, or in relation to, the institution’s educational purposes, is frequently used by students and is not within the same reasonably contiguous geographic area of the institution.

Public Property
All public property, including thoroughfares, streets, sidewalks and parking facilities, that is within the campus, or immediately adjacent to and accessible from the campus.

Counselors
Under the Clery Act regulations, University “Pastoral Counselors” and “Professional Counselors” (defined below), when acting as such, are not considered to be a CSA and are not required to report crimes for inclusion into the annual disclosure of crime statistics. However, for statistical purposes, Pastoral and Professional Counselors may provide general information on crimes reported to them. No personally identifiable information can be provided so as to protect confidentiality. The University does not have procedures to encourage counselors to raise the subject of reporting statistics confidentially and instead leaves the issue to the professional judgment of the Pastoral or Professional Counselor.

Pastoral Counselor
An employee of an institution, who is associated with a religious order or denomination, recognized by that religious order or denomination as someone who provides confidential counseling and who is functioning within the scope of that recognition as a pastoral counselor.

Professional Counselor
An employee of an institution whose official responsibilities include providing psychological counseling to members of the institution’s community and who is functioning within the scope of his or her license or certification.
